Boys Master a Good Trade. The general tendency of parents to day is to make professional men out of their sons, although there is a great unsatisfied demand for first class mechanics, while the clerical and pro Tessional ranks are overflowing with men who have high ambitions but are unable to earn a livelihood. It is a noteworthy fact that every time a class graduates from High School, the large percentage of the male graduates endeavor to become professional men. Entering a profession, they often find the ranks overcrowded and gradually become clerks and subordinate employ ees in capacities where there is no op portunity for them to better their situation. The really independent, happy man today is he who has mas-tered a good trade. If he is an industrious worker and is willing to live economically, he will spend his clining days in independence free from The rule, on the other hand, is that the professional man is never done working till he dies. Especially desirable these days are the trades of bricklaver, carpenter, mechanical engineer, machinist, iron or steel worker. Men in these trades can earn high wages, and the hours are not long. Telegraphy is another line in which the supply of men is not mearly equal to the demand and the wages are constantly climbing higher. In our own town the dearth of good tradesmen is very noticeable. We believe that fifty or a hundred carpenters could readily find employment and there are practically no apprentices. Boys, learn trades and you wen't regret it. Parents, induce your son to take some of the trades that will enable him to in the long ran greatly improve his condition in life.

Montour American. SEC'Y BERNHARD MAKES REPORT

At a meeting of the board of direct ors of the Y. M.C. A. held Tuesday even ing General Secretary George R. Bernhard made his final report to that body of the work of the Association, covering a period of thirteen and a half months, the time he has been in charge. Treasurer Joseph Divel also made his report. The two documents reveal the remarkable degree of prosperity and progressiveness that has dwelt with the local Y. M. C. A. during Mr. Bernhard's administration.

When Mr. Bernhard came to the Danville Y. M. C. A. as general secretary on June 14th., 1906, he found the Association $500 in debt. The money was owing to the plumber, the coal man and in salaries. Also $200 to the First National bank on a loan negotiated September 14th., 1905. During the past year Mr. Bernhard not only raised money for all of the current expenses of the institution and for a number of costly improvements, but also paid in full all outstanding indebtedness,a proceeding which even the most sanguine deemed impossible. And more, there will remain Y. M. C. A. treasury when Mr. Bernhart leaves Danville in a few days, $360.

When Mr. Bernhart came here in June, 1906, the total membership of the Danville Association was 175. During his 'administration' the membership has increased to 300.

ward in religious zeal during the past In addition to keeping up of the classes and meetings that he found when he came, Mr. Bernhart has organized a shop bible class, which held meetings every Thurdsay at the plant of the Danville Foundry & Machine company. Prison services and cottage prayer meetings were also conducted with much success. These services were the means of inducing a large number of men to express a desire to lead a better life.

Y. M. C. A. has worked in harmony with the churches of Danville and always been ready to lend aid when called upon. And in this connection Mr. Bernhard wishes to thank the minis ters of Danville for the assistance and moral support they have lent him during his stay here. Also he desires the public to understand his gratitude for the financial support and encourage-many friends who will sincerely regret his departure. He is a genial and popular gentleman, and there are none oo lowly or poor to receive his hearty hand shake and his cordial smile. The Naws wishes him the successerves in his chosen calling.
