J. E. WAITE'S TRAGIC DEATH

John Edward Waite of this city was found dead along the Pennsylvania railroad a short distance below Kipp's Run on Saturday evening. There seems little doubt but that he was killed by the cars although the exact manner of his death seems shrouded in mystery.

About 9:30 o'clock Saturday night a message was received in this city from Sunbury, which stated that the dead body of Waite had been found lying along the track by the crew of the west bound passenger train due to arrive at South Danville at 7:51 p. m.

The home of the deceased is at No. 7 Grand street. Neither the wife nor any of the brothers are able to explain what took the unfortunate man to the spot where his body was found.

The body is not badly mutilated and it seems unlikely that the man was under the wheels. The face is badly bruised, the eyes swollen, while there are one or more scall wounds. What internal injuries may have been sustained of course is not known.

In Honor of T. J. S. Club. A pleasant party was given at the home of Mr. and Mrs. Beyer, Front street, Saturday evening, in honor of the T. J. S. club.

Prothonotary-elect Thomas G. Vincent and Deputy Prothonotary Miss Alice Dennon entered upon the duties of their office Monday at high noon.

Andrew Steinman, county treasurer-elect, was also inducted into office, the oath being administered by Prothonotary Thomas G. Vincent.

Will Meet at Williamsport. The Sons of Veterans and the Sons of Veterans reserves of Pennsylvania will hold their annual encampment in Williamsport next June.

DEATH OF TWO AGED RESIDENTS

Jonas Fenstermacher, a highly respected and well known resident of Valley township, departed this life at 3 o'clock Sunday morning after a brief illness, death being due to the infirmities of old age.

The deceased was a widower, his wife dying in 1890. He was eighty-four years of age and is survived by three sons: Albert and Levi Fenstermacher, of this county, and Charles, who lives in Douglas, Alaska.

The deceased was born near Linville, Lehigh county, December 5th, 1823. He came to Montour county with his parents in 1834, the entire journey being made with wagons.

In 1848 he was married to Rachel Maria Newell of Lycoming county. In 1851 he purchased the farm on which he died and which at that time was nearly all woods.

The deceased was a member and an elder of the Maudsall Reformed church. Captain William Miller, a native of Danville and a man widely known here, died Saturday at his home in Hampstead, Virginia.

The deceased was 65 years of age and lived in Danville until the breaking out of the Civil war, when he enlisted from this city, and served throughout the rebellion.

The deceased was a widower. He is survived by the following brothers and sisters: E. S. Miller, Robert Miller and Mrs. Gibson, of Danville; Mrs. Jane Hall, of Philadelphia; Joseph Miller, of Cooper township; Levi Miller, of Wyoming; Mrs. Alice Lambers, of Covington, Ky.; Mrs. Maria Stiff, of Wyoming; and James Miller, of Erie.

William Derr, an aged and well known resident of White Hall, died Sunday evening at 6 o'clock, after a week's illness of pneumonia.

Mr. Derr was one of the most widely known men in the northern end of the county, having been born and raised and spent all of his long life on the homestead farm in Anthony township.

The deceased is survived by his wife, three daughters: May (Mrs. Peter Moser), of Turbotville; Laura (Mrs. Oliver Johnson), of White Hall; Harriet (Mrs. Edward Johnson), of Hughesville, three sons: Thomas Derr, of White Hall; Alem Derr, of Bloomsburg and John Derr, of Catawissa.

DANGER IN DELAY. Kidney Diseases Are Too Dangerous for Danville People to Neglect. The great danger of kidney troubles is that they get a firm hold before the sufferer recognizes them.

Henry Collins, moulder, of 445 N. 6th street, Bloomsburg, Pa., says: "For years I suffered with kidney trouble, backache and bladder weakness. I used all kinds of remedies but none of them seemed to have any beneficial effect."

BOY ROBBED BY A TRAMP

It would seem to be about time that a pretty rigid example were made of some of the tramps that infest this section. A half-grown boy was assaulted and robbed by a shabby-looking stranger in this city Saturday afternoon.

The victim Saturday was the fourteen-year-old son of Edgar L. Ranck, Vine street. The boy had been sent down town on an errand with a small sum of money in his pocket.

In 1848 he was married to Rachel Maria Newell of Lycoming county. In 1851 he purchased the farm on which he died and which at that time was nearly all woods.

The above description is said to correspond with the appearance of a tramp who terrified some women and children in Sageburg Saturday forenoon.

THEY APPEAL TO GOVERNOR STUART

The trustees of the hospital for the insane held a special meeting Friday for the purpose of taking action on an important matter connected with the awarding of the contract for the new buildings.

When the bids for the new buildings were invited the specifications called for the Warren-Webster heating system "or any other system equally as good."

Some time later Metzger & Wells of Philadelphia, took formal exception to the proceeding, alleging that as Mosier & Summers had bid upon a heating system other than the Warren and Webster they were debarred.
