State Money for High School. According to the appropriation table fixed by the State Department of Public Instruction, High Schools of the first class will receive $730 from the State; second class $540, and third class $360. Borough High Schools will receive somewhat more than half these amounts, according to the respective classes, schools of the first class getting $450; second class, $337.50; third class, $225. The maximum amount which may be appropriated to schools of the first class, either in township or boroughs, under the law, is $500; second class, $400; third class, $300. The last legislature appropriated $1,173,750 for township High Schools, and appropriated the same amount to borough High Schools. The Department of Public Instruction, however, finds that the appropriation is not sufficient to give each school the maximum sum allowed by law and the pro rata percentage has been fixed in each case. The several High Schools are now being classified, and distribution of the appropriations will be started as soon as the classifications are finished. It has been found by the High School inspectors that some of the schools are not entitled to position in the class claimed by them, and these differences are being straightened out. Schools of the first class, either borough or township, are those that have a bona fide four-year course above the Grammar grade; second class those with a three-year course, and third class those with a two-year course.

The miners of the anthracite coal region have completed arrangements for the observance of Mitchell Day to day. There will be no big celebrations, but the miners will all take a holiday and numerous small celebrations will take place.

PLANT AND NAME TREES

Arbor day Friday was observed in this city as never before in the town's history. The program was fully carried out and every feature was rendered in a manner that could not help but please.

The pupils as they jauntily tripped along two abreast, carrying and waving flags were probably seen to the best advantage on Mill street, where they marched along the trolley track. By actual count there were 1100 pupils in line.

The column was so arranged that the smallest pupils, taking in all the schools, came first. Pupils next in size followed, the marchers growing larger successively until the high school pupils were reached. When the small children turned the corner at the First National bank the rear end of the procession had not left the high school.

Music for the march was furnished by the Washington drum corps. Immediately at the head of the drum corps were Officers Mincemoyer and Voris, while following were members of the school board with Attendance Officer Young and members of the borough council with Secretary Patton, Street Commissioner Miller, Superintendent of Sewers P. J. Keefe and Harry Ellenbogen, borough treasurer.

Arriving at the park the entire assemblage gathered around an improvised platform on the monument site, where the program previously printed was rendered.

The several selections including 'America,' 'Hail, Arbor Day' and 'Arbor Days' Sweet Benediction,' were sung by the children with most inspiring effect. Mr. Bickel, principal of the high school, read State Superintendent Schaefer's letter and Ralph Kiser, Esq., followed with an address.

Mr. Kiser's address was brief, but it was most appropriate. It abounded in thoughts associated with tree planting and the lessons it conveyed were such as to make an impression even on the minds of the very youngest pupils.

In conclusion each of the schools formed a separate group and, employing a simple ceremony, proceeded to plant and name its tree.

The high school named its tree for Thomas Beaver.

The first ward school bestowed the name of Daniel Montgomery on its tree.

The second ward schools selected the name of William Penn for its tree. The third ward school chose the name of Amos Wickersham, who originally presented the ground occupied by the cemetery, now the park.

The fourth ward named its tree the Rogers Clark elm. It came from South Lakota and was presented by a descendant of the great explorer.

The school board planted a tree, which it named for Daniel Webster.

The borough council also planted a tree, which will be known as the Council Memorial tree of 1908.

PUDDLE MILL WILL RESUME

The puddle mill of Howe and Samuel, which has been idle for nine months, will start up on Monday, November 9th, with fair prospects of continuing in operation during the winter.

The puddle mill of Howe and Samuel is never operated on more than one turn, a circumstance which enables those employed to pile up pretty good wages. About eighty men find work at the mill. During the shut down these have found employment at other mills, some in Danville and others in neighboring towns.

The resumption at Howe and Samuel is most encouraging news and it is hoped may be taken as an indication that the revival of business is general.

ARMORY FRONT BEING PAINTED

The big building formerly the People's store, now the armory and Bloch & Benzbach's Paints factory is receiving a much needed coat of paint in front.

The plate glass windows, nearly all of which were badly broken, have been removed and the entire space artistically boarded up.

The entire front of the building, cornice, brickwork, window frames, door frames, &c., is being repainted.

The building was beginning to present a very ugly and dilapidated appearance and the coat of paint was just the thing needed.

Will Regulate Sales of Eggs.

Following out the suggestion given some time ago by Dairy and Food Commissioner Faust, it is understood that several members of the legislature are preparing bills designed to regulate the sale of cold storage eggs. One of the provisions will be that all eggs and poultry in storage more than ten days shall be denoted cold storage and so marked. Furthermore the selling of any egg products, made from half decomposed eggs and of undrawn poultry, will be prohibited as prejudicial to health.
