Immigration Unrestricted.

The recent formation of the organization which seeks to promote immigration to this country ought to stir up American citizens to a sense of duty to the country. Recent statistics show that we received over 1,000,000 newcomers last year. They also show that the countries from which in other years the bulk of our new citizenship came sent us the smallest number of immigrants in 1906, while other countries, as Russia, Italy, Austria-Hungary, sent the bulk of the immi grants. It is admitted by the commissioner of immigration that those who arrived last year were distinctly inferior to their predecessors.

Now, while there is every reason why the United States should be extremely hospitable to all who desire to enjoy the protection of our institutions or take advantage of the opportunities for rising in the social or business scale, it is certainly the duty of the people to protect their institutions from destruction or from such serious modification as would practically make an end of them. It is pleasant to think of our republic as the asylum of the oppressed, but it is not the highest wisdom which makes it a dumping ground for the refuse of Europe. There is no obligation upon us to lose virtue in the effort to take care of the ruined lives which Europe is too glad to send here.

Various efforts have been made during the last decade to secure the passage of a proper law restricting imoption of such legislation. A bill possessing many admirable features is at the present time pending in congress. joining townships have about nine The same sinister influences were they may be equally successful now. are so powerful. It is evident that unless something definite is accomplishat the mercy of its alien invaders.

There ought to be no obligation upon the part of this country to admit through its unguarded gates so many who have achievednothing but failure in the home land. Already the rapid increase of crime by our alien visitors from various sections of Europe shows the dangers by which the country is confronted. The law which provides for consplar inspection before the immigrant sails from his home would be a great improvement upon existing conditions and would unquestionably permanently detain upon the other side many who under other circumstances would become a burden and a menace here. The educational test is not so vital. A man who has a record for sobriety and good citizenship at home would make a good citizen here, even if he isn't able to read and write.

Boll the Water.

The warning of Dr. Dixon relating to the purity of the water supply in the Susquehanna below Scranton is important enough to be heeded every- SCRANTON UNDER where. A warning of the same kind should be issued wherever sewage is emptied into running streams from which one or more towns draw their supply of water. Nearly, if not quite, all the running streams in the State are contaminated by impurities which reckless and improvident man turns into them, and the wonder is that to date 1,019. There were three deaths epidemics of disease are not more numerous and more destructive of human life.

Wherever there are epidemics of typhoid fever the carelessness in regard to the water supply and the disregard strictly enforced, and yesterday about of health and life are most pronounce ed. Although men are warned to take every precaution to prevent the spread of disease they pay little attention. Although warned that matter taken from the sick room should be disinfected before it is disposed of, this is seldom done. Like the victim of tuberculosis who discharges infected sputum all about him, to the jeopardy of the health and lives of others, the persons who attend typhoid patients, unless they are professional nurses, sel- random talk concerning matters of indom "take the trouble" to obey a command to disinfect anything. In- The trouble is that the less a man deed few precautions are taken by persons who are well, but are liable to infection, to save themselves from an attack of the disease.

Hence Dr. Dixon, not confining his labors to the eradication of typhoid in Scranton, and fearing that there is 'an unusual amount of typhoid fever infection in the Susquehanna river by reason of the epidemic of the disease now prevalent in the city of Scranton," warns all corporations or municipalities supplying water to consumers "not to furnish this supply to your consumers unless it be first adequately filtered, otherwise you are to notify the public to boil the water for a period of thirty minutes before the same is used for drinking or culinary purposes." There is little or no danger that the water supply here is infected with typhoid germs from Scran ton: nevertheless it would be well to boil all water that is used for domestic purposes. In fact, when in doubt boil the water.

CHICKEN POX AT WASHINGTONVILLE

There is more or less of an epidemic of chicken pox among the children at Washingtonville. The disease is not of a virulent type, and none of the little anfferers are in imminent danger.

Burgess Gibson returned to Susquehanna university on Monday after spending the Christmas vacation at the home of his parents, Mr. and Mrs. C.

Mr. and Mrs. Adam Goss have returned to their home near Sunbury after a visit at the home of Mr. and Mrs. R. B. Moser.

GRASPED BERWICK

Dreaded typhoid fever has laid its strong grasp upon Berwick and the densely populated district surround-

The matter has been kept rather quiet, but came to light last evening when the Berwick board of health met to adopt means to remedy the situa

It developed that there are 24 case in Berwick proper, 8 in West Berwick and 5 in the surrounding country. This list does not include a number of typhoid fever patients who are con valescent. Typhoid fever is particularly to be dreaded in Berwick, where so large a portion of the population is made up of ignorant foreigners, with whom restrictions or precautions can have but little effect.

At the meeting last night of the Berwick board of health the situation was thoroughly discussed. People were asked to take extreme precaution in aiding the authorities to stamp out the disease. Citizens were asked to boil all water used for drinking or culinary purposes, and phyicians were asked to report at once to the board of health all new infections.

"The Blood is The Life."

Science has never gone beyond the above simple statement of scripture. But it has illuminated that statement and given it a meaning ever broadening with the increasing breadth of knowledge. When the blood is "bad" or impure it is not alone the body which suffers through disease. The brain is also clouded, the mind and judgement are thought me be directly traced to the impurity of the blood Foul, impure blood

They are at the capricious mercy of speculative managers, and, having found by experlence that there is very little sympathy for them, either before or behind the footlights, they wrap themselves in a garment of mental indifference to appearances, which is utterly misunderstood by a cynical and suspicious

Her father was very Ill, but the rental of their rooms, the fees for the doctor and money for the drugs depended upon her at tending to her business. It was imperative that she should be in the theater at 7:30 o'clock. #### THE WILD BALSAM APPLE. Its Seed Holders Are Suggestive of Lace Purses.

In the brooks of autumn in certain places many little lacelike bags may be seen drifting along with the current or stranded by the shore. They are the inner coats or bodies of the wild balsam apples (Echinocystis lobata) which have dropped from the vines overhanging the stream and now float lightly away with their large seeds. The green prickly bag of the balsam apple itself began to form in late summer, and by autumn it has withered and faded to a pale straw color. may see the trailing vines with their shrunken pods decorating the brookside bushes far into the winter. The outer coat of the pod gradually rots away, and the inner bag or seed carrier is now released and exposed as a delicate, webby network of tough up the space between these meshes, but that also falls away through the action of water and the winter storms "purse" is left. These little purses, be ing extremely light and buoyant, float Geo. W. Moser, Valley township, Hofar and wide over the submerged swamp lands in late autumn, carry ing the seeds with them and so plant ing the vine in new situations. If, however, we take these seeds home with will suitably reward us in the following year with vines of our own. They will spring up and spread rapidly until packages, or other device or devices all the stone walls and garden fences containing samples of medicine, are decorated with the tracery of their stems and star shaped leaves. - St.
