DOLLARS IN SIGHT

A couple of interesting facts have come to the surface with relation to the proposition that the county commissioners contribute five thousand men came to an agreement at about dollars for the erection of the soldiers' monument, which has so long been an unrealized dream in Montour county.

It was learned at the office of the ounty commissioners, Saturday that if the five thousand dollars recommended by the grand jury, be contributed by the county to the soldiers' monument fund, it will increase tax-ation only one mill. It occurs that the aggregate value of all property in Montour county taxable for county purposes is $5,142,922.00. It is therefore patent that the burden in the way of increased taxation will be so light as to be scarcely perceptible.

The amount of money that the soldiers' monument committee has alby subscription ready gathered amounts to some five thousand dollars. It is quite apparent that the sum total in sight-through the grand jury's recommendation - some ten thousand dollars, will prove inadequate to erect such a memorial as jis contemplated. The solicitors will no doubt be able the town, but it is doubtful whether enough can be raised by subscription to cover the deficiency.

The second grand jury will act on the matter at the February term of court.

hand give an estimate of the cost of holding last court he would probably guess wide of the mark. As a matter of fact several very practical persons who ventured an opinion differed as much as five hundred dollars in their estimate. All of which goes to show that people as a rule have no adequate conception of the heavy drain that is made on the county's resources by a whole week of court—a subject which after all, every tax payer should be well informed upon.

One thousand dollars would seem to many people as a heavy outlay for court, yet the person who should name the above sum as the cost would be cattered by later than the count of the mucous ling of the Eustachian Tube. ally since fall in the vicinity of Kipp's run, made its latest appearance on Friday, when it performed the enter-taining stant of racing with a Pennsylvania passenger train.

The odd occurrence took place on on December 18th and startled the family by partially encircling the a long time past. farm house and pausing to gaze through the window at the family seated around the dinner table.

Mr. and Mrs. Carr were in this city county. on Saturday morning and gave an account of the reckless deer's latest stunt. Mr Carr himself did not see the deer on its visit to his farm, December 18th, but on Friday morning he had a good view of the animal. He was called by his son and requested to look in the direction of the railroad, is he would there see the deer.

The graceful animal stood with head rect and ready to spring. It was evidently alarmed by the approach of the westbound passenger train, due to arrive at South Danville at 8:58 a. m. The deer was standing in Mr. Carr's bowling along at its usual rate of speed, approached, the deer bounded away and ran swiftly down along the track with the train at its heels.

It was indeed a pretty sight. For at least 1200 yards it kept up the race. The passengers of course were upaware of the rare spectacle, but the engineer and fireman, both leaning far out of the engine, were enjoying the sight.

At the lower end of Mr Carr's farm while the train was rapidly gaining on the deer, the latter made a dash across the track clearing the locomotive by a safe margin and, by this time in full view of the passengers, ran directly to the river, where it plunged into the water full of floating ice and swam over to the island, which lies near mid stream.

On its previous visits the deer is known to have crossed from the island to the western shore of the river and the supposition is that its regular stamping ground is on the mountains. The effect of the rigid game law which gives deer well-nigh an im munity, is seen in the increasing boldness of these animals.

The mountains of Pennslvania, the natural habitat of wild aniamls, are now nearly denuded of their timber and prove a very inhospitable abode for the deer, which, in search of food, are no doubt tempted to make frequ ent incursions into the valleys. When on Mr. Carr's farm, Friday, the deer was seen feasting royally on apples, which had not been gathered but lay under the trees. In the corn field, too, where much corn remains to be husk-ed, the deer have good picking. The deer—a "spike" buck—seen on Friday is undoubtedly the same one that was seen first in Pineswamp hol low just about the close of the season and again on December 18th on Mr. Carr's farm. The island where the deer took refuge, Friday, with its growth of tress and bushes affords a pretty safe retreat, but it is not supposed that the deer tarried there very long, it being altogether likely that after its fright incidental to the race with the passenger train, it swam to the western shore of the river and struck for the mountain.

For that Dandruff

There is one thing that will cure it-Aver's Hair Vigor. It is a regular scalp-medicine. It quickly destroys the germs which cause this disease. The unhealthy scalp becomes healthy. The dandruff disappears, had to disappear. A healthy scalp means a great deal to you-healthy hair, no dandruff, no pimples, no eruptions. The best kind of a testimonial—"Sold for over sixty years."
