DOGS TO BE UNMUZZLED

The quarantine of the dogs after having been in force for over two months was ordered raised by action of council Friday night.

Mr. Everhart called attention to the matter. In his opinion, he said, sufficient time has elapsed since the outbreak of rabies and that all danger is now passed. Besides, nearly one-half of the dogs are running unmuzzled. In justice the other half of the dogs ought to be released. The members in general concurred with Mr. Everhart.

On motion of Mr. Dietz it was ordered that "the muzzles be removed— with the exception of those dogs which are known to have been bitten."

The following members were present: Sweifort, Pursel, Jacobs, Finnigan, Everhart, Moyer, Dietz, Russell, Deutsch, Angle, Hughes, Schatz.
A communication was received from Borough Solicitor E. S. Gearhart formally extending thanks to the chief burgess, the president, members of town council, trustees of the Grove Presbyterian church and others who so kindly left their business Saturday morning and rendered much needed assistance in court in the matter of vacating the old Petriken cemetery.

On motion of Mr. Hughes it was ordered that new overcoats be procured for the two police officers.

George D. Edmondson and Heister Fount of the firm owning the opera house appeared before council asking that the license for performances be reduced. The claim was made that the present rate of five dollars per night is too high and is out of all proportion to what is charged in other towns of the size of Danville. In the town of Columbia, a larger place than Danville, the license is only $35 per year.

On motion of Mr. Deutsch it was ordered that the license be fixed at thirty-five dollars for the present season terminating June 1st.

On motion of Mr. Moyer it was ordered that Mrs. Herrington be notified to fill up the well at her property on Iron street or to cover the same with flagstone.

On motion of Mr. Jacobs it was ordered that Mrs. Patterson Johnson be notified to remove the pump at her property on East Market street and to fill up the well or cover it with flagstone.

The borough solicitor submitted an opinion on the controversy in the Goodwill fire company as to whether or not a non-resident member is legally eligible for the office of chief engineer. He disposed of the matter by explaining that the question is one which the Goodwill fire company should be left to decide for itself.

THE UNION
THANKSGIVING
The Union Thanksgiving service this year will be held in St. Paul's M. E. church. The sermon will be preached by the Rev. Joseph E. Guy, pastor of Shiloh Reformed church.

All the arrangements for the service have not yet been perfected. When a church is selected for the Thanksgiving service it is customary to select a minister to preach the sermon from the opposite side of town. The choice this year fell on Mr. Guy, who is an able and devout minister of the younger class.

The full arrangements for the service is in the hands of the Rev. Dr. Foster, pastor of St. Paul's, where the services are to be held. It will be some days before Dr. Foster has the program fully arranged.

A feature of the Thanksgiving service which is never forgotten is the offering. Indeed, it is only by the offering, with the spirit of self-sacrifice implied, that we may measure the true depth of thanks and gratitude that abide in the heart on Thanksgiving.

The offering this year will be donated to the Woman's Benevolent Society, which, with few exceptions, has received the money for a number of years past.

DEPOSIT REQUIRED ON ENVELOPES

A section of a late ruling of the post master general G. V. L. Meyer, which is given below, will be of interest to purchasers of return request stamped envelopes in wholesale lots.

The order reads: "Postmasters shall require the purchaser to deposit with his order the difference between the schedule and postage value of the envelopes, (for example, $1.24 per thousand on No. 5, first quality, the size most used) the postage value to be collected when the envelopes are delivered to the purchaser. The post master will give a receipt for the advance payment."

Yet the year will give us more than one shining hour before the ringing of the Christmas bells.

SCARLET ASSISTANT TO BONAPARTE

Our townsman, James Scarlet, chief counsel for the Commonwealth of Pennsylvania in the capitol graft cases, has been retained by the United States government as special counsel to assist in the prosecution of the powder trust.

Upon reaching his office in this city Saturday Mr. Scarlet was surprised to find upon his desk an appointment as special assistant to Attorney General Bonaparte, he being employed as special counsel of the department of justice to conduct suits in all the courts of the United States arising under the inter-state commerce and anti-trust laws.

We understand that Mr. Scarlet was called to Washington last week in consultation on the Powder trust cases and has been assigned to take immediate charge of these suits.

Mr. Scarlet is to be congratulated on the above appointment, as it takes him up a step higher and is indeed a splendid recognition of his skill and learning as a lawyer, his untiring industry and incorruptible character—distinguishing traits, which have shone in such a strong light during the time he has been engaged in probing the capitol scandal and instituting suits against the alleged looters.

Under Mr. Scarlet the State has brought thirty-two prosecutions, on which indictments have been found. Mr. Scarlet says these cases will all go on trial January 27th. There are fourteen defendants.

As special assistant to Attorney General Bonaparte Mr. Scarlet's sphere will be greatly enlarged. His peculiar ability will be employed in breaking up gigantic and well fortified combinations that have long defied the law. That he shall give a good account of himself in this enlarged field no one who knows the man will for a moment doubt.

It is pretty certain that in the performance of his duties henceforth Mr. Scarlet will be called to many distant points and that his reputation, which already extends beyond his own State, will in a short time become national.

TUBERCULOSIS DISPENSARY

A tuberculosis dispensary has been established in Danville with Dr. E. A. Curry in charge.

As explained in a previous article dispensaries are being established in every county of the State by Commissioner of Health Dr. Samuel G. Dixon, who is waging a comprehensive and aggressive campaign against the "white plague" as tuberculosis has come to be known.

The dispensary will be located in Dr. Curry's office on West Mahoning street. On the outside an artistically lettered sign furnished by the State is displayed, calling attention to the office as a tuberculosis dispensary. The board announces that the dispensary will be open Tuesdays and Thursdays, from 2 to 4 p. m.

Medical treatment will be given free and where necessary milk and eggs will also be furnished. In addition when circumstances warrant it a nurse will be sent here to make a home inspection. The latter indeed, is a special feature of the campaign of education that is being inaugurated.

A nurse specially instructed and trained in the hygiene of tuberculosis will be sent to visit the home of every patient applying to the dispensary for treatment. It will be her province to thoroughly instruct the patient upon such important points as the amount of fresh air needed, the most desirable foods, when and how they should be taken. She will teach the patients and the other members of the household how to conduct themselves so as to avoid the infection of these not already suffering from tuberculosis.

The fact is at all times to be borne in mind that the dispensary is only for the poor—those who are unable to pay for medicine, milk and eggs. In order that there may be no imposition those applying at the dispensary will be obliged to sign a paper certifying to the fact that they are too poor to pay a physician and to purchase medicine, milk and eggs.

An Oyster Supper.
An oyster supper was held at the home of Mr. and Mrs. John S. Krum, East Danville, on Saturday evening. Those present were: Mr. and Mrs. Lloyd Baylor, Mr. Aaron O. Mauser, Mr. and Mrs. Alonzo Krum, Mr. and Mrs. Charles Krum, Mr. and Mrs. Ralph Leighow, Mr. and Mrs. George Thomas, and Mrs. Sarah Mauser, of Grovania; Sarah Krum, Martha Baylor, Effie Leighow, Thornton and George Krum, David and Harry Thomas, Norman Krum, Elmer Baylor, William and Benjamin Krum, Masters Preston and Boyd Thomas and Benjamin Leighow.

EXCEPTIONS HAVE BEEN FILED

The D. L. & W. Railroad company, has filed exceptions to the opinion handed down by Judge Evans on the 9th inst., dissolving the preliminary injunction and giving the Danville and Bloomsburg Street Railway company the right to cross the roadway and track of the D. L. & W. Railroad company at grade.

There seems to be some misconception of the mode of legal procedure in such cases on the part of the public. Persons feeling a keen interest in the outcome of the prolonged litigation relative to the D. L. & W. crossing, in the ten days elapsed since the opinion was handed down have been looking for action of some sort from the plaintiff railroad company, which in a vague way they regarded as "an appeal." The ten-day period having expired, Tuesday there was great curiosity to know what action had been taken by the plaintiff railroad company—whether the trolley company would now be at liberty to cross the D. L. & W. track at grade or whether the hold-up would be renewed by virtue of an appeal to the supreme court.

When the handing down of the opinion by Judge Evans was noted in these columns it was explained that exceptions were "noted by the court on application and the bill sealed." Pursuant to this the plaintiff has filed exceptions in due and legal form.

The exceptions can not be argued until the next regular argument court, which will be held on January 11th next. Argument may even be delayed beyond that point. The turn that proceedings may take after argument depends. Should the court dismiss the exceptions it is altogether likely that the case will be appealed.

The Danville & Bloomsburg Street Railway company, it is understood, will make no attempt to cross the D. L. & W. at grade pending the final adjudication of the matter by the courts. All of which means allowing for delays incident to appeal, that there is not the least probability that the Danville and Bloomsburg cars will run up Mill street for months to come.

THE RESULT OF CAMP INSPECTION

The result of the inspection at camp at Mt. Getna, last July, has been made public. The local company ranks third in the regiment with an average of 98.50. Companies A, of Lewisburg and E, of Sunbury, are tied for first place with an average of 99.25 each.

The special report of the maneuvers of the Third brigade at Mt. Getna gives Company F mention as follows: "Company, F. Captain Gearhart, engaged a detachment of the 4th and 8th regiments of the enemy on their left flank, capturing two companies and with the aid of one company from the second support, coming in on the rear of battery, and capturing the battery there located."

In the report received last September of the result of the spring inspection, held last March, the United States army officer severely criticized Captain Gearhart for the condition of the company. At that inspection Company F stood seventh in the regiment with an average of 93.30. It was shortly after the receipt of this report, Captain Gearhart states, that he tendered his resignation. The Twelfth regiment again stood fifth in the State.

BASKET BALL TEAM IS ORGANIZED

The basket ball loving people of Danville, who form no small proportion of the population, are to have a fine team during the coming season. The team has been organized and Patrick Mc Caffrey has accepted the management.

The schedule for the coming winter is being arranged and the first game has already been secured with Pittston for Thanksgiving afternoon and evening. The Pittston team is well known in Danville and is probably the most popular basket ball aggregation that comes to this city.

The line-up of the Danville team will include such well known and popular players as Newbaker and Sechler, forwards; Price, center; Gilmore and Russell, guards.

Visited Danville.
Judge William Krickbaum, of Bloomsburg, and Constable Condon Langdon, of Centralia, circulated in Danville yesterday afternoon. Both are well known here. Judge Krickbaum through his successful electioneering campaigns and Constable Langdon by reason of his reputation as a bold and efficient officer, who succeeds in keeping things quiet and orderly in the turbulent regions on "the other side of the mountain."

There are over seventy miles of tunnels cut in the solid rock of Gibraltar.

SABBATH SCHOOL CONVENTION

The seventeenth annual convention of the Sabbath school association, held in Shiloh Reformed church yesterday, was one of the best attended and altogether the most successful that ever took place in Montour county. Of the thirty-eight Sabbath schools of the county twenty-eight were represented.

Besides the delegates a large number of townspeople were present at the convention. Pastors of the various churches of the county were present as follows: Rev. M. K. Foster, D. D., Rev. John Sherman, Rev. W. J. Kohler, Rev. A. B. Still, Rev. J. E. Guy, Rev. W. C. McCormack, D. D., Rev. G. W. Fritsch, Rev. L. W. Walter and Evangelist W. D. Laumaster.

The following Sunday schools were represented, each having two delegates: Shiloh Reformed church, St. Paul's M. E. church, Grove Presbyterian church, Mahoning Presbyterian church, Pine Street Lutheran church, St. John's Lutheran church, United Evangelical church, Union church, of McKee's Heights, Strawberry Ridge Reformed church, Washingtonville Presbyterian church, Reformed church, Maudsde Reformed church, Moorsburg Presbyterian church and Moorsburg Methodist church.

Devotional service was conducted by Rev. John Sherman, pastor of First Baptist church. The delegates were welcomed by Rev. Joseph E. Guy, pastor of Shiloh Reformed church. Mrs. Joseph Divil rendered a vocal solo.

The Rev. W. J. Kohler, pastor of the Strawberry Ridge Reformed church, opened a discussion on "To What Purposes Should Sunday School Offerings be Devoted."

"The Supreme Hour" was the subject taken up by Miss Martha E. Robinson, principal field worker of Columbia county.

The principal feature of the afternoon was the address by W. G. Landes, general secretary of the State Association, entitled, "Montour County and the Front Line Position." The address was most practical in its nature and full of good suggestions for carrying on the work. The afternoon session closed with prayer and benediction by Rev. Dr. M. K. Foster, pastor of St. Paul's M. E. church.

Praise service last evening was conducted by Rev. Lloyd W. Walter, pastor of Pine Street Lutheran church. "Men and Women of Tomorrow" was the subject ably and interestingly discussed by Miss Martha E. Robinson. General Secretary Landes closed with a very inspiring address entitled, "A Glimpse beyond the Horizon."

A MAP FOR BUSINESS MEN

W. G. Pursel of the Structural Tubing company, is to be credited with a fine stroke of enterprise, which has the good of the town in view. He has produced an artistic map in the convenient form of a leaflet, which throws Danville into prominence and reveals its relation to other towns within a radius of 140 miles.

Mr. Pursel in his dealings with manufacturers and their representatives has discovered that comparatively few of them have a correct idea of the exact location of Danville and its relation to neighboring towns. The larger maps that are generally referred to are of but small value, as Danville, along with other towns of its rank, is imperfectly shown, if it is not crowded off the map.

On Mr. Pursel's map Danville is the great fact, the name being printed in red ink. The town is located 140 miles from New York City as a crow would fly and is the center of a circle, the diameter of which extends from New York to within a few miles of Pittsburg.

Within the circle all the smaller towns, along with the larger places, are distinctly shown. Railroads are also brought out prominently. The stranger at a glance not only learns all about the exact location of Danville but the natural advantages of the place and facilities for shipping instantly strike the eye.

The question arises whether it would not be a pretty good thing for other manufacturing concerns of Danville to adopt Mr. Pursel's method of advertising the town.

Stephen Lucky and his son Wilson, of Stroudsburg, were out hunting deer on Monday when the two became separated. Soon Wilson shot a deer, but a loud cry at a distance caused him to go and see what was wrong, when he found his father bleeding freely and quite helpless from a bullet wound in his leg above the knee, the son's bullet having passed through the deer and hit him.

In Sweden a separate car must be instructed on suburban night trains out of Stockholm for the accommodation of intoxicated persons.

ANTHRACITE INSPECTORS

The inspectors of the anthracite coal mines, representing nearly the entire twenty districts, held a meeting at the Montour house, this city, yesterday. Two sessions, morning and afternoon, were held.

James E. Roderick, of Hazleton, chief of the department of mines, was present and presided at the convention. Regular meetings are not held, but the inspectors assemble at the call of the chairman whenever an emergency in mining arises that would make a meeting, with a free interchange of thought, profitable.

The meeting yesterday was called for the purpose of discussing matters pertaining to mining in general and the enforcement of the law relating to the employment of children in particular. So far as the inspectors can accomplish it no children below the legal age will be employed about the breakers or in the mines.

The body of inspectors took dinner at the Montour house. After the final session they spent some time in sight seeing about town.

The following inspectors were present:
First district, P. J. Moore, Carbon-dale.
Second district, L. M. Evans, Scranton.
Seventh district, G. H. Price and James Martin of Wilkes-Barre.
Ninth district, David T. Davis, Wilkes-Barre.
Tenth district, J. J. Walsh, Wilkes-Barre.
Eleventh district, David J. Roderick, Hazleton.
Thirteenth district, A. B. Lamb, Shenandoah.
Fourteenth district, James A. O'Donnell, Wilkes-Barre.
Fifteenth district, B. L. Evans, Wilkes-Barre.
Sixteenth district, M. M. Laughlin, Wilkes-Barre.
Seventeenth district, Isaac M. Davis, Lansford.
Eighteenth district, John Curran, Pottsville.
Nineteenth district, M. J. Brennan, Carbondale.
Twentieth district, C. J. Price, Lykens.

MILL EMPLOYEES AS FIRE FIGHTERS

About half past five o'clock Tuesday morning while those of our townspeople who could afford to indulge in a late nap were still abed the alarm of fire rang through town, the first that had been heard for many months. The fire occurred at the Structural Tubing works and was easily extinguished without the aid of the fire department.

The employees were busy at work in the mill when the roof was discovered to be on fire just above the hot bed in a portion of the works where the roof is low.

The cry of "fire" immediately went abroad and an instant later the fire bells were rung. Fire plugs have been installed at the Structural Tubing works, in addition to which the mill is well equipped with hose.

The employees themselves, who in more than one emergency in the past have proven themselves expert fire fighters, yesterday morning did not wait for the fire department, but at the first cry of "fire" flew to the hose and in an incredibly short period of time had a stream of water playing on the fire.

Quick action was necessary. The under side of the roof over the dry bed, exposed to constant heat, has become as dry and inflammable as tinder. A spark alone is needed to set it off and once in a blaze the flames spread rapidly.

The mill men by assuming the role of firemen succeeded in checking the fire while it was still in its incipency and before any damage of consequence resulted. Had there been the least delay or any failure to co-operate, however, the result might have been vastly different.

The Friendship and Washington Fire companies responded to the alarm, but before either of them reached the works the fire was extinguished. The fire is supposed to have been started by a spark from the rolls.

First illness.
Henry Slonaker, the oldest citizen of Venango county, died on Saturday at his home in Cooperstown, after three days' illness from acute indigestion, aged 99 years and 4 months. Up to last Thursday he had never been ill and he never wore glasses nor carried a cane.

There are about 600 dogs in Hazleton that are not wearing a collar with a tax receipt tag, and the police have been instructed to impound every one, regardless of their being pet, fighting or hunting dogs, or common curs.

SUMMONS IN TRESPASS

Three important suits, actions in trespass, have been instituted in the court of common pleas, this county. One of these is brought by Henry E. Bohner against the Locust Mountain Water company and the other two by Sophia G. Eckman against the Cross Creek Coal company and the Lehigh and Wilkes-Barre Coal company, respectively. In each case heavy damages are claimed.

In the case of Henry E. Bohner vs. the Locust Mountain Water company the plaintiff's statement sets forth as follows:
That on June 26, 1904, he was and from thence hitherto has been and still is possessed of a tract of land in Mayberry township, Montour county, containing 13 acres with improvements, consisting of a two-story frame dwelling house, barn, water power, flour and feed mill, together with a dam for the storage of water to drive said mill, which dam is erected in and across a stream of water called Roaring creek flowing in and through said land.

That the defendant wrongfully, injuriously and unlawfully located and erected water works consisting of dams, conduits, lines of pipes and pumping stations, for the purpose of supplying water to certain villages, boroughs and cities and to private and public corporations and thereby and by means thereof did stop, hinder and divert and turn away the waters of said creek and tributaries thereof so as to cause the same on some of said days and times in part and, at other of said days and times, wholly, to cease to flow in and through the said lands of the plaintiff, along their usual and natural courses; in consequence of which wrongful acts of the defendant the waters of said creek and tributaries sufficient for the supplying of said mill with water for the necessary working thereof and for other purposes could not and did not run and flow to and through the said lands of the plaintiff and will not run and flow for the purposes aforesaid.

Wherefore the plaintiff brings suit and claims damages in the sum of twenty-five thousand dollars.

In the case of Sophia G. Eckman vs. Cross Creek Coal company the plaintiff's statement sets forth as follows:
That since 1902, she has owned a farm in Mayberry township, Montour county, consisting of 150 acres, lying on the south side of the Susquehanna river and known as the "Roaring creek farm."

That the defendant during the time of the plaintiff's ownership in the operation of its mines carelessly and negligently put large quantities of coal dirt, rock, slate, culm and refuse matter in the Susquehanna river and its branches and that by the action of storms, streams and the elements they have been and are being carried down the said river and deposited opposite to, along and upon the lands of the plaintiff, filling up the natural bed of the river and its branches, damming and throwing the water out over and upon the land, thereby injuring and damaging the same, ruining fences, buildings and destroying crops.

In the suit against the Lehigh and Wilkes-Barre Coal company a similar complaint is set forth by the plaintiff. In each case damages in ten thousand dollars are claimed.

GLEANED FROM SPECIAL EDITION

On Monday the Berwick board of trade inaugurated a campaign for a greater Berwick by issuing a twenty-four page edition of the Evening Enterprise, devoted largely to setting forth the advantages and development of the town. From it we glean the following facts about Berwick:

They claim to have a population of twenty thousand, and say when all the men who work there reside there the population will reach thirty thousand. Over five thousand five hundred men are employed by the American Car and Foundry company and upwards of fourteen hundred by the other industrial establishments of the town, making a total of 7,000 men. The population is based on these figures. The town has twenty-three miles of streets. Berwick has 2,460 pupils in her public schools— fifty seven in number and within the past few years has expended eighty thousand dollars for public school buildings. The Enterprise attributes the town's magnificent growth and development to the voting of a sixty-thousand dollar loan a few years ago for municipal improvements. The town began to develop from that time and its growth has been phenomenal.

Special Meeting.
There will be a special meeting of the borough council tonight for the purpose of considering some important matters relating to sewerage.
