PUT LIFE IN10 DEAD BOY'S BODY

WASHINGTON, Aug. 19

News of one of the most remarkable operations ever performed in this city or possibly in the United States, which took place at Emergency hospital, when one of the surgeons of that institution succeeded by massage in bringing back to life a a twelve-yearold colored boy of Hyattsville, Md., who, it was thought, had died suddenly while undergoing an operation, has just been made public.

BODY COLD AND RIGID.

The boy was under the influence of chloroform and the surgeon was oper-ating on an infected knee when respiration suddenly ceased. The pulse died and finally stopped, the body became cold, the limbs rigid. Artificial respiration was resorted to, but there was no responding to pulsation of the ing which the physician resorted to every possible method to revive the patient, the doctor realized that there was only one chance to save the boy's about to give up all hope, the boy took a faint voluntary breath, and for several minutes the heart pulsated gent-ly. Plying the heart with his fingers to stimulate circulation of the blood, the physician, after eighteen minutes had the heart pulsating normally and knew that he had succeeded in his almost miraculous operation.

LIVED DAY AND A HALF.

For a day and a half following the operation the boy remained in excellent condition and every hope was held out for his recovery. But the infection of the knee had spread to the left side and affected the glands of the neck. Blood poisoning set in and despite all efforts to save him the boy succumbed.

Within a few months several eminent physicians of this city will conduct vivisection tests to determine how far the heart massage can be car-Dogs will be placed under anaesthetics and allowed to succumb, it is said, so that physicians may determine after how long an interval an animal apparently dead may be restored by heart massage.

NEARLY AN HOUR UNCONSCIOUS

Charles E. Ware met with a bad fall yesterday afternoon while picking peaches in the yard at the rear of his residence, No 121 Bloom street. He sustained injuries which for awhile seemed to threaten serious results.

The accident occurred about 3:45 o'clock. Mr. Ware was standing on a ladder supported by the limb of a peach tree. Without any warning the ladder, which was a rather frail af-fair, broke near the center, causing the man to fall to the ground. In the descent he seemed to strike the ground headfirst and was rendered uncon-

Dr. Shultz was called. He arrived promptly and applied the usual remedies. The injuried man however at first utterly failed to respond to the treatment and seemed seriously hurt. He was carried in to the house, where aftphysician succeeded in restoring him to consciousness.

Last evening the injured man was able to be about as usual. His apparently serious condition following the fall was due to the shock and the Children Like & stunning effect of the impact when he struck the ground with his head.

CONSTITUTIONAL AMENDMENTS

As some of the newspapers of the state have been misled by the official advertisement of the proposed amendments to the Constitution, which are now appearing each week in the Morning News and The Montour American, into the assumption that they are to be voted upon next fall, it appears necessary to explain their status and the purpose of the present publica-tion. The resolution proposing these amendments was passed by the last Legislature. They will be again considered by the Legislature to be elected this fall, and, if then adopted, will be submitted to the people for approval or rejection. They are published in order that the people may understand in voting for members of the Legisla ture that such amendments are pend ing, and may, if they choose, discuss the subject with the candidates and give them proper instructions.

A Perilous Ride.

Abraham Wanner, cf Schuylkill Haven, Schuylkill county, on Sunday fell between two cars of a moving train, at Cressona. But he grasped the revolving axle of one of the cars and by his feet held on to the truck of the car. He hung on this way for a half mile when the train stopped and he got out of his perilous position escaping with a broken wrist and severe cuts and bruises.

Browning In the Kitchen.

Browning in the Kitchen.
This really happened at a meeting of clubwomen at Topeka, Kan.: This club had a new member who was said to be so literary that she knew under just what head to find anything in the just what head to find anything in the encyclopedia, but she had so far never been on the club programme. Recently a member who was to have had a paper on Browning was absent, and the chairman got up and said, "As Mrs. Blank is absent, I will ask our new member to talk on the subject." There was a flutter. Now the was only one chance to save the boy's our new member to talk on the sublife.

MASSAGED THE HEART.

With delicate skill the boy's body was opened for seven minutes while the doctor massaged the patient's heart with his fingers. Finally, when he was about to give up all hope, the boy took for pies and eakes I like a hot, brisk for pies and eakes I like a hot, brisk. for pies and cakes I like a hot, brisk fire and for beans a slow, steady one.'

Exaggrated.

The knack of looking at the bright side of things was never developed to such perfection as in the case of a man who, after a railway accident, telegraphed to his friend's wife:

"Your husband killed in railway accident; head, both arms and both legs."

But later this correction was re-"First report exaggerated. Your hus band killed; head and legs cut off, but only one arm."

No Use For a Pessimist

Freddie and his mother were having a thoroughly satisfactory romp when a visitor was announced. As one top-ic of conversation after another came up it developed that the caller was in an extraordinarily pessimistic frame of mind and expressed her disapproval in no measured terms of everything and everybody under discussion.

everybody under discussion.

This impartial "knocking" disturbed Freddie's amiable soul mightily, and he slowly drew nearer and nearer until he finally stood before the lady, with his small face puckered and the corners of his mouth drawa down.

She stopped in the midst of an "Oh, a dreading hore my dear" to say: dreadful bore, my dear!" to say:

"Why, Freddie, please do unscrew your face. I don't like to see little boys look like that." Freddie surveyed her for a moment and then said trenchantly, but with an obviously sincere wish for informa-"I guess you don't like most any. thing, do you?"-New York Times.

A Bed of Bayonets.

A most remarkable feat was recently performed before the rajah of Manipur by a Mussulman, one of a company of acrobats, who reclined at full length upon the points of seven bayonets fixed in the orthodox method in as many muskets. Four of the per-former's assistants lifted him up on to his bed of spikes, where he care-fully adjusted himself and distributed his weight so that the bayonet points did not pierce his flesh. The back of his head rested on one point, his shoulder blades on two others, his elbows on two more, while the hollows behind his knees engaged the remaining two. The acrobat declared after it was all over that he had felt as comfortable as if lying on a bed.
