

THE UNIFORM PRIMARY LAW

HARRISBURG, April 15. Considerable dissatisfaction with the return provisions of the uniform primary law is heard in Dauphin county, and it is possible that some steps to amend it, so that early reports can be had, will be made by some of the representatives. Reports from Cumberland, Perry and Lebanon counties are to the same effect, and the difficulties which the clerks in the office of the secretary of the Commonwealth encountered when petitions were filed bid fair to be repeated when the counties make their returns. Under the law every county must send returns of the vote for candidates for congress, national delegate, legislature and state officers to the capitol, where returns will be computed by districts and the aggregate results certified. As there are many hundreds of nominations there will be more or less confusion on Capitol Hill again, and this feature may also be amended. What is most objected to in this county is the absence of any provision requiring public returns. The law stipulates that the election officers must make sealed returns to the county commissioners not later than the Tuesday following the primary. There is nothing requiring the posting of returns or the filing of a duplicate sheet for public information, such as is done in the general elections. The result is that no one can get at the returns in the sealed envelopes until Wednesday noon, when the official count is commenced. A number of candidates are in the dark as to their vote, and there is much comment heard.

NOTICE

For Convention of School Directors to Elect County Superintendent.

To the School Directors of Montour county: Gentlemen:—In pursuance of the forty-third section of the act of May 3, 1854, you are hereby notified to meet in convention at the court house, in Danville at 2 o'clock on the first Tuesday, in May, A. D. 1908, being the Fifth day of the month, and select, viva voce, by a majority of the whole number of directors present, one person of literary and scientific acquirements, and of skill and experience in the art of teaching, as county superintendent, for the three succeeding years; and certify the result to the State Superintendent, at Harrisburg, as required by the thirty-ninth and fortieth sections of said act.

CHAS. W. DERR, County Superintendent of Montour county. March 31, 1908.

Shaving a Delight.

with a SUPERIOR SAFETY razor. The newest, the best, shaves close and pleasantly, with no scraping. A user, in writing of this razor, says: "I have never shaved myself in comfort with either of my old-style razors, so thought I would try the Superior. I can honestly say that I never enjoyed a more comfortable shave in my life, no dragging or pulling and through with in a minute."

If you have a Superior there is no more "next, please," no more waiting and a wonderful saving of your old half dollars. Set complete includes silver nickel plated frame, holder and stropping handle and twelve selected blades in an attractive, silk-lined case. This is less than the value of the razor alone. You will not regret taking advantage of this offer.

THE DATE OF ADJOURNMENT

WASHINGTON, April 15. Representative Watson, of Indiana announced today, after a conference with the president that congress would adjourn about May 15. Mr. Watson had a long talk with the president upon the subject last night, and May 9 was agreed upon as the date for adjournment.

Later the president sent for Mr. Watson and informed him that, as he had invited the convention of governors to attend the "natural resources conference" in Washington on May 13, with the understanding that congress would be in session at that time, he would prefer that the executive body remain until after they had reached the capital.

Making Good.

There is no way of making lasting friends like "Making Good," and Doctor Pierce's medicines will accomplish this, and their friends, after more than two decades of popularity, are numbered by the hundreds of thousands. They have "made good" and they have not made drunkards. A good, honest, square-deal medicine of known composition is Dr. Pierce's Golden Medical Discovery. It will enjoy an immense sale, while most of the preparations that have come into prominence in the earlier period of its popularity have "gone by the board" and are never more heard of. There must be some reason for this long-time popularity and that is to be found in its superior merits. When one gives a fair trial for weak stomach, or for liver and blood affections, its superior curative qualities are soon manifest; hence it has survived and grown in popularity. Easy to take and never more heard of. It won't satisfy those who want "booze," for there is not a drop of alcohol in it. Dr. Pierce's Pleasant Pellets, the original Little Liver Pills, although the first pill of their kind in the market, still lead, and when one tried are ever afterwards in favor. Easy to take as candy—one to three a dose. Much irritated but never equalled.

POULTRY NOTES BY C. M. BARNITZ RIVERSIDE PA. CORRESPONDENCE SOLICITED

HENHOUSE CONSTRUCTION.

When you are building that henry remember what Uncle Pete says. "If youse k'rect, git thar." You should know how to build to make your flock comfortable, keep them healthy, make them lay and pay. The house should be substantial, presentable and not a financial embarrassment. Have you the know-how? Better not quit kindergarten too soon. Better learn to swim doggy in the creek before you try to do broad stroke stunts in the river. You must use your think machine, but before you turn on the wheels you must not forget that you can't manufacture practical ideas unless you have practical raw material stored back to work into the finished product. This is derived from practical experience and is worked up into burnished brain. Burnished brain is not just mere brain any more than a good poultry house is an ordinary brain storm. You must build to suit your climate, to suit the lay of the land, to fit your flock, to secure the best sanitary conditions and reap all the natural advantages possible. Study that sentence. In a warm climate a cool house is necessary. The California "mushroom house" is excellent—simply a hip roof house set on thirty inch legs, open around the base, sides covered with oiled sacking or board; in a temperate region simply a well ventilated house; north, stock must be protected from cold. This means larger buildings, as there is not free range in winter. The usual winter house is the long scratching shed with open front and closed roost or windows, as preferred. Decide on a place for the foundation and get run of ground before you perfect plan. May not fit. Say ground slopes from west to east and building is to be 170 by 12, composed of a two story building, 20 by 20, for engine, mills, well, grain, etc., and two seventy-five foot wings. When you've laid stone ninety-five feet you find, if continued in straight line, the foundation will be fifteen feet high at the end. "Sold!" Not much. Just let ninety-five feet of stone stand and run the other wing south from lower corner. You thus have a right angle with administration building on corner. A hip roof, cupola and dagstaff on the corner make a right angle picture. East wing gets morning sun; south, the long sun exposure. Small openings on wing sides, and you have three yards, one a fine protected square for hens and fruit. A drop of two feet in foundation of wings gives each wing one room nine feet high in front, seven feet and the other, seven high in front and five in back, with shed roof level. Partition wings in center to avoid drafts; eight double sash, four ventilators to a wing, with floor of ground, cement or board, two feet above surface; dead air space in walls and everything tight, and you have a good house for 500 Leghorns or 350 Rocks. To be sanitary the water should run away from building and soil should quickly absorb moisture and droppings. Sandy gravel is best. Plant fruit for shade. With windows six to twelve inches from floor and ventilators well regulated, you have a well aired, dry, sunny house. The more birds the more care. Now, if your ground is watered by a silvery stream and is sufficiently large to produce the grain and you are not a kid glove pessimist, but put brain, brawn and horse sense back of the pushcart, you'll be in it.

DON'TS.

Don't set any kind of a hen simply because you are anxious for early chicks. Don't forget that feed gets higher as it grows scarcer. Better buy wheat for the summer. Don't write us about your chicks having indigestion if you give them no grit. That takes grit! Don't forget to sow sunflower seed this spring. They add to the appearance of your place and add to the ration. Don't brag when a hen lays a double yolk egg. It's a sign of overfat. The egg has one more yolk, but you may have one less hen from apoplexy. Don't put all the eggs into one basket. Sort them into sizes and see that your good cash customers get the big ones and a baker's dozen occasionally. Don't forget to place some straw in protected corners for your turkey nests. The old hen will be on the lookout for soft place and you'll keep her near home by the trick. Don't forget that sunflower seeds have much moisture and must be spread well to dry. The chickens and sparrows will save you the trouble if they have half a chance. Don't send your breeding eggs to the store if you have a surplus. Put them up in water glass for family use in winter. Keep no males among your market egg layers. Germless eggs keep longer, and the fellow who buys hatching eggs at the store to steal a march on you will get left. THE SIMPLE LIFE. The simple life I love to sing Because it's musical With bleating lambs and mooing cows And barnyard jing-a-ling. We wear a bright red sunbonnet And loosely fitting prints; We never dress for minutes Nor put on beauty tints. We have our cow and chickens, too, A hog, a mule, a team. We never could return to you In city heat to burn. We've done for ays with city strife. Give us our boys and chickens. We're badly stuck on simple life; For fun it beats the dickens. C. M. B.

THE WYANDOTTES.

This breed was at first commonly called "American Sebrights," which was changed to "Wyandotte" after the Indians of that name. Historians have failed to trace the time and circumstances of its origin, but all claim it to be an American bird with Dark Brahma and Hamburg blood in its veins. Today the man who originates a breed erects a marble statue to himself if no one else will. The varieties are Silver, Golden, Silver Penciled, Partridge, Columbian, Black, Buff and White. STANDARD WEIGHTS. Cock 8 1/2 lbs. Hen 6 1/2 lbs. Cockerel 7 1/2 lbs. Pullet 5 1/2 lbs. The White Dotte is the most popular and is a bird of beautiful curves. The original of this picture is a feathered aristocrat. How kingly! What vigor!

IDEAL HEAD FOR BREEDERS. [White Wyandotte from life.]

What a proud pedigreed prince! Then think of the big brown eggs from his harem and the duffy, bright eyed chicks, instructed in wormology and scratching stunts by his snow white cackling queen! Then smack your lips as you smell the savory odor of a baked Wyandotte! Round, yellow, velvety, smooth as silk, it is the unsurpassed epicurean bird. In dining on Dottes hold yourself in check at least till the blessing is asked. In breeding avoid single combs, or hybrids, by using broad combed males. For coarseness and cream in White Wyandottes use no-cream cure.

FEATHERS AND EGGSHELLS.

Cleanliness is the keynote to success in the poultry business, but some chicken raisers, like the man late home from lodge, can't find it. "Money makes the mare go," but it doesn't always make the hen lay. The millionaires going into the business don't always strike Standard oil.

If you knew it all, you would be drinking government cream on an experiment station, while your typewriter would be working overtime on chicken reports from the encyclopedia. Continual feeding of one kind of grain often brings indigestion, loss of appetite and bowel troubles. If this is your feeding method and you are making a profit you deserve a monument.

The farmers are buying bone cutters, and the butchers have such a rush for bones that they are always engaged. Once more the American hen registers by knocking out Mr. Rags Bones and Gum Boes. If you reached the broiler stage? Don't jump from the frying pan into the fire. Raising cockerels in zero weather to sell at Alaska prices isn't what it's cracked up to be. Beware of a broiler explosion!

Now that the hatching season is here get out your signs of the zodiac so you get your hen set in the right sign. Better look for signs of lice and set your hens right and give them better attention. You'll get more chicks. It has often been asked why the New York poultrymen keep mostly White Leghorns. Simply because the New York epicures demand large white eggs. Bostonians possess a predilection for brown eggs. Why? Oh, Browning, of course! As the chicks dry off under the hen remove them in a soft lined basket to a chair beside the kitchen stove. Have a soft woolen cloth hanging down in the basket to warm their backs, but arrange so they cannot get on top of the cloth, as they may smother each other. By this plan the old hen cannot trample them in the nest. When spring is in full bloom you may expect to hear that the American hen has invaded Panama. We are told that the chickens on the Isthmus are a sorry set. When a newly wedded couple, bound for the big ditch, found eggs were 10 cents apiece they simply sent an order north for their incubator and 100 Rock eggs. Good luck!

The number of poultry books advertised is a sign of the interest manifest in the business. You can get a full fledged library for $2.50. They will help you, but don't forget what experience teaches you. It doesn't deal in theory.

Wessing the Fickle God. "I have been troubled with insomnia all my life," remarked the nervous man, "and, like most people similarly afflicted, I have tried all the familiar dodges to induce sleep. The results were never particularly satisfactory in the way of producing the desired effect until one night I thought I had actually found a sleep inducer when I chanced to grasp one of the rods at the head of my bed with both hands and practically hung the weight of my body on it. That sent me to sleep, and it did the same thing for a few times, when, to my extreme disappointment, I found it had ceased to work. I was as badly off as ever recently until one night, when I had a bad cough, as well as an attack of sleeplessness, I tried the well known remedy of trying to send myself off into the land of Nod by taking long, deep breaths. What it did to me and has done several times since was not to only send me to sleep, but to stop my cough completely before I lost consciousness. Just why it did so is not of much consequence. That it did so is the thing that concerns me most." New York Press.

BETTER PAY FOR R. F. D. MAIL

Congressman John M. Reynolds, of the Nineteenth Pennsylvania district, has introduced in the House a bill increasing the salaries of rural mail carriers to $1,200 per year as the maximum. "The rural carriers are not given enough money for the work they perform," said Mr. Reynolds, in discussing the merits of the bill. "They are compelled to work at all seasons of the year, in summer, in winter, in rain, snow and under all conditions. The government takes no excuse from them. In addition to this they are compelled to furnish their own horse and wagon and keep both in proper repair. The amount allowed them by the government, therefore hardly enables them to make both ends meet. "I think $1,200 a year is little enough when one takes into consideration the duties performed by these servants of Uncle Sam. I am going to do everything in my power to have my bill favorably acted upon by this Congress."

COURT REVERSES JUDGMENT

Continued from 1st Page. judgment ought to be adopted by the company for the protection of the public at street crossings. The power for which it contends would be practically unlimited. That the appellee is attempting to substitute municipal control for that of the railroad company itself at a particular point by declaring just how the duty of the company must be performed is too plain for discussion.

"Among the express powers conferred upon boroughs by the act of 1851 the one sought to be exercised here does not appear. By the first clause of the second section of that act borough authorities are empowered generally to make such laws, ordinances, bylaws and regulations, not inconsistent with the laws of this Commonwealth, as they shall deem necessary for the good order and government of the borough. In the succeeding twenty-five clauses of the same section are found the powers expressly conferred, but the power to pass this ordinance is not one of them. It is clear that the good order and government of a borough referred to in the first clause are not involved in the ordinance. The good order of a borough can be preserved and it can be properly governed, no matter how many railroads cross its streets, by legislative permission and no matter how fast cars may run over them. We assume this is the clause designated by the superior court, as the 'general welfare clause'—'broad enough,' in the opinion of that court, to cover the municipal legislation complained of." For the reason just given we can not concur in this.

In the Crafton borough case 17 D. S. Report 204, the borough council had in November, 1906, enacted an ordinance regulating the speed of locomotives and railroad trains within the limits of the borough of Crafton, the ordinance forbidding the running of locomotives or railroad trains over any crossing in the borough at a greater speed than four miles an hour and providing a penalty for so doing.

Upon bill in equity for injunction by the Pittsburgh C. C. and St. L. Ry. Co., the defendant borough was restrained from enforcing or attempting to enforce the ordinance, deciding that no authority is lodged in a borough under the act of April 3, 1851, to regulate by ordinance the speed by which the locomotives and trains of a railroad company shall approach the grade crossings in the borough.

Borough authorities being unable to enact a valid ordinance regulating the speed at which the locomotives trains of a railroad company shall approach grade crossings in a borough it follows that they cannot enact a valid ordinance regulating the speed of railroad trains through any portion of borough.

The seventh, eighth and ninth specifications of error are sustained and judgment reversed. By the Court, CHARLES C. EVANS.
