PAPER BEING CIRCULATED

Pursuant to the action of council at its last meeting wherein it was decided to proceed with the paving of East Market street a paper for signers was put in circulation among the property owners yesterday.

The terms for paving are wholly different from what was submitted to the property owners on Mill street, who paid not only for the curbing, &c., but also for a fixed portion of the paving. On East Market street the property owners are required to pay for the curbing and the sidewalk changes only, which reduces the cost to a minimum. Naturally the general plan meets with approval all along the street, those who held out against paving when the matter was agitated before now being among the most enthusiastic supporters of the proposition.

The agreement to which the property owners are asked to subscribe is very full and carefully worded, protecting alike the borough and the owners of property in the various ways in which error and misunderstanding is likely to occur. It reads as follows:

"In consideration that the borough of Danville, grades, paves and macadamizes in such proportion as may then be determined on East Market street in the borough of Danville.

We, the undersigned, respectively owners of real estate and property adjoining and abutting on said portion of said street do each for ourselves, our respective heirs, executors, administrators and assigns hereby covenant and agree with the said borough of Danville as follows:

1. That we will pay for all curbing in front of our respective properties that may be done by or for the said borough in the making of the said improvement;
2. That we will at our own proper cost and expense, widen, elevate or depress and reconstruct as circumstance may require the pavements in front of our respective properties or that we will pay the said borough for doing the same immediately upon the completion of the said work;
3. That we will in all other respects conform to and comply with all conditions and requirements found necessary in the making of said improvements, and
4. That we will and that we do hereby waive any and all of our respective rights and claims to damages that may be sustained by us or by our respective properties by reason of or resulting from the making of the said improvements in the premises."

Can't rest at night with a bad back, a lame, a weak or an aching one. Doan's Kidney Pills are for bad backs.

They cure every form of kidney ills, from common backache to diabetes. They are endorsed by Danville people.

Levi Alliger, baker, of 102 North Spruce Street, says: "I found more relief from the use of Doan's Kidney Pills than from anything I ever used for kidney trouble. About eight years ago I had considerable lameness in my back, over the hips and a continual aching right over the kidneys. These pains clung to me and increased in severity if I stooped or lifted. Occasionally sharp pains would pass through me and shoot up between my shoulders, along my spine. All this caused me considerable suffering and unfit me for my work. I could not sleep well at night and in the morning would arise tired and unrefreshed. I read about Doan's Kidney Pills curing others and got a box. After taking them as directed I felt better and continued the treatment until I felt all right. I made a statement in 1896, in which I said that Doan's Kidney Pills had cured me. I can only reiterate that statement at this time. I always keep Doan's Kidney Pills in the house and whenever a cold or a strain brings on a tired or weak back they never fail to remove the trouble."

Reading's Busy Season.

Never in its history has the Shamokin division of the Reading Railway which includes the Catawissa branch, experienced such a reign of prosperity as it is at present, and with the rolling equipment taxed to its utmost capacity it is next to impossible to keep yards and sidings from being blocked almost continuously.

When the fact is taken into consideration that July and August are generally the slack months this condition of affairs is all the more remarkable.

The yard at Newberry is blocked almost constantly, and it is nothing unusual for 500 cars to stand waiting there for power to draw them to their destination.

All the regular crews that can be secured are called to do extra service, which the extra men outside of the legal time required for them to rest are constantly on the go.

Freight engineers who during this season in previous years considered themselves very lucky to draw $100 for a month's wages are drawing as high as $150, while firemen in many cases are making $100.

At this season railroaders are generally plentiful, but there is now a marked scarcity, particularly of firemen, and as a result the officials are greatly handicapped in their efforts to keep things moving.

In order to facilitate matters crews from the main line have been pressed into service to aid in cleaning up the accumulated freight.

Death of William Hartman.

The death of William Jackson Hartman, of Frosty Valley, occurred Saturday morning at 5:30 o'clock, death following an illness of the last two years with a complication of diseases. He had been bedfast, however, for but a week.

The deceased was aged 74 years, 3 months and 5 days and is survived by a wife and seven children as follows: Leonard, living in the west; Baltis, of Forks; Mrs. Jesse Hummer, of Rush-ton; Mrs. James P. Hefferman, of New York City; Charles of Sunbury; Mrs. Harry Zeigler, of Bloomsburg and Mrs. Edward Gulliver, of Eby.

Mr. Hartman had lived in Frosty Valley since boyhood and was a well-known and highly respected citizen.

A Hack Party.

A hack load of people from Watson-town enjoyed a pleasant drive to the home of Mr. and Mrs. Peter Shultz, West Hemlock township, on Saturday where they were entertained all day. The occasion proved most enjoyable.

In the party were A. J. Runyan, Mr. and Mrs. W. C. Runyan, Mr. and Mrs. J. J. Berger, Mr. and Mrs. R. H. McKee, Mr. and Mrs. A. J. Balliet, Mr. and Mrs. W. C. Shultz, Misses Grace, Ruth and Florence Shultz, Erma Berger, Grant and Flora Runyan, Muriel Tooley, Reginald and Mildred Shultz and Sara and Veris Runyan.

THE SOLDIERS' MONUMENT

The soldiers' monument committee, although seemingly inert, has by no means been asleep while the trustees of Grove church and the committee of council have been exerting themselves to secure the legal abandonment of the old cemetery and to bring about the establishment of a city park on its site.

The activity and the success of the trustees and the borough council have proven a valuable object lesson revealing to the soldiers' monument committee how much may be accomplished by well directed and persevering effort as well as the fact that the people of Danville are not deficient in civic pride, but will respond to an appeal when it is clearly indicated that the credit and the welfare of the town are at stake.

The chairman of the soldiers' monument committee on Saturday stated that in his opinion the time is now ripe for dealing the final stroke in the work of raising the money needed. As is well known a large amount of money has been subscribed for the soldiers' monument, while a general canvass of the town has scarcely more than begun.

The public park, which is now an assured success, he agreed was the logical site for a soldiers' monument. Indeed, in view of its long history as a place of sepulture the park would hardly be complete without a memorial of this or some other kind.

The idea of erecting a monument to the soldier dead in the park is bound to prove popular; more than this, it will assist in bringing all classes in full harmony with the borough's act of taking over the old cemetery.

Just how much will be accomplished or how speedily results will follow remains to be seen, but the chairman of the committee Saturday stated that he would make an effort to get the solicitors, who already have been appointed, down to work at once. Let us hope that such an effort will be made to accomplish the object as was never put forth before and that by the time the borough council has a park established on the site of the cemetery, the soldiers' monument committee will come forward with a handsome monument as a further ornament to the spot.

BEAUTIFUL DECORATIONS

The decorations at the Grove Presbyterian church on foot for a month or more past, are now practically completed and a number of people have already visited the church to take a look at the improvements in order to form an idea of what is the very latest or most modern in church decorations.

With the exception of a few touches in the vicinity of the pulpit the main auditorium is completed and the scaffolding has been removed. The Chapel at the rear is also finished, although in one of the small class rooms used by the Sunday school the decorations yet remain to be applied.

The decorations are in the hands of Fred M. Botcher, of Elmira, N. Y., who served an apprenticeship under and was employed ten years by H. F. Dapplestein of New York, one of the leading decorators of the country, whose contracts during recent years embraced decorations at the White house, Washington, D. C. Naturally, therefore, a very high degree of excellence would be associated with the work done on the Grove church. The contract has been carried through very expeditiously and the quality of the work speaks for itself. In the matter of color or shading alone would there be any room for controversy even among the most critical as pertains to such qualities all those who do not possess critical knowledge will justly defer to the superior taste of the decorator. However opinion may differ as to some of the details all must be impressed with the general effect, which reveals that the master hand of an artist has been at work.

The new carpet arrived Saturday, and will be laid during the present week. The Ostermorn cushions are expected daily. The carpet is of a terra cotta color, while the cushions, of velvet, are of a gold brown. No just estimate of the decorations can be formed until the carpet and cushions are in place. The combined effect may prove a revelation.

Steps are being taken by the Grove congregation preliminary to making an additional and important improvement not contemplated at the start. This consists in bringing the choir down from its loft over the vestibule and installing it along with the pipe organ, at the rear of the pulpit. Whether the present organ will be used or a new one procured will be determined a little later.

This matter has been placed in the hands of Architect J. H. Brangler, who will produce plans for an enlarged platform, that will afford room for the organ and choir in addition to the pulpit.

PODDLER'S HELPER BADLY BURNED

Arthur Cook, son of County Commissioner C. W. Cook, a puddler's helper at the big mill, was very seriously burned last evening as the result of a cinder tap exploding.

Arthur, who was on the night turn, went on duty shortly after 3 o'clock. The accident occurred about 5:45 o'clock. The cinder tap being ready for dumping the young man as was his custom wheeled the carriage containing the semi-liquid mass around to one end of the furnace, where he dumped it on the ground.

A small pool of water lay on the earth, which was probably not observed by Mr. Cook. At all events he tilted the carriage and dumped the cinder out on the very spot where the water lay. The result was a terrible explosion, which caused a loud report and threw the molten cinder around in every direction.

Mr. Cook was struck squarely in the breast, the liquid cinder running down over his abdomen and coming in contact with his arm, literally roasting his flesh in several large spots. His face was also burned slightly. He was hurled from his feet by the force of the explosion and lay in an agony of pain.

John English, the puddler of whom Mr. Cook was helper, was also burned slightly as well as Charles Woolrich, a helper at another furnace. These men, however, were able to render assistance to the injured man until others gathered at the spot.

Dr. Cameron Shultz was called to the mill, who treated the injured man, relieving his pain somewhat, after which he was driven to the home of his father, in Valley township. Dr. Shultz last evening stated that the injury while severe, and necessarily very painful is not likely to result in any complications but in all probability will yield to ordinary treatment and that in due time the man will be about again.

May Administer Oath.

The law enacted by the last general assembly causes some important changes in the legislation relating to the registration of births and deaths.

Previously undertakers in obtaining and filing the certificate of death were obliged to visit a justice of the peace or other officer to take the necessary oath, which not only occupied a good deal of time but entailed some expense. Act 135 authorizes local registrars and their deputies to administer the oath or affirmation to undertakers "without fee." Section 1 reads as follows:

"Be it enacted, &c., That local registrars of vital statistics and their deputies be and are hereby authorized to administer, when the same may be required, the oath or affirmation of undertakers relating to the method of preparation of bodies intended for shipment by common carrier or those dead of certain communicable diseases, the same to be administered without the payment of any fee.

Section 3 amending section 15 provides that parents shall be held responsible for supplying the given name of children when birth certificates are received from attending physician upon which the given name must be supplied.

Farms Suffer From Drought.

The general drought prevailing throughout the country is quite keenly felt in the vicinity of Danville, where unless rain falls soon the corn and the late potato crop will be seriously affected.

While it seems only a short time since rain has fallen yet it has been many weeks since we have had a good soaking rain in this locality. The ground in the fields is parched. The corn at many places is actually wilting and the potatoes look bad. Nearly all the small streams are dry or are very low.

The present is a very critical period for the corn, as it is just now forming ears. Copious rains are needed during the next couple of weeks in order to insure a good crop or even an average. Rain is also needed to help along the pasture and the crops of garden truck.

Owing to the lack of rain the river is falling at a rapid rate. It is already lower than for a long time past.

TREES ALONG THE HIGHWAYS

A drive over the country roads demonstrates the fact that farmers are not familiar with the act of assembly of 1879.

This act provides: Persons planting trees on road side to be allowed credit on road tax.

Any person liable to road tax, who shall transplant to the side of the public highway, on his own premises, any fruit, shade trees or forest trees, of suitable size shall be allowed by the supervisor of roads where roads run through or adjoin cultivated fields in abatement of his road tax one dollar for every four trees set in; but no row of elms shall be placed nearer than seventy feet, no row of maples or other forest trees nearer than fifty feet, except locust, which may be set thirty feet apart; and no allowance as before mentioned, shall be made unless such trees have been set out the year previous for the demand of such abatement of tax, and are living and well protected from animals at the time of such demand.

If any such trees shall die the same may be replaced under the above conditions and the same amount will be allowed.

The amount of credit for planting of trees is limited to 25 per cent. of the whole amount of the road tax.

This is a subject that should receive the attention of every farmer not only throughout Montour county, but throughout the Commonwealth.

It is a matter of pleasure for all persons who have occasion to use our public highways and to the farmers who take advantage of the law it is also a source of profit.

WELL KNOWN BRAKEMAN KILLED

Francis Longenberger, a member of the P. & R. switch crew, lost his life Thursday as the result of falling under the cars while at work in the yards at this place.

The accident occurred between 8 and 9 o'clock. The switch engine was shifting cars on the track leading to the Structural Tubing works. At a point a short distance north of Boyer's coal yard, Mr. Longenberger attempted to step from the tender of the locomotive to the empty gondola next to it. He made a misstep and fell on the track, one of the wheels of the front truck passing over his left leg just above the ankle. Notwithstanding the terrible injury inflicted the man was self-possessed enough to throw his body into a new position and quickly withdraw his leg before the second wheel of the truck passed over it. By this cool-headed act he probably prevented his foot from being severed, although as the sequel shows he had sustained fatal injury.

The injury was the usual shocking sort produced when a car wheel runs over a human limb. The bones were broken into fragments or crushed, while the flesh on one side of the limb was lacerated and the fragments of bones protruded.

The injured man was carried into the home of his uncle, Joseph Longenberger, Walnut street, where Dr. Patton was called, who later on was joined by Dr. Walter Boyer.

There was not the remotest suspicion that the man was fatally injured. It was even thought by the physicians after examining the injury that amputation might not be necessary. Although it was admitted that the possibility of saving the leg was remote.

The injured man was placed on board the switch engine and, accompanied by Joseph Longenberger and Dr. Boyer, was taken to his home at Catawissa. It was decided to take him to a hospital for treatment and at noon he was placed on the P. & R. passenger train for the purpose of removing him to the Miners' hospital at Ashland. He was then seemingly strong and in good spirits.

Arriving at East Mahanoy Junction, however, he showed signs of weakness and in a few minutes he expired. His death caused the greatest surprise and can be accounted for only on the theory that he sustained internal injury.

Francis Longenberger was fifty-six years of age. He had been on the railroad nearly all his life. For many years he was employed on the switcher at this city. He leaves a wife and several children, the latter grown up. He was a man of excellent habits and was held in the highest esteem by his fellow workmen and the company employing him.

The funeral of Francis Longenberger, who died on Thursday following an accident on the Philadelphia & Reading railroad at this place, was held Sunday afternoon at 2 o'clock at Catawissa.
