The graduating class of the Port-town high school this year will number 55, the largest in the history of the school.

Vandals ruined the gasoline launch of Senator Oscar E. Thompson, of Phoenixville, while it was in the repair shop.

The Lutherans of Montgomery county contributed $392 toward the support of the Norristown hospital during the last month and the Friends $266.

Spying a large rat peeping out of its hole, Mrs. Howard Killian, of Seyfert, grasped her husband's double barreled shotgun and killed the rodent.

Arrangements are being made for a reunion of graduates and former students of Crozier Theological seminary, Chester, to be held during commencement week, next June.

A dispatch from Stroudsburg notes the fact that a deer crossing the tracks of the Susquehanna railroad, near the Delaware Water Gap, was struck by a fast train and fatally injured.

Herbert Reed and John Quinn, two 14 year old residents of Chester, engaged in a quarrel, when Reed pulled a revolver from his pocket and fired, the ball entering Quinn's leg near the thigh.

Because the Tarentum high school base ball team played against a nine representing the Indiana State Normal school, against the wishes of the Tarentum faculty, all athletics have been forbidden for the term.

Warring factions of the First Baptist church of Monongahela, who appeared in court at Washington, were advised by Judge Mellvaine, who reserved his decision, to read their church covenant again and to abide by it.

The Chester board of trade will cooperate with the civic section of the New Century club, of that place, in an effort to have the city thoroughly cleaned, and school children are being enlisted in the movement to make it a renovated town.

Having been an active member in the fire companies of Waynesboro for nearly sixty years, Daniel Johnson claims the distinction of being the oldest fireman in Franklin county. This month he celebrates his fifty-seventh anniversary as a fire fighter.

While working in his barn near Franklin during the progress of a storm, Frank Elder, aged 35, was killed by lightning.

Rev. Dr. John Watchorn, of Lancaster, has been chosen religious director of the Landisville camp meeting, which will open July 22.

Pennsylvania Retail Jewelers' association meets in Harrisburg, in the board of trade rooms, June 3 and 4. The association has shown great development in the past few years.

Mrs. Barbara Hester, who died in Maytown at the age of 90 years, is survived by four children, twenty-three grandchildren, thirty-six great-grandchildren and two great-great-grandchildren.

Preparations are being perfected for a great legal battle in the case of James H. Boyle, charged with the abduction of Willie Whitla, of Sharon, when the trial begins next Wednesday at Mercer.

The cigar factory of J. Frank Sneringer, of Hanover, York county, was burned Friday night, entailing a loss of about $15,000. There were about 20,000 stamped cigars in the building ready for shipment.

The old Baron Steigel office, in Manheim, erected more than 150 years ago, has been razed. Under the floor, which had many cracks and holes, numerous old coins were found, one of them a farthing of 1740.

Governor Stuart has signed the bill introduced by Representative George E. Alter, of Allegheny county, requiring the establishment and maintenance in counties having from 750,000 to 1,200,000 inhabitants a school for the care, maintenance and instruction of male children under the jurisdiction of the juvenile courts.

Former Deputy Sheriff Grant M. Koons is still suffering from the effects of a burn while lighting the fire at the Boyertown opera house, sustained January 13, 1908. A spark lodged in Mr. Koons' right eye, inflicting a blister which subsequently developed into an ulcer. The optic has failed to respond to treatment.

FAVORABLE HEALTH REPORTS

Grip still lingers with us, although when it comes to infectious and malignant diseases our district would seem to enjoy an immunity. The local registrar's report for April shows a clean bill of health as relates to both pneumonia and typhoid fever.

On the whole the physicians are having an easy time of it considering the season of the year. The grip prevailing is mostly of a bronchial form. Like every other form of grip it is distressing enough to the patient, but thus far, with good treatment, all have pulled through.

In the large district represented by Dr. Shultz as local registrar and comprising Danville borough and Mahoning, Cooper, Mayberry, Valley, Liberty and West Hemlock townships only one case of diphtheria and one scarlet fever were reported during the month. There were seven cases of measles and three cases of chickenpox reported. One case of erysipelas is on the list.

The death rate, which last month was high, has again fallen to normal. In the above described district sixteen deaths were reported during the month. Five of these occurred at the hospital for the insane. In March thirty-four deaths were reported. In February there were twenty deaths; in January twenty-one and in December seventeen. The number of births reported in March was twenty-four.

REPORT FOR COUNTY.
The division of medical inspection covers the entire county outside of the two boroughs, Danville and Washingtonville. The report of Dr. G. A. Stock as county medical inspector for the month of April shows that over this wide section there were only two cases of scarlet fever and three of diphtheria, one of whooping cough and five of measles. There was one case of typhoid fever reported; one of erysipelas and two of pulmonary tuberculosis.

RESPONSES COMING IN

The Six-County Firemen's convention, which will be held in Danville on 8th, 9th and 10th of June, is beginning to engross public attention. That it will turn out to be the important and monstrous event that the firemen have anticipated there would seem to be no doubt.

Responses are now coming in every day to the invitations sent out during March. Yesterday the corresponding secretary, John G. Waite, received word from Hazleton to the effect that the whole fire department of that town with four bands, will be present. Accompanying the contingent from Hazleton will be the fire department of West Hazleton.

Ashland will be represented at the convention by two fire companies accompanied by a band. One of the Ashland companies will contain 125 men. Pottsville and Parsons will each send one company. Other towns will be heard from during the next few days. Now that all danger of a miners' strike is averted the representation from the coal region will no doubt be large.

Bloomsburg will be represented at the convention by two fire companies, each with a band. Berwick will also be represented by two companies each accompanied by a band. One company and a band will be present from Milton. Sunbury will also be well represented.

The firemen realize that they will have to hustle during the next few weeks. It is hoped that all the support will be accorded them that is asked for to the end that the arrangements and preparations may be made on a scale that is in keeping with the magnitude and importance of the convention.

Pleasant Surprise Party.

A pleasant surprise party was tendered Miss Ethel Foust at the home of her parents, Mr. and Mrs. C. W. Foust, West Market street, Tuesday evening. Miss Foust was the recipient of a number of gifts and a fine time was enjoyed by all.

Those present were Frances Harpel, Lucy Detweiler, Pauline Waite, Alice Waite, Minnie Cohen, Grace Bloch, Mildred Sidler, Grace Foust, Margaret Foust, Elsie Bloch, Mabel Foust, Ethel Foust, James Paston, Hugh Barber, Dan Blecher, Lewis Williams, Harvey Jones, Paul Foster, James Bowyer, Charles Fisher, Scott Gibson, Raymond Foust, Ralph Byerly, John Dentsch, Philip Foust, John McCoy, Edwin Jones, Mr. and Mrs. J. C. Mincemoyer, Mr. and Mrs. D. E. Edmondson, Mr. and Mrs. C. Rishel, Miss Ida Edmondson, Mr. and Mrs. C. W. Foust, George Cohen, Harris Edmondson, Walter Foust.

Doylstown business men are organizing a chamber of commerce, the purpose being to secure manufacturing plants for the borough.

WIND UP A YEAR'S CONTRACT

Work on the new buildings at the hospital for the insane has reached practically its last stage. It will require a week or so longer to apply the finishing strokes to the male infirmary, but all the other buildings are completed.

The Foster & Glidden Engineering company, which did all the plumbing, steam fitting, ventilation and electrical work in connection with the new buildings, is now preparing to get off the ground. Monday workmen were employed in tearing down the building temporarily erected by the company to house its machinery, &c.

The Foster-Glidden company has been at Danville for over one year. It is a very large concern, which does all its own carpenter, blacksmith and other work. It is further distinguished by carrying with it a pipe cutting machine, which cuts pipe of any dimension up to eight inches. To house the latter machine, blacksmith forges, &c., a large building was erected in the rear of the hospital.

J. C. Dickey as chief engineer, has been in charge of Foster & Glidden's work in Danville. Frank Montreuil an expert, representing Warren Webster & Co., patentees of the system installed, as inspector, has also been on the ground much of the time during the year past. Both of these young men have made many friends during their stay in Danville, being highly esteemed for their social and other good qualities.

Leaving Danville, the Foster-Glidden company will enter upon a big hospital job at Binghamton, N. Y. A car load of equipment for Buffalo, N. Y., where the home office is located. The Warren Webster system as installed will be finally inspected by Mr. Montreuil and O. B. Switzer, the latter representing the State, during the present week. At the next meeting of the board of trustees it will no doubt be officially accepted.

Work on the sewage disposal plant is not progressing very rapidly owing to the unfavorable weather of the last couple of weeks. A great deal of concrete work is already done. A portion of this includes a large sprinkling filter bed one hundred feet square. Twenty-five men are employed, all but three being residents of Danville. With four exceptions all are Americans.

Walter D. Gemet, the superintendent engineer, and A. D. Patten foreman, are found daily on the job. Along with E. D. Harshbarger, the contractor, they will be residents of Danville for some months to come.

Our townspeople, who have sewage disposal more or less remotely in view for themselves, will be gratified to learn that the system being installed at the hospital is a demonstrated success. Such a thing as failure is impossible, if the system be designed on a scale to conform with the size and requirements of the institution or town—if it be properly constructed and kept in good running order. Our readers will also be glad to learn that the system being installed at the hospital embraces every possible outlet from the buildings and will eventually take in the small stream flowing down along the west side of the grounds, which it is alleged, is the source of pollution in the abandoned canal.

All about the new structures lie piles of earth excavated in building along with heaps of stone, brick and other material left over, which give things an untidy appearance and detract some what from the general effect. The patients are daily employed in cleaning up outside the buildings and seem to take great interest in the work. That they will not be finished until some months later, is quite evident.

The work of filling up the canal, the contract for which is held by George Rockwell of Sunbury, has also reached its last stage. The long section between the culvert at the hospital entrance and the gas house is practically finished. Where completely leveled over one hardly recognizes the spot. For a lifetime the eye has been accustomed to the old canal but not a trace of it now remains. Nowhere else along its course has the old waterway been filled up in this manner.

The soil scooped out of the bottom of the canal has all been replaced by the steam dredge with the exception of what lies on a small section near the western end of the hospital ground. As dumped by the bucket on the filling of cinder it lies in knolls and ridges. To level these down plows and scrapers are employed. Monday one plow with two horses and three scrapers, each drawn by one horse, were in service on the canal.

Forty Hours' Devotion.

Forty hours' devotion will begin at St. Hubert's Catholic church at 7:30 Sunday morning. It will close Tuesday evening.

The weather will soon be "hot enough for you."

DEATH OF CAPT. J. A. WINNER

Captain John A. Winner, a former resident and father of our townsman, John S. Winner, died at his home, Sechlerville, Wisconsin, on April 23rd and was buried at that place on the Sunday following.

Captain Winner was born at Buckhorn, Columbia county, on November 16, 1834. Prior to 1880 he lived in Danville. He was a shoemaker by occupation and occupied a shop in one of the company houses opposite the Structural Tubing Company's office on East Market street. He was a man of ability and friendly in all his relations with his fellowmen. As a veteran of the civil war, he had an enviable record and was very popular with members of the G. A. R. and others.

The deceased was married on January 1, 1857, to Miss Margaret McBride, who died in October, 1905. He is survived by three sons, James S., of Sechlerville; Grant of Black River Falls, Wis.; John S. of this city; and three daughters, Mrs. F. J. H. Stoltz, Mrs. George Laing and Mrs. L. A. Sly, of Sechlerville. He is also survived by twenty-three grand children.

Mr. Winner was a man of very robust health until about a year ago, when he became ill of dropsy. For several months he suffered severely and was very feeble.

In 1880 Mr. Winner, with his family, removed to Jackson county, Wis. For several years he was in the employ of J. R. Sechler, a former resident of Danville, who early in life removed to Wisconsin and became founder of Sechlerville. Later Captain Winner purchased a small farm where he made his home until the death of his wife.

The deceased enlisted in company C Fourteenth Pennsylvania volunteers, on April 27, 1861, upon Lincoln's first call for volunteers. He served the three months under the call, and then immediately re-enlisted in company F, of the same regiment, for three years. On November 28th, 1862, he was made captain of his company and served as such until the end of his period of enlistment. When his term expired, he again enlisted, serving an additional 100 days, and finally was mustered out at Harrisburg, Pa., on November 5th, 1864, after more than three years and six months in the faithful service of his country.

WHITE HORSE WINS FROM Y. M. C. A.

The White Horse and Y. M. C. A. base ball teams yesterday opened their seasons with a game on the new grounds which resulted in a victory for the White Horse by a score of 12 to 7. No admission was charged so there was a good sized crowd present.

The game afforded few sensational moments. The home run of Woolridge in the seventh was the feature of the game. It was the longest hit that has been made on the new grounds. The ball sailed well over the center field fence and striking the ground on the far side of the creek rolled up onto the railroad tracks.

Jonas Buckwalter, a progressive farmer living in Montgomery county, has installed a gasoline engine, which he is making serve the fivefold purpose of running the water pump, clothes washer, bottle washer, bone grinder and meat cutter.

The Bellevue Methodist Episcopal church, Pittsburg, celebrated the centennial of its organization last Sunday by raising $600 a minute for thirty minutes, or $18,000 at the morning service, to pay its debt. An additional $2,000 was raised in the evening.

Two children of Howard Batchelder of Norristown, supposed to have been lost, were found in Montgomery cemetery, a mile from home, picking wild flowers.

DEATH CLAIMS MRS. WALLIZE

Mrs. Harriet Richard Wallize, one of the oldest residents of this city, died at the family homestead, East Centre street, at 9 o'clock Tuesday morning after a long and painful illness.

The deceased was the widow of Michael Wallize, who departed this life in 1906. She was the daughter of Robert Richard and was born near Jerseytown within the present limits of Montour county in what was at that time Columbia county. She was aged 88 years, 4 months and 17 days.

Mrs. Wallize was in good health up to about last January a year ago, when she sustained a bad fall from which she never recovered. Her suffering at times was most intense.

The deceased was the last surviving charter member of the Grove Presbyterian church, organized fifty-four years ago. Her husband, Michael Wallize, was also a charter member of the Grove church and at the time of his death was the only surviving member with the exception of his wife.

Mrs. Wallize was a consistent Christian. She was a benevolent woman, of cheerful disposition and, although she had positive opinions of her own, was ever respectful of the rights and opinions of others. She was well informed on all subjects and took a keen interest in affairs of daily life—an interest which she did not lose even in the midst of her sufferings in the last days of her life. She loved the young and was especially interested in the things that concerned them and affected their welfare, whether in spiritual or temporal matters.

Mrs. Wallize is survived by one daughter, Mrs. I. A. Persing, and one son, John R. Wallize, both of this city. One brother, John Richard, of Florida, also survives.

The funeral will be held at the homestead Thursday afternoon at 2:30 o'clock and will be public. The interment (private) will take place in Fairview cemetery.

ONLY 202 DOGS ARE ASSESSED

Two hundred and two dogs have been assessed in Danville this spring. The special interest attaches to this report in view of the wholesale slaughter of dogs that took place during last summer due to the hydrophobia scare. It will be recalled that at least one hundred dogs were killed either at the instance of their owners or because they were running at large without being properly muzzled in violation of the quarantine.

How many dogs escaped the assessors is not known at this time, but assuming that the assessors were careful and thorough in their work, then one year ago there were something like three hundred dogs in Danville, one-third of which during the six months following were killed.

Under the law persons are obliged to pay tax on dogs "owned or harbored."

In the first ward of Danville seventy-eight dogs are assessed. Twenty-nine of these belong to owners of premises; forty-two to tenants and seven to single persons.

In the second ward there are fifty-nine dogs according to the assessors' books. Seventeen belong to owners of premises; thirty-six to tenants and six to single persons.

In the third ward the assessor found forty-six dogs; twenty belong to owners of premises; twenty-four to tenants and two to single persons.

In the fourth ward nineteen dogs are assessed; five belong to owners of premises; twelve to tenants and two to single persons.

ROYAL ARCANUM STATE CONVENTION

SENTENCED TO YEAR IN JAIL

Local members of the Royal Arcanum are interested in the plans for the fourteenth biennial State convention in Philadelphia on May 12 and 13.

The Hotel Walton will be the headquarters of the officers and the Grand Council of the order, and the sessions will be held in the Academy of Music. W. H. Druckenmiller, of Sunbury, is Grand Chaplain.

Over 300 delegates are expected to attend, representing over 30,000 members of the order and councils in all parts of the State.

Former Residents.
Mrs. Montgomery Hunt and son, Robert Hunt, of Decatur, Illinois, spent last evening at the home of Mr. and Mrs. John H. Hunt, West Mahoning street. Both are former residents of Danville. This is the first time that Mrs. Hunt has visited her former home in thirty-five years, and Mr. Hunt has been in Danville on but one occasion during that time.

CARS PASS THROUGH TOWN

That a large proportion of our citizens feel a keen interest in automobiling in general and the long-endurance run being made under the auspices of the Harrisburg Motor Club in particular was well demonstrated by the large and eager crowd that for several hours yesterday stood at the intersection of Mill and Bloom streets waiting for the contesting cars to pass through Danville.

About noon a "press car" forming the van of the long and scattered procession reached town, stopping at the City hotel for a short time. It was a six cylinder E. R. Thomas car and contained five men. The car took in a supply of gasoline at Will G. Brown's and proceeded on its way toward Wilkes-Barre. During the next hour some four or five other press cars rolled through town. Some of these came in over the State highway, while others, which left the procession at Sunbury, came up the river road.

About 1:30 p. m. the pilot car reached town, making its way without any loss of time up Bloom street in the direction of Wilkes-Barre. At points along the course confetti was thrown out of the car to serve as a guide for the automobiles making the endurance run.

Real interest, however, centered in the contesting cars, the first one of which made its appearance about 1:45 o'clock. During the next hour and a quarter eight cars passed through town. With one exception—the car which arrived shortly after 3 o'clock—all passed through town at a moderate rate of speed. The car forming the exception came very near paying dearly for its indiscretion.

By phone the waiting and excited crowd learned that the car had left Washingtonville. Just twenty-two minutes after leaving Washingtonville the car came flying in North Mill street. Near the intersection of Center street the unsuspecting autoists struck the gutter with its accompanying hump in the paving, which came with in an ace of throwing the men out and caused the driver to practically lose control of his car, which without any diminution of speed veered to the right barely escaping the curb in front of Murray's block. The car in making the turn up Bloom street swung over the paving opposite Cleaver's store, nearly running down a half a dozen spectators. Before the driver succeeded in gaining control of the car it got down into the gutter along side the First National bank, escaping the curb by less than six inches.

The whole affair was most spectacular. When the car went over the hump in the paving the men bounced up above the car at least two feet. The big crowd yelled loudly and scampered for cover, but, as before stated, several persons came near being struck. The close call did not dampen the enthusiasm of the automobilists, who dashed up Bloom street at the same rapid rate at which they entered the town.

One of the contesting cars ran out of gasoline and was obliged to stop short in front of the armory. F. P. Johnson came to the rescue with his automobile making a record run up to Will G. Brown's for a supply of gasoline. The car was delayed only a few minutes.

The cars and men alike looked as if they had encountered bad roads. The machines were covered with mud, while the men's clothing bore a thick coat of the same substance.

Four cars winding up the procession passed through town about 5 o'clock, making 12 in all that belonged to the run.

The pilot car broke down at the Twin Hills above Grovania. It received assistance from the Moxie car of this city and was enabled to proceed on its way.

SENTENCED TO YEAR IN JAIL

Joseph Gulick, accused of chicken stealing and arrested by Chief Mince-moyer, was found guilty in Northumberland county court yesterday and sentenced to one year in the county jail.

Joseph is an old offender and scarcely an hour elapsed between the time that his case went to the grand jury and Judge Savidge passed sentence.

Gulick pleaded not guilty, but the evidence was conclusive to the jury and the twelve men agreed upon a verdict without leaving their seats. The case occupied the last hour of the forenoon session.

Mrs. Ellen Critz, of Philadelphia, 79 years old, is dead because her daughter gave her a dose of oil of cedar in mistake for aromatic spirits of ammonia.

Even a rat has some excuse for living.

It is still true that he who gives his life for a great cause finds it.

OVER A DOZEN CANDIDATES

The fact that there are some half a dozen candidates for nomination for sheriff in this county is considered worthy of comment at present. Yet nearly a hundred years ago, when this self-same territory was, comparatively speaking, a wilderness there was a much larger number of candidates, not for nomination but for the office of sheriff voted for at the general election.

A glance over the musty files of the "Republican Press" printed in Danville in the first quarter of the last century reveals some entertaining and very unique facts relating to politics.

In 1819 there were twelve candidates for sheriff as follows: Henry Alward, David Smith, John M'Quoin, Jacob Rupert, Robert Dunlap, John Derr, William Brower, John Underwood, Peter Russell, William Mann, James Montgomery and William Dale.

In 1822 the contest was a "much hotter one. In that year there were fourteen candidates for the office of sheriff among the aspirants being William Brewer, who was defeated in 1819. Early in the summer the candidates began to announce themselves and soon the greater part of one page of the newspaper was filled. The announcements took the form of regular advertisements with lines of prominent type interspersed to catch the eye of the elector. The announcements varied in size according to the means or liberality of the candidate.

Each announcement began with the stereotyped line: "To the Independent Electors of Columbia county," immediately following which came the announcement. A few of the candidates were modest, but the majority did not scruple "to blow their own horns." Of the latter class the announcement of William Kitchin may be taken as a sample. Mr. Kitchin in addressing the voters says: "I am not a man of many words, but I believe that it will be pretty generally admitted by those who know me that my disposition is the reverse of harshness and intemperance. Should you think proper to elect me you will confer on me a lasting obligation, whose biggest aim it shall be to benefit my fellow citizens as a return for their kindness and benefit to me."

William was not elected. Besides Mr. Kitchin other candidates in the field were: Isaac Bear, Samuel Webb, Jacob Dyer, Ezekiah Boone, Andrew Reynolds, Josiah McClure, Uzal Hopkins, William Brewer, Alex Aiken, David Fausay, William Carothers, William Colt and James Woodside. The two latter, it seems dropped out before the election. The other twelve candidates were voted for. Andrew Reynolds was elected, receiving 1018 votes, Ezekiah Boone received only 72 votes and was the lowest.

It is true that the territory embraced at that time took in both Montour and Columbia county, but allowance must be made for the fact that the entire territory was very sparsely settled at that remote day.

Mrs. William D. Wintersteen and Mrs. Howard P. Lingo went to Jerseytown on Tuesday to attend the graduation exercises of the high school there, the former's sister, Miss Myrtle Mordan, being one of the graduates and an honor student.

Mrs. W. Fred Jacobs and Ensign Randall Jacobs spent yesterday with Dr. Robert M. Jacobs at Wilkes-Barre.

Mrs. James Fox, Sidler Hill, left yesterday for a visit with relatives in Shamokin.

Mr. and Mrs. Philip Pollock, Riverside, spent yesterday with friends in Sunbury.

Benjamin Rosenstein transacted business in Sunbury yesterday.

Miss Elsie Potterman, of Riverside, left last evening for a visit with relatives at Roaring Creek.

Charles Grimm, of Lewisburg, arrived last evening for a visit with William Hendricks, Riverside.

Miss May Lewis left yesterday for Shenandoah where she will visit friends and relatives.

Gets Carnegie Medal.
The Carnegie Hero Commission sitting at Pittsburg has awarded to John C. Schreman, of West Pittston, a bronze medal and $2,150 to liquidate his indebtedness. On March 24, 1907, Schreman rescued Karl A. Kellar, aged 11, who had grasped a live wire. The boy was saved, but Schreman came in contact with another wire and was permanently injured.
