

TO LOWER HARVEYS LAKE

In the case of the North Mountain Water supply company against E. R. and Rosa Troxell, Judge Fuller in Luzerne county has made an order directing the Troxells to open the gates of the dam at Harvey's lake and let out three million gallons of water a day, until such time as the present dry spell is over.

The water company supplies Nanticoke and Newport township. A large part of its supply comes from the lake and the water flows over the spillway of the dam down a creek. The water got so low that it doesn't flow over the dam.

The Troxells aver that if the dam wasn't there the water would have escaped to such an extent that it would be lower now than the natural outlet before the dam was erected.

Judge Fuller said the overwhelming need of the people must be considered so as to prevent a public calamity even at the risk of a technical infringement of private rights. The water company is directed to file a bond to protect the defendants from damages. The three million gallons a day will lower the lake an average of one-sixth of an inch.

IDLE MONEY.

The dollar that is carried in a man's pocket or hidden away in the bureau drawers or under the carpet is entirely useless and is doing nobody any good. Ordinarily speaking, the working man or the farmer who hoards his money at home, who does not deposit it in his home bank, where it can be used for the commercial benefit of his community, is just as much a miser to the extent of his savings as the Wall-street man with his countless millions.

With this difference, the Wall-street man has no fears for the future. With him it is not a question of bread and butter or providing a little competence against old age. With the working-man and the farmer the savings mean everything, and he can not be blamed, especially in times of general panic and commercial unrest, for withdrawing his savings from the bank and converting them into cash and taking them home until the wave of panic has passed. Therefore, it should be the duty of this great Government to not only create the dollar, but to regulate the banking interests of the country so as to surround each institution with every possible safeguard and insure the depositor absolutely against loss.

When we consider, first, that the United States Government alone has the power of creating money, and when we consider, second, that the great majority of this actual money belongs to the farmers, miners and mechanics,

How a Picture is Composed. In examining such a picture as Munkacsy's "Christ Before Pilate" or De-taille's "Saluting the Wounded" you are inclined to think that the painter saw the scene as a whole—that he arranged his models and straightway proceeded to delineate the scene on virgin canvas. But, alas for this theory, were you to take a knife and commence scripping that same canvas you would find a pathetic record of figures once alive and now forever blotted out—the soldiers or the Pharisee who once stood prominently here now stands obscurely there. This tree or house was yonder, and yonder figure's place was once filled by a post or a detail of landscapes.—Strand Magazine.
