to Danville at night, connecting with returning the same day.

Our neighbors up the river have strong hopes of securing the train, but why it should stop at Bloomsburg seems enigmatical. Danville or even Northumberland should be the terminus and evidently would be, if the people of those towns showed the proper interest in the matter and put forth a strong effort to obtain it.

Murderer Goes Mad.

While alone in his cell in the Sunbury prison Monday night Wm. Whittaker, held for the murder of his wife, was seized with a sudden mania and in his raving smashed his chair, table and washstand, and all the other breakable articles in the room. When Warden McDonnell opened the cell on Tuesday morning the floor was strewn with debris, and Whittaker was lying on his iron bed, the only thing he did not break, in a state of utter exhaustion. The cause of this strange outbreak no one seems able to fathom. The jail officials and county authorities are his right mind.

One In a Million.

About three years ago Mrs. Mary Rossiter, of Chester, gave a man who appeared to be a tramp, a shirt, stocking and 25 cents, as she took pity on him because of his forlorn looking condition. On Thursday she received a brief letter from a stranger recalling her kindness and enclosing $25 as a token of appreciation.

Object to the Name.

Residents of Lemon street, Mt. Carmel, do not like the name at all in these days of the slang word. So objectionable is it to some that they will ask the borough dads to change the name of the street.
