He wrote from Chicago to his bride of a day stating that he had just awaken ed from a trance and for the first time realized that he was away from home. He claims he did not remember getting on a train for the West. He said he would be back on the first train that would carry him out of Chicago.

JOINT MEETING

reason of the proposed state highway on the south side, which, beginning as it does at the river bridge naturally affects the bridge approach.

As is pretty well known the approach on the south side is unfinished or is at best temporary. The wing walls of the bridge constructed by the State do not extend as far as the same walls of the former bridge, which belonged to the county. The present walls fall some fourteen feet short of reaching to the township line, leaving a margin which has not yet been built up.

As stated above the bridge approach up to the present, has been only a patched up and temporary affair. The State highway department in reconstructing the road will insist upon making a permanent job of the approach, and will oblige the county and township to do their parts.

The object of the joint meeting of the commissioners of Montour and Northumberland counties tomorrow will be to take action on the building of the two sections of wingwalls, which will prove a pretty big job, as the bank at that point is some 18 feet high It is gratifying that the construction of the State highway will bring about the completion of the bridge approach, which has been the subject of much contention between the county, township and trolley company for four years past. Involved in the completion of the approach is the con-struction of a high retaining wall on the west side extending nearly all the way from the township line to the corner at D. H. & W. avenue. There is some curiosity to learn which-the STAND PIPE township, or the others above namedin the final adjustment will be saddled with the cost of the retaining wall.

ALEX. BEST RELEASED ON BAIL

Alex. Best, who was committed to the county prison in default of $200 bail, was released Tuesday after a usual the school board is kept pretty trifle over two weeks' imprisonment. Best was charged with assault and of two hundred dollars bail.

The defendant took care of the horses belonging to the farmers and also car ried out the benches after market, replacing them at the curb before the farmers drove in the following market day. He proved useful in so many ways and the farmers missed him so keenly that Tuesday morning a number of them got together to see what means could be devised for securing Alex's release.

The outcome of it was that four persons—Will T. Suter, Moses Bond, Levi Beyer and Elmer Wren-decided to be come surety for the man. The four farmers accordingly went on his bail bond. Later, Alex was brought down to the court home where he affixed his signature along with those of his sure-ties, after which he was free until the next term of court in October.
