TWO RESIDENTS OF NORTHERN END

Frederick A. Kleeman, a widely known and highly esteemed resident of Exchange, died Saturday morning at 2 o'clock. The deceased had been ailing since last fall, but had been in a serious condition for about a week prior to his death. He was aged 76 years, 2 months and 11 days.

Mr. Kleeman was a native of Germany and came to this county at the age of 21 years. He resided at Lairdsville, where he was engaged in the lumber business, until 6 years ago, when he moved to Anthony township.

The deceased was a widower, his wife having preceded him to the grave 26 years ago. He is survived by the following sons and daughters: Emma and F A., of Exchange; Mrs. Lloyd Rider and Charles, of Derry township; Mrs. Nora Kirkner, of Anthony township, Albert and Elmer, of Michigan.

Mrs. Chris Springer, of Dauville, r. f. d. No. 1, residing a short distance this side of Washingtonville, died Saturday morning after a long and painful illness of dropsy. Mrs. Springer was a widely known woman and a member of the Washingtonville M. E. church.

The deceased was aged 50 years and is survived by her husband and six children: Fred, Jacob, Christopher, school director, (3 years), L. C. Dietz; school director (1 year), Albert Lloyd; Mrs. Lizzie St. Clair, Mrs. Charles Murray, and Edna.

PENNSY'S VICTORY IS A BARREN ONE

The Pennsylvania railroad's victory in the State supreme court in its attack on the two-cent fare law is likely to prove a barren one, so far as any appreciable increase in its passenger revenues is concerned. The fact that the act was not declared unconstitutional and the concensus of opinion among legal lights being that the de-among legal lights being that the decision applies only to the Pennsylvania, leaves the other roads in the State practically in the same position, so far as the rate question is concerned, as they were before the decision was handed down.

These roads, pending some further action and review by the supreme court, are not likely from present indication to make any change in their present passenger fares, which are based on the two cent rate. It will therefore be unlikely that the Pennsylvania will go back to the rates, in effect before the law became operative on October 1, except, possibly, to non competitive points. To do so would mean even heavier inroads on its passenger receipts than any that would be likely to be made under the operations of the law. It may be that the company may be content to rest upon its supreme court victory without any attempt to gather any of the fruits of that victory by raising the present rates.
