REGISTRAR'S MONTHLY REPORT

The local registrar's report to the bureau of vital statistics for February shows that the healthful conditions with low death rate which prevailed during last fall and midwinter still exist.

During February there occurred twenty deaths, four of which were at the hospital for the insane. In January there were twenty-one deaths; in December, seventeen. In February the births exceeded the number of deaths by ten, there being thirty-one reported.

During February communicable diseases were reported as follows: Pneumonia, one case; measles, four cases; scarlet fever, three cases; typhoid fever, two cases; chicken pox, five cases.

One of the typhoid fever patients is receiving treatment at the Joseph Ratti hospital, Bloomsburg. The single case of pneumonia reported resulted fatally.

The healthful conditions prevailing are somewhat unusual at this season, especially as relate to communicable diseases. The local registrar yesterday explained that the school authorities are undoubtedly entitled to a good deal of credit for preventing the spread of diphtheria, scarlet fever, &c., among the pupils. It is true that there are frequent outbreaks of these diseases in school, but owing to the practice of reporting each case promptly, fumigating the rooms thoroughly and excluding pupils of the infected family as required by the school law, one seldom hears of the disease spreading beyond the family in which the outbreak occurs.

Pneumonia, a dreaded disease and one prevalent at this season, is also much more successfully combated since it has come to be regarded as a communicable disease.

Grip, which assumes a couple of different forms, is quite prevalent just now and keeps the doctors more or less occupied.

DURING 1908. During 1908 there were 216 cases of communicable diseases with 13 deaths in this district. Of pneumonia there were 23 cases and 6 deaths; of diphtheria, 27 cases and 2 deaths; of tuberculosis 16 cases and 2 deaths; of typhoid fever, 38 cases and 1 death; of whooping cough, 17 cases and 1 death. There were 55 cases of scarlet fever, the disease existing in a mild form. There were also 13 cases of measles and 2 cases of erysipelas. No deaths occurred from the three last named diseases. There was one case of hydrophobia, which proved fatal.

SO DECEPTIVE

Many Danville People Fail to Realize the Seriousness.

Backache is so deceptive. It comes and goes—keeps you guessing.

Learn the cause—then cure it. Nine times out of ten it comes from the kidneys.

That's why Doan's Kidney Pills cure it. Cure every kidney ill from backache to diabetes.

We present the following case as proof. E. M. Campbell, 133 E. Walnut St., Milton, Pa., says: "I hold a very high opinion of Doan's Kidney Pills, as their use in my case proved them to be a most reliable remedy. Four years ago I was having considerable trouble from disordered kidneys. At times my back would become so painful that it would be difficult for me to stoop or straighten and any sudden movement would send sharp twinges through my loins and kidneys. Although I used a number of remedies, I didn't succeed in finding relief. When Doan's Kidney Pills were recommended to me, I started using them and they went at once to the seat of the trouble, relieving the pain in my back and driving every symptom of kidney complaint from my system. You are welcome to use my name as one who can endorse this reliable remedy in the highest terms."

M'HENRY APPEALS FOR BULLETINS

On Saturday Congressman McHenry made a vigorous speech before the house of representatives at Washington, in his attempt to have the appropriation for the publication of farmers' bulletins increased. He directed attention to the fact that the effectiveness of the agricultural department is handicapped by lack of means to carry out its purposes. He said that the agricultural industry is the greatest wealth producer and of the total appropriation made by congress less than one per cent. is applied to agriculture. Seventy per cent. of the appropriations are for war purposes, $10,000,000 go for Indians and to maintain schools for Indians, but we deny farmers free access to the agricultural bureau because of a lack of appropriations. The conservation of natural resources can be achieved in the development of agriculture. Promote the fertility of the soil and you decrease the cost of living and increase the prosperity of the workmen. Unless this is done we will be importing wheat inside of twenty-five years. Agriculture was the sole industry which saved the country from absolute ruin during the recent panic. Other industries fell into a state of lethargy but the farmer worked on and produced that which brought the necessary currency back into the channels of commerce. Our present foreign trade balances are due to agricultural products. The time is here when nations must apply more thought and means to production and less to destruction. If the nation is to get economic returns for the cost of maintaining the agricultural department the six millions of farmers of the country should have the information gleaned by the department. They pay for this, have a right to it and propose to see that they get it.

The readers of this paper will be pleased to learn that there is at least one dreaded disease that science has been able to cure in all its stages, and that is Catarrh. Hall's Catarrh Cure is the only positive cure now known to the medical fraternity. Catarrh being a constitutional disease, requires a constitutional treatment. Hall's Catarrh Cure is taken internally, acting directly upon the blood and mucous surfaces of the system, thereby destroying the foundation of the disease, and giving the patient strength by building up the constitution and assisting nature in doing its work. The proprietors have so much faith in its curative powers that they offer One Hundred Dollars for any case that it fails to cure. Send for list of testimonials.

THE METHODISTS AT HARRISBURG

The forty-first annual meeting of the Central Pennsylvania conference of the Methodist Episcopal church, will convene in the Fifth Street church in Harrisburg on March 24th. This will be the sixth time the conference has met in the capital city during the past forty years. The conference of 1876 convened on the 22nd day of March, in Grace church during the pastorate of Rev. E. A. Holmes, and was presided over by Bishop Wiley; the Rev. Dr. Monroe, now pastor of the New Cumberland church, was secretary. Ten years later, on the 11th day of March, 1886, the sessions were held in the Ridge Avenue church, Rev. B. C. Conner, pastor, and were presided over by Bishop Willard F. Mallalen, now of Abundant, Mass. The other conferences were as follows: Year 1884, Fifth Street church, Rev. G. K. Stevens, pastor; Bishop Hurst presiding. Year 1889, Ridge Avenue church, Rev. A. R. Lambert, pastor; Bishop Charles H. Fowler, presiding. Year 1904, Fifth Street church, Rev. B. H. Hart, pastor; Bishop Charles C. McCabe, presiding. Bishops Wiley, Hurst, Fowler and McCabe have since ceased their labors in the church militant and have gone to their reward. Bishop Mallalen alone survives.

The conference of 1909 will be held in the Fifth Street church, making the third time that the honor has been conferred on that church and twice during the pastorate of Rev. B. H. Hart. Bishop John W. Hamilton, D. D., of Boston, will preside. Bishop Hamilton is one of the most able men in the church and the magnificent results of his work in the Pacific coast demonstrate the fact that he is a tireless worker. He was elected to the bishopric by the general conference of 1900. This conference will take to Harrisburg more than three hundred preachers as well as scores of laymen, who are always very much in evidence, looking after the interests of their respective churches.

Meadow Brook Farm.

Most of the scenes in "Meadow Brook Farm," which appears at the Danville opera house on Friday evening, are laid in the region at the foot of the Cathedral hills in New Hampshire, that New England country where ruggedly honest men and women have worked out their simple destinies for generations. The play has an intensely interesting plot, told in that simple likeable way that leaves only pleasant memories as an aftermath to those who see it. Mr. Mann, the producer, has given the production a most complete scenic investiture, and has gathered together a cast, headed by J. J. Swartwood, that is said to be one of the highest priced aggregations on the road this season.

BOY'S FINGER PINCHED OFF

Michael Coleman, a boy employed at the Structural Tubing works, met with a painful accident while at work yesterday.

He was assisting at the punch where pipe to be used in the manufacture of agricultural implements was being finished for shipment. After the pipe had been punched and before the mandrill, or bar inserted inside to hold it in position, had been removed, Michael perched the index finger of his left hand to drop into one of the holes punched in the pipe; at the same moment it was caught by the revolving mandrill and cut squarely off.

Nearly overcome with pain and bleeding profusely the boy was hurried to the mill office, where "first aid" was rendered by experienced hands. Dr. Curry dressed the injury and made the injured boy as comfortable as possible, after which he was removed to his home in the rear of Spruce street.

Michael Coleman has been a very unfortunate boy. Last summer a year ago he fell from a cherry tree and fractured both his arms.

Runaway Horse Causes Excitement.

The horse belonging to S. J. Welliver's delivery wagon Saturday afternoon caused some excitement by dashing down Bloom street with the torn harness streaming around him, indicating that he had parted company with the wagon somewhere in the upper part of town.

The fact proved to be as follows: The driver was delivering cement. The wagon was heavily loaded, and in ascending the hill near the upper part of Centre street the strain on the harness was too heavy and it broke. The horse plunged forward out of the shafts, the remaining straps that held him fast instantly giving way.

Finding himself free the horse, considerably frightened by this time, dashed out to Bloom street and then to his stable. The driver was not injured.

Farewell Party.

A farewell party was held at the home of Mr. and Mrs. Jacob Gottschall, Mahoning township, in honor of the latter's brother, Herbert Blohn, who will leave for Iowa, where he has accepted a position. Dancing and other amusements were indulged in and refreshments were served. The following were present: Misses Lizzie Giesing, Florence Blecher, Grace Blue, Lizzie Wintersteen, Mary Jackson, Orgie Wintersteen, Margaret Stettler, Margaret Cooke, Florence Wilson, Bessie Wilson, Blanche Wilson, Viola Smith, Stella Churm, Mamie Hughes, Katherine Bowers, Laura Fry, Maud Fry, Grace Hartman, Eva Faust; Messrs. Truancy No Longer a Factor.

Attendance Officer Young, whose duties were strenuous enough a year or so ago, experiences little difficulty now in keeping the boys in school, thanks to the uniform support he has had from the school board in enforcing the compulsory attendance act. Truancy, he says, is scarcely a factor to reckon with any longer. The officer makes his rounds as usual but there are few absentees reported beyond those who are detained at home by sickness or the lack of clothing. Pupils inclined toward truancy have come to realize that in absenting themselves from school surreptitiously there is little hope of eluding the ever-vigilant attendance officer and the penalty entailed when caught more than counterbalances the short-lived and doubtful pleasure, not to say the discomforts experienced while skulking about the streets and alleys. It has become a habit with the boys to remain in school. Under the present school law the tricks and studied deception that enter into successful truancy promise to be relegated to the lost arts.

Genuine Heart Interest.

"Meadow-Brook Farm" a Down East pastoral play, to be seen at the opera house on Friday evening is a play full of genuine heart interest. Having to do with a type of people whose hearts are bursting with love, truth and honesty. It has an interesting plot and holds the audience spellbound through the four acts. It is acted by a company of performers especially engaged to create the individual characters for which they are cast, and the cast is headed by J. J. Swartwood. Adequate scenery investiture.

A PUDDLER'S INHERITANCE

To be raised suddenly and without the least hint from the humble circumstances of a wage earner to the lot of one removed beyond the necessity of labor was the happy experience of a puddler at the Danville Rolling mill on Thursday. The fortunate workman was Peter Radinger, who receives an inheritance of fifty thousand dollars.

Radinger was a puddler who came to Danville from Lebanon a couple of weeks ago. He was not able to secure steady work but "stood turns" at the Danville Rolling mill. He had worked only occasionally, while at Lebanon he had a family dependent upon him.

In order to save a little money to send home he obtained his food as cheaply as possible and slept in the rolling mill.

The man seemed like an industrious willing sort of a fellow and he was well-liked by the workmen at the mill. His lot was hard enough, but during the early part of the week his case was rendered still less enviable by the news that there was sickness in his family.

It was not with the lightest heart, therefore, that the poor fellow went to work at the big No. 6 puddle furnace, Thursday morning.

It was while tugging at the red hot iron that the news of his rare good fortune came to him. He paused in his arduous labor to accept a letter that was handed to him. He dashed the perspiration from his forehead and with a trembling hand tore the seal. Then, as he perused its contents, his face was a study.

Instead of conveying bad news in any form, the letter apprised him that he had been bequeathed fifty thousand dollars by a person whom he had rendered a service years before. Naturally after perusing the letter the man was raised to the highest pitch of elation and delight. Flinging aside his tools at the first opportunity he quit the mill and, on the first train, proceeded to his home.

Before the story of the puddler's good fortune became generally known the man had left for home. The story as far as possible yesterday was confirmed at the Danville Rolling mill where Radinger had shown the letter received to the other workmen and where the circumstances of the case were generally known. Unfortunately, however, full details could not be learned.

LEWISBURG TO SUNBURY TROLLEY

Another important link, which is stated to be a part of a general scheme to ribbon the West branch valley west to Look Haven with a trolley system, was taken last week when application was made for a trolley franchise between Shamokin Dam and Lewisburg, where the line will connect with the one now running between the latter place and Watontown.

PROMINENT MEN INTERESTED.

The new road is to be known as the Sunbury, Lewisburg & Milton railroad, and those named in the application for charter are Boyd A. Musser, J. C. H. Newcomer, C. M. Clements, W. H. Lyons and Guy Webster, all of whom are connected with the Sunbury & Selingsgrove line. The new line will pass close to Bucknell university.

PART OF BIG PLAN.

The plan has been under consideration for some months, and recently there was a move to secure the right of way from the supervisors of the various townships through which the road is to pass on the route mapped out. These accessions were secured with little difficulty from East Buffalo and Union township supervisors, their consent being necessary before a charter could be applied for. It is reliably reported the line is to be a part of a trunk line that the promoters have in view, that is to connect Williamsport with the coal regions, crossing the river over the new bridge at Sunbury.

The first link of the system is to be built from Lewisburg to Sunbury, and later it is the intention to construct the extensions to Williamsport. The present route mapped out is from Lewisburg to Winfield, taking a right of way through East Buffalo.

GO TO FARMING SAYS STUART

Here is an opinion—a bit of advice from Governor Stuart to the young men of the State and nation: "I believe that the farm is one of the greatest opportunities now presented to young men. Its success depends upon application, energy and ability. If agriculture is pursued in the right manner, there is just as much opportunity for a man to become prosperous, in proportion to the amount of capital invested as in almost any other vocation. What is required is for a man to study the soil and know what he can raise most profitably and, in addition, to study his immediate community and its needs. He must be more or less of a specialist and know why he raises this crop or that."

How can any person risk taking some unknown remedy when Foley's Honey and Tar costs them no more? It is a safe remedy, contains no harmful drugs, and cures the most obstinate coughs and colds. Why experiment with your health? Insist upon having the genuine Foley's Honey and Tar. For sale by Paules & Co's Pharmacy.

The Cause of Many Sudden Deaths.

There is a disease prevailing in this country most dangerous because so deceptive. Many sudden deaths are caused by it—heart disease, pneumonia, heart failure or apoplexy are often the result of kidney disease. If kidney trouble is allowed to advance the kidney-poisoned blood will attack the vital organs, causing catarrh of the bladder, brick-dust or sediment in the urine, head ache, back ache, lame back, dizziness, sleeplessness, nervousness, or the kidneys themselves break down and scalding pain in passing it, and overcomes that unpleasant necessity of being compelled to go often through the day, and to get up many times during the night. The mild and immediate effect of Swamp-Root, the great kidney remedy is soon realized. It stands the highest because of its remarkable health restoring properties. A trial will convince anyone.

Swamp-Root is pleasant to take and is sold by all druggists in fifty-cent and one-dollar size bottles. You may have a sample bottle and a bottle that tells all about it, both sent free by mail. Address, Dr. Kilmer & Co., Binghamton, N. Y.

VETERANS THANK ROOSEVELT

The veterans of Goodrich Post Monday night following example of other posts adopted a resolution expressing its appreciation of what the retiring president, Theodore Roosevelt, has done to promote the welfare of the veterans of the civil war during his term of office.

The resolution, in addition to extending thanks for the many ways in which the president has befriended the soldier, expresses the hope that the retiring executive in his African trip may realize his fondest hopes, meeting with no misadventures and striking the trail of the rarest and choicest game.

The resolution was mailed to the president Tuesday, so that its chances are good of reaching the White House before March 4th.

FAREWELL ADDRESS.

At the regular post meeting Monday night arrangements were made for a pleasant function to be held in the post rooms on Monday evening, March 15th.

The Rev. J. Conley Grimes, the gifted orator, who delivered the address on last Memorial day, has become a favorite among the members of Goodrich post. As soon as the veterans learned that in all probability he will not return to the Riverside charge after the meeting of conference a committee waited upon him with a request that he deliver a farewell address in the post room.

At the post meeting Monday night the committee reported that Mr. Grimes had consented to address the post on the date above named.

During the session all the arrangements for the occasion on the 15th inst were perfected. In addition to Mr. Grimes' address there will be music by a quartette, while Miss Richardson, a popular elocutionist of Bloomsburg, will render a couple of selections. The affair will wind up with a banquet.

All veterans of the civil war, together with their families are invited to be present as well as the sons of veterans and their families.
