THE CARRIER'S SUGGESTIONS

1. You will be doing your carrier a great favor if you always stamp your mail before putting same in box, or use government stamped envelopes, and always put return upon left hand cor-This will guarantee delivery or return of letter.

If you should not happen to have stamps or stamped envelopes wrap the amount up in paper, remembering that in cold weather if the money is put in the box loose, the carrier has to off his gloves or mittens to get hold of these loose pennies.

3. Always put stamp upon the up-per right hand corner. If you should spoil a government stamped envelope your carrier or postmaster will redeem it with stamps or postal cards at post

When addressing a letter to one who is not a regular patron of a rural route or postoffice you should mark on the envelope in whose care the letter or package should go.

5. In addressing your letters do not write above the middle of the en-velope, as the address may be partly blurred by being struck with the postmarking stamp. In regard to boxes help your carrier by having a good one in a good easy place to drive up to, and always have your mail ready. If you have visitors who are expecting mail, you should give the carrier their names. Any mail matter deposited in Packages should be well wrapped and securely tied, and all valuable letters and packages should be registered, which costs 8 cents in addition to reg-ular postage. This insures safe delivery and return receipt. 10. The mail boxes are protected by the government, any one tampering with them not interested should be reported to your carrier or postmaster.

Zephyr, Cipher and Zero

"Zephyr" and "cipher" and "zero" are words that come to the English from the Arabic "sifr," which meant literally "empty" and so "nothing" and the figure that represents nothing. In mediaeval Latin this figure was called both "ciphra" and "zephyrum," the latter probably from association with "ze or something even lighter hence through the Italian "zefiro" there is the word "zero" as a doublet with "cipher."

Unless words without meaning are used a person's vocabulary must be bounded by his knowledge. Many years ago I was teaching a class of poor children in the school connected with the Church of St. Paul's, Covent Garden. One day I exhibited a picture of a hayfield with men carting hay.

Lasked the children what the men were throwing up into the cart. They answered, without a moment's hesita-tion, "Mud!" It then occurred to me had never seen a hayfield or the carting of hav but the scavenger's cart with, and hence they spoke within their knowledge.--London Notes and Que-

Live but to learn! When you give a pointed or sharp instrument to a friend he makes return of a penny, so that friendship may not be pierced or cut. I gave a kitten to our washwoman, the daintiest bit of Wilhelminesque ware in this country—aetat thirty-five, avoir dupois 222. She was nearly tickled to death. "I won't thank you for the present," she said, "because the kitten would pine away and die." She then explained that in Holland to thank a friend for a present was always sup-posed to bring bad luck. Maybe all men these days are Hollanders. The more favors you do them the less they thank you.—New York Press.

THE AWFUL BIG CATS

They Are the Most Dangerous of All Wild Animals.

TIGERS MERCILESS DEMONS.

While Easy to Handle and Quick to Learn, When Aroused They Are Fiends Incarnate-Panthers, Jaguars and Leopards Are Treacherous.

"Of all wild animals," writes A. W Rolker in Appleton's Magazine, "in cluding the rhinoceros with his fright ful charge and his dreadful horn, in-cluding the rogue elephant with his unbounded strength, his marvelous cunning and his villainous trunk, and including that gray shaggy rogue, the American grizzly, with his rib crush-ing hug, his ponderous paw and his hot, reeking maw, no beast is as dan-gerous to man as any one of the big ful charge and his dreadful horn, in-

"For, besides the mouth provided with teeth that can crunch through the leg bone of a man as if it were a pipestem, each foot is provided with pipesem, each root is provided with five poniard-like claws, pointed like needles and from three to four and a half inches long. As the beast strikes with these he draws the claws in, keeping hold of muscles and tendons and ligaments and tearing them out of the flesh until they snap like rubber bands, so that unless the victim succumbs it will be months and months and sometimes years and years be-fore he can regain use of an injurel member.

"But not only do these talons tear viciously. Curious to say, although the claws are needle pointed and the edges are dull as the tip of a little finger, a cut with one of these hooks is like the cut of a dagger. On one oc-casion in Bostock's trained wild animal show a Bengal tigress made a sweep at a European black bear, cut through the six inch thick fur of the bear and cut three parallel strips two box is subjected to ordinary postage feet long and six inches deep and clean as razor slashes to the very ackbone of the beast.

"As a matter of fact, the dexterity of one of these big cats' claws is astounding. Here is a curious accident which happened to Bostock when he undertook personally to break in a 'rogue' tiger that had 'gone bad.' Prorided with sole leather guards worn next the skin and covering the fleshy part of the leg from the groin to the knee, he entered the arena with the bad one and was attacked and wounded. His trousers were slashed in one spot just big enough to admit a single claw, an undergarment showed two similar and the sole leather guard three similar cuts, while the flesh was torn an inch deep in four places three inches long. "Still another instance showing the marvelous quickness of claw happened in the same show when the trainer in charge of a leopard group was saved in the nick of time from a rogue which had tried to pull him down by climbing up on him. The arm of this man showed between wrist and elbow alone twenty-six wounds varying from a quarter of an inch deep and an inch long to one inch deep and four inches

"This is contrary to the popular be-llef which credits the tiger as the most bloodthirsty of all wild beasts. tiger is, however, the quickest to learn and the easiest to handle. Whereas the tiger always remains a nervous, high strung brute, after a time a lion becomes phlegmatic and lazy and requires urging, which is apt to cause trouble.

"Whereas the tiger is a demon incarnate and merciless once aroused, he is at least an honest fighter that gives ample warning when about to attack and only as a rare exception attacks a man from behind, unlike the jaguar, the leopard and the panther, which are treacherous and almost invariably attack when a back is turned. "Again, of all this dangerous family the nature of the tiger comes nearest that of any ordinary house cat, and, always comparatively, the tiger it is that is most appreciative once the master has succeeded in establishing his truce. Then, like the domestic cat, he likes to brush up against the person of his trainer, loves to have his back rubbed and groomed and the top of his head scratched to soothe the everlasting itch between the ears, while he emits purs of satisfaction, forgetting that the least inforeseen accident may arouse murderous instincts that would in a twinkling convert the friendly mesting into a shambles."

The Way Judge Thacher Dodged Challenge to a Duei.

Documents in the Congressional li-brary at Washington show that when the establishment of the mint was under discussion in Washington's time there were some amusing debates in congress concerning the devices the coins should bear. There is one ac-count of a squabble over the design for the silver dollar.

It appears that a member of the house from a southern state bitterly epposed the choice of the eagle on account of its being the "king of birds," and hence neither suitable nor proper to represent a nation whose institu-tions and interests were wholly in-imical to monarchical forms of government. Judge Thacher in reply had playfully suggested that perhaps a goose might suit the gentleman, as it was rather a humble and republican bird and would also be serviceable in other respects, as the goslings would answer to place upon the dimes,

This reply created considerable merriment, and the irate southerner, considering the humorous rejoinder an in-sult, sent a challenge to Judge Thach-er, who proudly declined it. The bear-er, rather astonished, asked, "Will you be branded as a coward?"

"Certainly, if he pleases," replied
Thacher. "I always was one, and he knew it, or he would never have risked

The affair caused much mirth, but was finally adjusted, cordial relations being restored, the irritable southerner concluding that there was nothing to be gained in fighting one who fired nothing but jokes.—Chicago Chronicle.

Torpedo Boats.

Torpedo boats and torpedo destroyers are thin skinned, unarmored craft. Often the steel hull is only about half an inch in thickness, but they travel as fast as many railway trains, some thirty or thirty-five miles an hour. They discharge their deadly bolt and run. A dark, stormy night is their chance. Then, without a light show-ing, they dash in and launch their tor-pedo, escaping, if they can, the hail of rapid fire that is sure to deluge them. -Frank E. Channon in St. Nicholas.
