DEADLY OPIUM CHINA'S ENEMY

There is a mighty drama, with the whole world as a stage, in China's struggle, against civilized commercial greed, to rid herself of the curse of opium.

But Great Britain has broken faith in the matter, as she has done many times before. The Indian government, which receives a revenue of more than $10,000,000 a year from the opium traffic is not willing to relinquish that advantage, and opium in enormous quantities is still being shipped into China in defiance of all protests.

Again China has appealed to the Christian nations to keep off their greedy hands and allow her to be saved. Secretary Root has heeded the plea. He has taken the matter up with the governments of Great Britain, Germany, France, Japan and the Netherlands, and an international commission is to look into the outrage.

UNCONSCIOUS FOR THREE DAYS

Frank Baker, who Friday morning sustained a fracture of the skull, up to Sunday evening had not regained consciousness. How he happened to meet with his terrible injury is at present involved in mystery.

The injured man at an early hour Friday morning was found lying in a street in front of the dwelling occupied by the Densberger family. His skull was fractured at the base of the brain and his head was otherwise injured.

Dr. G. A. Stock, who has the case in hand, yesterday saw slight evidences of improvement in the man's condition. The injury is of a sort that admits of very little hope of recovery.

Calls Parents to Their Duty.

The duty which parents owe to their children and to the state is pointed out by the Mahanoy City Daily Record in these words: "Fathers and mothers, do you know where your boy and girls are these evenings? Great stress is laid upon the whereabouts and company of the girls but in our capacity as a newspaper man within the past few days we have been painfully convinced of the fact that there are growing up about us gangs of boys from 12 to 16 years of age and older who are fast earning the reformatory, jail or the gallows for themselves.

Women Who Wear Well.

It is astonishing how great a change a few years of married life often make in the appearance and disposition of many women. The freshness, the charm, the brilliancy vanish like the bloom from a peach which is rudely handled. The matron is only a dim shadow, a faint echo of the charming maiden. There are two reasons for this change, ignorance and neglect. Few young women appreciate the shock to the system through the change which comes with marriage and motherhood. Many neglect to deal with the unpleasant pelvic drains and weaknesses which too often come with marriage and motherhood, not understanding that this secret drain is robbing the cheek of its freshness and the form of its fairness.

HANDSOME PORCH AND GARAGE

Architect J. H. Brugler has completed the plans for two important improvements in Danville.

One of these is a porch, massive and ornamental in design to be built by W. G. Parsel at his fine residence on West Market street and the other a handsome garage or barn to be erected by Thomas J. Price. Work will begin on both buildings at once.

The porch at Mr. Parsel's stately dwelling will be a very spacious affair and architecturally in keeping with the general plan of the buildings. It will take in the entire front of the house, along with the east side and a portion of the west side. The base of the porch to the height of four feet will be built of Susquehanna blue-stone laid up range work with stone caps and coping. The roof will be supported by twelve inch fluted columns with carved capitals. The porch will be fourteen feet wide.

George Reifsnnyder has been awarded the contract for the wood work and T. L. Evans' Sons, the contract for the stone work.

Mr. Price's garage will be a very roomy and stylish building erected at the rear of the lot next to the alley. It will be modern in all of its appointments and will contain room for three automobiles and two horses. There will be harness room and closet in addition to a large second floor.

The garage will be built of frame with sides weather boarded and shingled. The contract for Mr. Price's building has not as yet been awarded.

Of Interest to P. O. S. of A.

An event of special interest to the more than 90,000 members of the Patriotic Order Sons of America will take place in the borough of Pine Grove, Schuylkill county, on Saturday, June 6, when a monument to the memory of the late F. E. Stees, a past State president of the order, will be unveiled in the presence of thousands of the order. Commenting on the propriety of this the Pottsville Evening Chronicle says: "Mr. Stees was one of the most enthusiastic and active members of the order; indeed, did very much to popularize it and bring it to its present high standing. For years he was active in the higher councils of the order, and his faithfulness and energetic work gained for him the title of 'grand old man of the order,' and he, indeed, deserved it. The camps do well to honor the memory of F. E. Stees."

VISIT TO BRAK BEAM PLANT

The Pennsylvania Brake Beam company is now operating its new plant at this place in all departments and is running steadily. The rolling mill has been in operation all week and is running very satisfactorily.

It is true that the mill was started up on April 23rd, but there were many hitches and delays due to the fact that the machinery in the plant, owing to its long disuse, was corroded and generally defective. During the month past the machinery has received a general overhauling and readjustment, so that now the mill to all intents and purposes may be said to be as good as new.

A number of our townsmen Friday afternoon visited the plant for the purpose of viewing the process of manufacturing brake beams. There are some twenty-five men employed, all apparently skilled in their work. The big engine and the rolls worked very nicely indeed, while the system employed in the manufacture would seem to be well nigh perfect.

Danville enjoys the distinction of possessing the only brake beam plant in the country that produces the finished product from the raw material. The other plants that manufacture brake beams all purchase and assemble the parts, just as the Pennsylvania brake beam company did before it came to Danville.

By installing a rolling department of its own the Danville concern has secured a big advantage. Its capacity while at Easton, before coming to Danville, was four hundred brake beams a day. With its rolling mill in operation it can turn out 2000 completed brake beams per day—a number equivalent to five car loads or sufficient to equip 500 cars. It was as late as December 2nd, when the Pennsylvania brake beam company came to Danville. When we reflect that a matter of six months only has elapsed since the company came upon the ground here, we must admit that the results achieved are highly gratifying.

By a wise arrangement all the raw material can be unloaded in the rolling mill proper, there being room for four cars under roof. Next week a brand new hoisting engine of twelve horse power will be installed at the western end of the mill for the purpose of unloading and breaking up the raw material into suitable sizes for charging in the furnace.

After the raw material is charged in the furnace at the rear end it is drawn out at the front. The long bars then enter a three-high 24-inch train of rolls, through five passes. From the rolls the red hot bars are carried on live rollers for a distance of fifty feet, where they are cut by high speed saws to the proper length, after which they are carried on live rollers and automatically loaded on a car and delivered to the brakebeam department, where the beams are ground off, finished sections straightened, punched, heads and flanges fitted and riveted, making a complete brake beam. After that nothing remains but to paint the brake beam and place it on the car for shipment.

TWO CONTRACTS WERE AWARDED

Mosier and Summers will build the new piggery and A. C. Everhart, of Berwick, the four new dwellings at the hospital for the insane.

The two contracts were awarded at a regular meeting of the hospital trustees held at the institution Thursday, when the following members of the board were present: W. F. Shay, S. D. Townsend, G. R. VanAlen, Dr. L. I. Shoemaker, Dr. B. H. Detwiler, Hon. James Foster, R. J. Pegg and I. X. Grier.

The contract for the erection of the building for raising hogs was awarded to Mosier and Summers at $5700. This firm was the lowest bidder. It is already on the ground as contractor for the female infirmary and two other buildings.

GRAND JURY IS DISCHARGED

The grand jury presented its report just before the hour of noon yesterday and was discharged from further attendance at court. Following is the report:

To the Honorable the Judges of the Court of Quarter Sessions of Montour County, State of Pennsylvania. The grand jury having performed its duty as promptly as circumstances permitted desires to submit the following report:

After acting upon the bills presented we duly inspected the court house, prison and county bridge.

RECOMMENDATION

We find the court house in excellent condition with the exception of the ceiling in the court room, which we recommend be frescoed. The side walls in the main corridor first floor, near front entrance, need painting.

At the county prison we find everything in good condition. We recommend that four mattresses be purchased for emergency use; also the oiling of the woodwork in the hall.

New iron spouting is needed at the rear of prison to replace broken spouting. The foundation walls also need pointing.

We would respectfully call attention to the condition of Joseph Gulick, an inmate of the county prison, who is suffering from tuberculosis and would recommend that he be removed from his present surroundings and given proper and special medical treatment.

We have also examined the county bridge and find it in apparently good condition. CHARLES D. LERCH, Foreman. May 26, 1908.

The Cause of Many Sudden Deaths.

There is a disease prevailing in this country most dangerous because so deceptive. Many sudden deaths are caused by it—heart disease, pneumonia, heart failure or apoplexy are often the result of kidney disease. If kidney trouble is allowed to advance the kidney-poisoned blood will attack the vital organs or the kidneys themselves break down and waste away cell by cell.

Bladder troubles most always result from a derangement of the kidneys and a cure is obtained quickest by a proper treatment of the kidneys. If you are feeling badly you can make no mistake by taking Dr. Kilmer's Swamp-Root, the great kidney, liver and bladder remedy.

It corrects inability to hold urine and scalding pain in passing it, and overcomes that unpleasant necessity of being compelled to go often during the day, and to get up many times during the night. The mild and extraordinary effect of Swamp-Root is soon realized. It stands the highest for its wonderful cures of the most distressing cases.

Swamp-Root is pleasant to take and sold by all druggists in fifty-cent and one-dollar sized bottles. You may have a sample bottle of this wonderful new discovery and a book that tells all about it, both Home of Swamp-Root, sent free by mail. Address Dr. Kilmer & Co., Binghamton, N. Y. When writing mention reading this generous offer in this paper.

SHIPMENTS MUST BE PLAINLY MARKED

All the railroads east of the Mississippi River operating in the territory covered by the "Official Classification" will this week send out notices to their agents that on and after July 1st, 1908, they will refuse to receive for transportation all shipments in less than carload lots which are not plainly marked with the name of the consignee, and the station, city and state of destination.

For many years past it has been customary for large number of shippers to mark their packages with an initial or some hieroglyphic, the key to which would be on the bill of lading. It was the theory that this saved time, and also prevented competitors from observing the names of a shipper's customer on the outside of the packages.

Great abuses have resulted from this practice. When a large number of packages are intended for the same consignee, shippers often only mark one or two, the others having no marks at all. If the shipments become mixed with others at transfer points, there is no way of identifying them. The consequence has been great delay, vexation on the part of both shippers and consignees and claims against the railroad.

The Pennsylvania Railroad Company, on its lines east of Pittsburgh, last year paid out $242,520 for claims for goods "Lost in Transit," an increase of 34 per cent. over 1906. Of this amount $178,260 was traced to the fact that shippers had marked their goods improperly. Likewise, during 1907, the Pennsylvania railroad sent its Unclaimed Freight Station at Downingtown, 18,000 packages on which there were no marks to enable the Company to forward the freight to proper consignee and destination.

Some 416 railroads will participate in the enforcement of the new rule. The companies are to give strict instructions to their agents, placards will be posted conspicuously in all stations and every effort will be made to impress shippers with the importance of heeding the new rule. In fact, the campaign of education which is planned by the railroads along this line is almost unprecedented in its thoroughness. It is the belief of the carriers that the enforcement of the new rule will be of great value to the public in the removal of such a prolific source of delays and losses.

Early on Monday morning fire broke out in the home of Andrew McNeely, a truck gardener residing in a suburb of Pittsburg, and while making a desperate effort to save the picture of his wife, who had died but recently, he was fearfully burned and barely escaped a horrible death.

The nails of a miner's boots, striking fire on a rock as he walked, ignited the gas in Otto colliery, near Pottsville, on Monday, and seven miners were painfully burned.
