$3,500 FOR YOUTH WHO LOST LEG

One of the most important cases hereabouts in recent years, one that has established a precedentwhich will no doubt be taken advantage of by others under similar conditions, was settled at Sunbury Saturday when the Philadelphia & Reading Railway company paid John Bickert, Jr., vouth residing in Shamokin, $3500 for the loss of his leg, which resulted from an accident on an unguarded railroad crossing in that town little over a

The boy's father brought an action in the Northumberland county courts, asking $10,000 for the injury of his child. The law firm of Kearney & Raker, were engaged by the prosecutor and to their efforts was due the paying of the large amount of dam-

At the time of the accident young Bickert was crossing the Reading's tracks at Clay street. An engine run him down and one of his legs was so badly crushed that it was necessary to take the limb off at the hip joint. The Clay street crossing has neither gates nor watchman and is a vertiable death

Though the corporation's lawyers prepared the case with care and though many surveys of the locality were made it was apparent that the company could not hope to win in the courts in the face of the damaging evidence and at Sunbury on Saturday a consultation of counsel resulted in a compromise being effected, the boy receiving the sum named for being rendered a cripple for life.

The outcome of this case was awaitterest and their is general rejoicing over the result. Great credit is due the prosecuting attorneys for their efforts in having justice done the unfortunate youth.

This case has proven one thing. The railroad companies can be held liable for accidents where oulpable negligence makes them possible and in the future suits for damages will be instituted with a felling of greater certainty of the outcome by those unfortunate enough to be maimed on the

-Mr. Books, Mr. Hancock and Mr. Wolverton—gave their decision in favor of the affirmative.

The next number, a piano solo, "Robin of the Woodland," was rendered by Miss Hughes in a manner clearly showing her ability. After Mr. Cleaver's forceful declamation, "The Unknown Rider," Miss Reif snyder's recitation "A Sabbath Scene closed the program.

This meeting on the whole showed a lack of preparation and of interest, but this was probably due to its being the first meeting of the term.

OCTOBER SUNBEAMS

Referring to bygone days when Reading was a walking town, the home of "foosgaugers," the Reading 'Now is the time for outdoor life. Not whizzing in an auto so fast that you know not whence you come or whither you go; not cooped up in a trolley car wondering when the mischief you are ever going to get there; not in a close windowed cab; not in a grimy and bescoted rail way train, but upon the feet that nature equipped you with. Get out, then, and walk. Rise up, then, and amble. Take a promenade this very afternoon. And gather ye October's sunbeams while ye may.'

COXEY TO WAGE NEW CAMPAIGN

In Danville, his birthplace, the doings of General Jacob S. Coxey are always interesting. His latest move-ments are taking place in Philadelphia. Friday morning's Inquirer contained the following:

General James S. Coxey, of Coxey's Army fame groomed like a millionaire and feeling like one, as he stated, arrived in this city yesterday morning and, for the first time, made public the details of his future plans for the education of the people.

Incidentally the Mount Vernon, Ohio, leader said, "tush! tush!" when questioned about the march on Wash ington and Congress of Coxey's army in 1894. He declared that in his coming campaign he would depend on no assistants, but would wage and win the fight single-handed.

Soon after his arrival he strode into the Bellevue Stratford and registered, stating that he did not wish a room, but wanted people to know that he was in the city. His appearance creat ed some excitement.

PLANS BIG CIRCUS TENT.

He announced to reporters: "I am going to have a big circus tent which will seat from ten to fifteen thousand persons, and with it I will tour the country, educating the people on the great questions before the public eye."

"Will you enlist or recruit a second Coxey's army to accompany you?" one of the reporters questioned.
"Tush! tush!" responded the Gen eral "There will be no army in this campaign I will do all the ordering and will carry out the orders. In other words, I will conduct this fight

"My contention this time will be that the people should own all the public utilities. This country knows enough about producing but does not know how to distribute. You all know that this country is the greatest place on earth. Well, with the people in control of the public utilities it will be twice as good. I will urge and demand a government bond issue. All money then will be handed out down at Washington and cities and towns will not have to pay big interest on loans. The interest ordinarily paid, I declare, with my plan in vogue, will go toward wiping out the principal of

TO DISCLOSE PLAN LATER. General Coxey would not outline clared that he has seen persons stand in the plan, saying that he would disclose it for the first time when the lecture tour was begun.

"I can illustrate my plan by a loan right in your city," the General continued. "I understand that a loan of $5,000,000 is needed for school or Board of Education purposes. With my plan in use the Mayor or Councils could apply to the government for a loan als, if at all humane, the single protest herein voiced should prove sufficiterest for the printing of the bonds ent. and notes and expenses entitled. Then the city could levy a tax to pay the interest, which would be devoted for payment of the principal.

"I propose to set out with my tent in the early spring. At that time, I am reasonably sure, every level-minded man will see the need of public ownership of the utilities-the road, railway, telephone and telegraph lines. I think that it will succeed. am doing it merely to educate the people and not for any personal reasons.

Over-Work Weakens Your Kidneys.

Unhealthy Kidneys Make Impure Blood.

All the blood in your body passes through

All the blood in your body passes through your kidneys once every three minutes.

The kidneys are your blood purifiers, they filter out the waste or impurities in the blood. If they are sick or out of order, they fail to do their work.

Pains, aches and rheumatism come from excess of uric acid in the blood, due to neglected kidney trouble.

Kidney trouble causes quick or unsteady heart beats, and makes one feel as though they had heart trouble, because the heart is over-working in pumping thick, kidneypoisoned blood through veins and arteries. It used to be considered that only urinary troubles were to be traced to the kidneys, but now modern science proves that nearly all constitutional diseases have their beginning in kidney trouble.

NARROWLY ESCAPES HUNTER'S BULLET

Harvey Lamberson, who resides along the old canal about two miles below town, called at the office of Justice of the Peace Oglesby Saturday morning to see if something could not be done to stop reckless shooting in the vicinity of his home.

At all seasons of the year he says there is more or less reckless shooting down the river and many close calls are on record. When the hunting season is not on, then the would-be marksmen, who go down there to practice with their guns, have to be reckoned with. The danger, he says, was never more marked than since the present hunting season opened.

The other day Mr Lamberson's mother-in-law, who resides with him came within an ace of being struck by a bullet from a hunter's rifle. It is no unusual experience for a person driving along the road to hear a builet whiz by his ear. Mr. Lamberson de marksmanship blaze away at objects without any apparent regard as to whether or not the coast was clear.
