RIGHTS OF PERSONS AT R. R. CROSSING

The supreme court has affirmed the Hanlon case, which went up from Luzerne county, and thereby rendered an important opinion in regard to the liability of a railroad company for an stores on Saturday, when the banks, accident at a crossing.

The rule is that before making a crossing a person must stop, look and The supreme court went that one better and laid down the rule that even if it is shown affirmatively that a person did not stop, look and listen before making the crossing and was struck by a train that if the unobstructed view of the track was such that a train could be seen approaching the presumption would be that the person had not stopped, looked and listened.

In the Hanlon case Mrs. Hanlon was struck by a train on the Lehigh Valley railroad at Avoca. As she was crossing the track she tripped against a plank which stuck up out of place and a bundle she had in her hand dropped and she waited to pick it up. Before she got out of the way a train struck her and her elbow and left knee were fractured. She recovered a verdict of twenty-seven hundred dollars. The opinion sustaining the verdict was written by Mr. Justice Fell. M. H. McAniff was her lawyer. The case was tried before Judge Lynch.

HOLLAND MUSTARD.

One Way to Make It. Hollanders use enormous quantities mustard and thrive on the condiment. There is a small spot in Overyssel, I think it is near Goor, where the land slopes gently down to the river Ijsel and is a brown gray clay. This is fashioned into the cutest little jugs cording to a secret process handed down for many generations, is hermet-ically sealed therein. It will keep for years and is as delicious as the finest confection. It is butter, cheese and condiment to the Hollanders who can afford it. And there is no other place on earth where that mustard can be

You might ask, "Why do the Hollanders eat so much mustard?" The answer is: The Holland mustard is a most delightful stomach stimulant. "It makes the food slide down." It cures the worst cases of dyspepsia. It keeps the liver in fine shape. It is an anti-dote for the most deadly poison—corrosive sublimate. It is in large doses a non-nauseating emetic. It is the only counterirritant handed down to us by our grandmothers—the mustard plas-ter. The Dutch girls use it sparingly on their velvet cheeks to give a rosy complexion. When a person is down and nearly out a drink made of pure mustard and oil will fetch him around.

A mustard "stoop" is a certain cure for catarrh in the nasal cavity. Here is one Dutch method of pre-paring mustard for the table: Mix equal portions of black and white seeds and grind to a fine powder. Boil this in the best vinegar till thoroughly mixed. Grate some fresh horseradish, squeeze out the juice and add to the squeeze out the juice and add to the mustard. Then put in a little salt, a little sugar, a little turmeric, a little fenugreek and a little white honey. You will eat this on your bread, cake, ple, battercakes and waffles, your meats, fish, game and poultry.—New York Press.

Women as Well as Men Are Made Miserable by Kidney Trouble.

Kidney trouble preys upon the mind, discourages and lessens ambition; beauty, vigor and cheerfulness soon disappear when the kidneys are out of order or diseased.

Kidney trouble has become so prevalent that it is not uncommon for a child to be born afflicted with weak kidneys. If the child urinates too often, if the reaches an age when it should be able to control the passage, it is yet afflicted with bed-wetting, depend upon it, the cause of the difficulty is kidney trouble, and the first step should be towards the treatment of these important organs. This unpleasant trouble is due to a diseased condition of the kidneys and bladder and not to a habit as most people suppose.

THE APPLE CROP

Last year's apple ercp is becoming scarce, but the fruit which remains is enjoyed by the lovers of it. A medical writer declares that the apple is such a common fruit that very few persons become familiar with its medical properties. He says the best thing just before going to bed is to eat an apple. "Persons uninitated in the mysteries of the fruit," he continues, "are likely to throw up their hands in horror at the visions of dyspepsia which such a suggestion may summon up, but no harm can come even to a delicate system by the eating of a ripe and juicy apple before going to bed. The apple is excellent brainfood, because it has more phosphoric acid in easily digested shape than any other fruit. It excites the action of the liver, promotes sound and healthy sleep and thoroughly disinfects the mouth This is not all; the apple prevents indigestion and throat diseases.
