ELEVATORS

AND POCKETS

Robert J. Pegg has broken ground on Northumberland street for the erecplant, which will consist of elevators and pockets, will be the first of its kind in this section.

The site selected is the tract lying just east of Mahoning creek between the D. L. & W. railroad and Northumberland street, which was occupied by a coal yard some years ago. Comparatively recently the tract, which belongs to the Reading Iron company, was filled up on a level with the street. In order to get rid of the trestling the D. L. & W. railroad company about the same time filled up under its track, thus rendering it impossible to reinstall the coal bins that formerly did service. The place at present is in no respect adapted to a coal yard of the old-fashioned type. Mr. Pegg, therefore, decided to install a modern plant, as above described.

The building for storage, containing six pockets, will be forty feet by fortytwo feet, ten inches and will be about the railroad and the building will be a siding constructed by the D. L. & W. railroad company. Underneath the siding a pocket will be construct-ed. As the coal falls into the pocket it will be caught by an elevator in the form of an endless belt or chain with a series of scoops or buckets, by which it will be carried to the very top of the building and dropped into one or another of the six pockets for storage. To operate the elevator an eight-horse power gasoline engine will be install-

There will be two driveways on the ground floor of the building, into which a chute will extend from each of the coal pockets. In delivering coal to customers nothing more will be necessary than to place a wagon in the driveway and open the chute, permitting the coal to drop into the wagon box. Thus in hauling out coal as well as stocking up the pockets all labor is reduced to a minimum, the expense of operating being reduced probably one-

Mr. Pegg will also erect an office besides a scales at the new place of business. John A. Mowrey is superintending the construction of the plant.

SHOOTS A BEAR

Harry Billmeyer has returned from a hunting excursion to the northeastern part of Lycoming county, a wild unsettled section embracing a part of the Alleghany system, where conditions are favorable for the rapid propagation of game in all varieties and where, unless under exceptional conditions, the hunter is sure of bagging all the pheasants he can carry. Mr. Billmeyer's party shot a bear, but as relates to other game his report is rather discouraging than otherwise.

Mr. Billmeyer, accompanied by Alfred Blaker and John Cornell of Philadelphia and Daniel Frazier of Washingtonville, a week ago left for Glen Mawr in the section of Lycoming county above described. They hunted with indifferent success from Monday morning until Thursday noon.

Wednesday afternoon the monotony of the trip was relieved by the discov ery of a bear. Bruin was out in the midst of a swamp when he was surprised by the dogs. The bear, which was a big long-legged fellow, escaped to a tree before the dogs came up. He climbed the tree and probably fancied

A moment later he was brought down by a bullet fired from the gun of Lincoln Edkin, a guide, who with his dogs, was picked up by the party at Glen Mawr.

The bear dressed, weighed 180 pounds It was taken along to Philadelphia by tion of a modern establishment for Messrs. Blaker and Cornell. Bears are carrying on the coal business. The plentiful in that part of the State. A large number have been seen this fall, while foot prints are in evidence almost everywhere.

Pheasants, Mr. Billmeyer states, are The party succeeded in bagging only half a dozen. For the past eight years Mr. Billmeyer each has made a trip to that portion of Lycoming county and he has never before returned home without bringing with him forty to sixty pheasants.

Mr. Billmeyer attributes the scarcity of pheasants this year, to the prevalence of cholera among the birds. Thus early in the season there has been but little shooting and the pheasants should be traveling in coveys. Yet Mr. Billmeyer notes that in no instance did they see a pheasant but was entirely alone and probably a mile or two from any other bird.

Neither did they find rabbits plentiful in that excellent breeding ground for game. Mr. Billmeyer states that thirty feet high to the eaves. Between he himself had the good fortune to shoot a jack rabbit, a rather rare variety belonging to the mountains, large in size and white in color.

FIREMEN APPEAL TO COUNCIL

Whether a man living outside the orough can belong to a fire company in the borough and more especially whether such a non resident can hold the responsible office of chief engineer is an issue on which the members of the Goodwill hose company have for a long time been divided. With a view of obtaining a decision by which all must abide and thereby doing away with the cause of a great deal of con-tention and ill-feeling the question has been submitted to the borough council by members of the company.

A committee of two appeared before council at its last meeting and fully explained the situation. The Good-will hose company, according to the statement made, is divided into two of town. factions, which can not get together on any issue, no matter how obviously it would be for the common good.

One of these sides, the majority of whose members reside outside the borough, in numbers and influence outweighs the other. The committee that visited council represented the minorempany is handicapped at present. Owing to the friction existing it is impossible to elect new members, one rogative to use the black balls.

The members living outside the borough are inconveniently situated for running to fires and consequently do not put in an appearance until too late or not at all. The result of all this is that the Goodwill company is beaten by the other fire companies and has to depend upon the boys of the street to assist in getting the hose carriage follow. Health Commissioner Dr. back to the building.

members outside the borough should not belong to the company. The issue one instance has caused legal proceed at present is forced by the fact that ings to be instituted against the physical content of the company. the candidate for chief engineer, the choice of which this year lies with the Goodwill hose company, lives outside the borough.

The committee explained that the minority is not antagonistic to the candidate personally and that, if he would remove within the borough limits, all opposition would be withdrawn.

Council after due consideration referred the matter to the committee on fire with instructions to consult the cloth, recipes practical, the merit of borough solicitor to determine whether in view of all the facts there are any legal obstacles in the way of the non-resident candidate holding the office of chief engineer.

It appears that outside of the Goodwill hose company the question of ineligibility is not considered and as a precedent the members point to the fact that Lawrence Butler, who lived outside the borough, some years ago was elected chief engineer and served very acceptably.

cause to regret making that statement and now over ten years afterwards, I can reiterate the statement. Before taking this remedy I suffered for months with backache and lameness and soreness in the back. The pain over my hips was continuous and when on my feet it was one steady gnawing ache. It hurt me to do anything requiring a bending position, sharp twinges would catch me so suddenly that I had to brace myself until they stopped. The kidney secretions annoyed me and I often suffered from headaches. I read statements given by people in this vicinity who had used Doan's Kidney Pills and concluded to people in this vicinity who had used Doan's Kidney Pills and concluded to try them. They did me more good than any other medicines I ever tried. After a few doses I no longer experienced such severe pain and finally the pain was removed entirely. Help! Help! I'm Falling

Thus cried the hair. And a kind neighbor came to the rescue with a bottle of Ayer's Hair Vigor. The hair was saved! This was because Ayer's Hair Vigor is a regular hair medicine. Falling hair is caused by a germ, and this medicine completely destroys these germs. Then the healthy scalp gives rich, healthy hair.

The best kind of a testimonial—"Sold for over sixty years." Made by J. C. Ayer Co., Lowell, Ayer's SARAPARILLA.
