The Best Vacation. As we are now in the very thick of the vacation season it is quite proper to inquire how many of the thousands who are now trying to enjoy their vacation season will be able to do so by obtaining that complete change of habis of work and worry which implies quiet, rest and recuperation. An conclusions:

"The nearer he can approach the simple life in the lone, obscure and quite rural home the nearer can he come to the true ideal of beneficial and healthful change. Every physical function needs it in greater or less degree—the brain more sleep, the stom-ach easier digestion and the muscles less strain and ache. Such a change implies an opportunity to take a fresh hold on the life line, a respite for a new breath in the wasting and exacting race in town. A distinguished neurologist has said that the main benefit of a vacation for the busy worker is plenty of sleep. This implies lots of accessories—long and hours of night, easy digestion and the farmer's light supper, muscles not over fatigued, abundance of pure air and sunlight, but above all a freedom from "care and worry."

The long and short of it is that the tired man or woman who seeks recreation ought to avoid the crowded fashionable resorts and seek communion with nature rather than with man. Those citizens who have secured quarters in some quiet country spot, erecting and simply furnishing their own cottages and retiring to them when the July sun begins to blaze probably the wisest of men. They are not distracted by the noise and clamor of the outside world; they are surrounded by business cares and annoyances. short, they are rebuilding themselves nurserymen of Adams county. and getting ready for another season of strenuous labor.

Another Coxey Army.

The announcement that Jacob S. Coxey, the individual who created a mild sort of excitement a number of years ago by leading a so-called industrial army to the national capitol is about to repeat the experiment, will not provoke much interest. When Coxey's army invaded the city of Washington times were much harder than they are at present. It was actually true that men looked for work in vain those dark days. That gave some semblance of necessity to the operations of the Coxey army.

But nobody who can work now need be long out of a job. The chaps whom you see hanging about the street ourners or worse places complaining that no man hath hired them are persons who do not hanker for employment. They are quite willing to eat the bread their wives to take in washings that they may have leisure to spout politics before the flames were extinguished. in bar-rooms and other places of popular resort. That is nine-tenths of them are. The other tenth are just numerous enough to prove the rule.

There is every reason to suppose that Coxey would have little difficulty in for remembrance, for on that day the frolic of that sort. But a Coney army comprehensive and best show ever giv today wouldn't mean what the earlier people when such wide-spread prosperity and general content prevailed as at the present moment. It is true tha years ago, too, concerning the manner day, and running races at night, all of ntry has also largely disappeared. It has become evident to the common people that their public servants, candescent electric lights, making it a spacetal that follows even the first application that their public servants are spacetally represented that their public servants, candescent electric lights, making it a spacetally represented that follows even the first application of the illness of the federal government and the majority beauty, and as light as day. Under such circumstances a second Coxey army would be the laughing stock of the country unless the vicious elements of which it would unquestionably be composed became a menace to the peace and safety of the comthat event there is some reason to suspect that the army would soon he dissolved into its constituent parts and that many of thse parts would gravitnatural sequence into the its conviction that able-bodied men, with rare exceptions, are not likley to be long without employment. For that reason it has no use for a new Coxey army .- Altoona Tribune.

WOOING SLEEP.

A Prescription That Worked Well In

Philadelphia. A haggard looking man strolled into a downtown drug store the other day and asked the druggist for help said be had trouble in getting to sleep when he retired. No matter how sleepy he might be during the day or how much sleep he might have lost, the moment his head touched the pillow he was wide awake and lay thus for several hours. Once asleep he was very hard to waken, but he had to be up at a certain hour, and in conse quence of his peculiar affliction he was losing more sleep than he could stand. The drug clerk regarded him quizzically a few moments and then replied "My dear man, you don't want medicine. What you want is something to change the trend of your thoughts. Do as a friend of mine did. He was troubled the same way and found that the old folks' plan of imagining sheep passing a barrier and counting them was out of date, so he began trying to name all the states in the Union. He name all the states in the Union. He soon got them so he could classify them alphabetically. Then, when they no longer interested him, he started on the counties of his state. He now has them at his tongue's end, classified up to the fourth letter. Now he is starting on state capitals and their locations. Then he will take up county seats. A convention should be a support of the state of the seats. A moment's glance at an atlas during the day shows him when he is wrong, and the beauty of the plan is that he rarely has to think along these lines longer than ten minutes before he is sound asleep. ## A SONG, NOT A SERMON.

But It Points a Moral From a Very Ordinary Incident. It was a merry occasion. The fun was fast and furious. It was in a bar-room; the place, Washington.

Inspiring bold John Barleycorn, What dangers thou canst make us

Wi' tippenny we fear nae evil;
Wi' usquabae we'll face the devil! And so one of this party invited sev-

Bousing at the nappy An' gettin' fou an' unco happy. The man planked down a dollar, crisp and fresh from the treasury. The account was squared; the score was paid. He was a family man and walked across the street to a meat stand and ordered two pounds of round The grocer supplied him and asked 30 cents as the price. "What!" the man roared. "What! Fifteen cents pound for round steak! It is a highway robbery!' And so we go through life prodigal in buying luxury and miserly in buy-ing necessity. That man had no con-ception of his illogical action—spending a dollar for liquor that he and his com rades would have been the better with out and kicking a hole in the ceiling on account of a purchase of beef to the charge of 30 cents that he could ill do without. Man can live without booze but the man has yet to be invented who can get along without food.

This is no sermon. This newspaper never preaches. What we intended to say and all we intended to say was to

TRIED 3 TIMES TO ROB GREEK

For the second time in three weeks burglars made an ineffectual attempt to rifle the Sugar Bowl store early Monday morning. The only circumstance which prevented the success of their attempt was that the sound of a ripping wire screen aroused the in-mates of the building, and they remained on guard the rest of the night. The Sugar Bowl is conducted by two Greeks, Messrs. Vuruakis and Kosti-anes, who live in the upper apartments of the building. Shortly after midnight Monday morning they were awakened by a noise below their rooms. Running down stairs into the store they saw two men running into the rear yard and found a large hole in the wire screen, and marks which showed that the burglars had tried to rip off the whole netting and enter the store through the &windows. The thieves had seen the Greeks coming down stairs and were in full flight be fore they could be apprehended.

Scarcely had the Greeks gone back to bed when they again heard the robbers trying to break into the store, and again they drove them away.

The same performance was repeated a third time, after which the Greeks stayed up all night on guard. The next morning the Fegley out-kitchen behind the store was found broken open but nothing was stolen. Several weeks ago burglars attempted to rob the Sugar Bowl but were driven off by the Greeks armed with
