STARTLING FACTS ABOUT WASTE

Through the government bulletins and newspaper discussion and presentation we have scattered statistics of the manner in which the resources of this great republic are being used, mainly wasted, and what want and destitution will come for future generations if we continue in the manner in which we are going, without conservation and preparation for the future.

The conference of the governors with President Roosevelt, which was held at Wshsington last week, has, more than any one thing, brought forcibly and startingly before our people what we have done already in denuding the country of its natural resources, what we are allowing to go to waste and how we may reclaim, enrich and make the future more glowing than the past.

Among the matters brought out at the conference we may note briefly that we utilize but 5 per cent. of the coal we mine, some 455,000,000 tons a year, and under present methods our age, soft coal will last a century and our anthracite coal will last but fifty years.

As to timber that now standing is parents, thinking that his singular estimated at two thousand billion feet. The present annual consumption is one hundred billion feet while the annual growth is from thirty to forty billion feet. At the present rate of consumption our supplies of timber will not last more than thirty-three years. At present in the west there are 164,936,-55 acres of national forest lands, a ed, but cuts it herself with scissors beginning in the reclamation and protection of forests.

As to water waste-The annual flood damage in the United States exceeds $100,000,000. Through cutting down $100,000,000. Through cutting down the forests and exposing the soil to the rain a billion tons of earth 90 per cent soil, is washed annually into our streams.
In our water supplies, 1,600,000 of horse power runs idly each year over cover unsent dams only a small fract.

government dams, only a small fraction of the actual waste the country over. Capitalized at 3 per cent., this known government waste represents an investment of more than $1,000,000. The swamp lands that need reclaiming amount to more than 50,000,000 acres, the reclamation of which would increase the land value more than $5,-000,000, the annual crop value $1,500,-000, and if sub-divided into forty-acre farms would supply 2,500,000 families with homes and put 12,000,000 people on lands now practically worthless. The arid regions of the United States cover 600,000,000 acres of which 60,000,000 acres are subject to irrigation. By completing twenty-five eng-ineering works now under way, the reclamation service will reclaim 3,-198,000 acres, which area will increase dealers. ing their waters. He will commence suits against the oities of Norristown and West Chester in particular, and also against many smaller boroughs. The commissioner was informed yes-terday of the decision of the supreme court affirming the judgment of the superior court in declaring the State health laws forbidding the pollution of rivers constitutional. The case in point was that of Edward Emmers, a hosiery manufacturer, of Royersford, who was held for polluting the Schuyl-kill river, after having been ordered not to do so by the commissioner. "This is the best news," said Dr. Dixon, 'I have heard for months. I have been waiting for the action of the supreme court before trying to en-force the State health laws in other instances. Now, after having taken this case from the court and finally to the supreme court, the defendants have failed, and we can go ahead." Doctor Dixon was asked whether he intended to take action against the municipalities themselves or against manufacturers operating in them, who have violated the laws. "We are going for the municipalit-ies themselves," he said. "How Jersey Shore Got a Monument.
