that some of the church doctrines do not appeal very strongly to men; nevertheless. The famous distribution of Jesus Christ has never had such a firm hold on men as at the present day.

Among the lower orders of creation.

Among the lower oders of creation In the last three months 127 families in Sharon have been provided with a law of the jungle—the survival of the fittest—is found and clothing by the sharon 1 3. It the gospel theory is gaining ground. Amother law of the jungle—the survival of the fittest—is found to prevail. But the gospel theory is gaining ground.

Another law, that of the brotherhood of man, has supervened. Te highest dype of man is not he who accumulates by striking down his fellow man, but he who renders the greatest service to his fellows. That this is a growing sentiment is amply demonstrated by the many associations among men that have been formed in recent years for mutual help and advancement.

It was formerly taught that the benefits of Christianity are not to be expected in this world, a teaching Mr. Berry does not approve of. He believes that the Kingdom of God is to be established on earth—that the benefits of a Christian life are to be obtained in this life. God has entered into a covenant with man that He will see to to that all his physical wants are supplied and He has faithfully kept his covenant.

Some accept the law of the brotherhood of man theoretically. Observation shows us that a few people get the families to indefinitely.

VACATION

The public school this year will enjoy a rather long Christmas vacation. At the last meeting of the board it was ordered that the schools close on Wednesday, December 23rd and reopen on Monday, January 4th following. Several reasons were adduced for closing the schools on Wednesday in steaders and pupils more time to prepare for the event. Some desire to spend their vacations in other towns, while others expect to entertain visitors. To be obliged to remain in the school room until the very eve of Christmas in many cases would necessarily interfere with the full enjoy.
