

"BITTER ROT" IN APPLE TREES

Prof. H. A. Surface, State Zoologist of Pa., calls attention to a very prevalent disease of apples, known as bitter rot, giving its symptoms and telling what to do at present to prevent loss from it, a number of letters having been received by the Division of Zoology of the Department of Agriculture, requesting information on the subject.

SYMPTOMS.

At first there are minute brown specks, varying from one to a countless number, but commonly from one to not more than a half dozen.

These spots enlarge later so as to make each a conspicuous, dark-colored, circular spot, which, while preserving its circular form and maintaining a sharply defined border, gradually extends to become perhaps an inch or more in diameter.

The affected area does not become soft, but is soon depressed or somewhat shrunken while the skin assumes a leathery appearance.

The outer portion of the spot remains smooth and polished, while the central area loses its lustre and becomes roughened by the formation of a multitude of minute pustules arranged in irregular concentric circles.

When the atmosphere is not too dry each of these little pustules open and there exudes in microscopic masses, or columns, a waxy substance, which is at first pale pink in color, then pale dull red or at length grayish when long exposed to the sun.

The spot ultimately becomes shriveled in appearance, tough in texture, and very dark—apparently black—in color.

The diseased apple usually becomes dark brown throughout and quite bitter, and shrivels into a dry, hard and much-wrinkled mass called a "mummy." This may remain firmly attached to the twig for a year or more, but usually falls to the ground before the drying process has been completed.

The little, dry, shriveled apples often seen clinging to the trees during the winter are evidences of this disease.

PREVENTION.

To be on the safe side give trees a thorough application of Bordeaux mixture.

To discover bitter rot, examine the trees in the orchard systematically, following the rows and making the sharpest possible search for the rot spots on the apple.

As a rule, the first infection will be found on the upper surface of the apple; therefore, it is best to make the examination from an elevated position.

A good and quick method is to drive between the rows with a spraying outfit, having two men on the operating platform, a man looking at each side.

After the infected trees have been located, trace all of the diseased apples until the cankered limb, which is the source of infection, has been found. The infected limbs should be removed and burned. Do this cautiously, so as not to spread infection. Wash the saw or pruning shears with such a disinfectant as turpentine or with a five per cent. solution of formalin in water.

Spray with Bordeaux Mixture, three pounds bluestone, four pounds lime and 50 gallons water, as soon as the blossoms fall and repeat this three or four times at intervals of two weeks each.

TURNED OUT OF POOR HOUSE

Rev. W. H. Heyer, the deposed pastor of the Trevorton Lutheran church, who was forcibly evicted from the parsonage on April 21 last, and who for two years previous to that time refused to relinquish the pastorate of the church, because, as he stated, the Lord had not called him to another charge, created quite a sensation in the village Monday evening when he, together with his aged mother and sister, made arrangements to spend the night in the grove west of the town after the poor authorities had refused them further accommodations at the almshouse.

After Rev. Heyer was evicted from the parsonage with his mother and sister was given lodging in the almshouse, he providing them and himself with food from his small fund saved during his years service in the ministry. When the poor authorities took them in it was supposed that they would be only for a night or two. He failed to go before a justice and procure the necessary "order of relief" for admission into the institution, and without such the board had no authority to provide shelter for the trio. At a meeting of the board Saturday night, it was decided that they were not complying with the law and Monday he was told that he would have to seek quarters elsewhere. Monday night Rev. Heyer with his sister and mother the latter being so feeble she can hardly walk, went into the park and began preparations to sleep on the tables. Their actions were noticed by residents nearby and the news soon spread throughout the town, and a large crowd flocked to the scene.

George Brubecker, a well known citizen, offered to provide the outcasts with shelter and his generous offer was accepted.

In order to provide food for his sister and aged mother Rev. Heyer whose funds have been growing less every day, has so skimped himself that he is on the verge of collapse from want of nourishment. His aged mother could not possibly have stood the exposure of sleeping in the open air.

Attorney Shoener has taken the matter in hand and will endeavor to induce Mr. Heyer to take out an "order of relief" which will admit him to the almshouse where he will be taken care of until other arrangements can be made.

Miss Annie Martin was maid of honor and Thomas McCaffrey, best man. The bride wore light blue silk trimmed with Venetian lace and carried bride's roses.

After the ceremony a wedding breakfast was served at the home of the bride's mother, Mrs. Mary Shepperson, Front street.

On the 11:25 P. & R. train the newly wedded couple left for Philadelphia and other points. Returning they will take up their residence in Danville.

The bride received a magnificent array of presents, among which was a handsome set of china dishes, presented by the choir of St. Joseph's Catholic church.

She is talented and most highly esteemed, the center of a wide circle of loving friends, whose kindest wishes are showered upon her as she enters the married state. The groom is likewise well known and popular. He is a young man of industrious habits and is prominent in affairs at the northern end of town.

NO MORE BOUNTY WILL BE PAID

By reason of the bounty paid on pelts the trapping of noxious animals has proven a rather profitable diversion during the two years past, but unfortunately the business is now at an end and the man who hereafter kills minks, weasels or the like will do so purely for the sake of the good he can accomplish without any thought of pecuniary gain.

On Friday a communication was received at the office of the county commissioners from the auditor general of the State advising the board that the last legislature has failed to make any appropriation for the payment of bounties on noxious animals for the two years beginning June 1, 1909. An appropriation of $40,000 was made to pay the deficiency that already exists. Of this $40,000 over $27,000 is already due to various counties for the balance of bills that were due to August 13, 1908, at which time was distributed the balance of the former appropriation then in the treasury. From data on hand it is made clear that the remaining $13,000 will not be sufficient to reimburse the counties for those bills which have already been paid, but not presented to the department. The auditor general, therefore, requests that the county commissioners pay no more scalp bounties.

In view of the above at a regular meeting of the county commissioners, Saturday, on motion, it was decided to pay no more bounty on pelts of noxious animals in Montour county. During the two years that the law has been in force Montour county has paid out in bounty on pelts only a trifle less than seven hundred dollars.

DEATH OF DR. H. G. PULLEN. A. H. Woolley will leave this morning for Binghamton, N. Y., to attend the funeral of his brother-in-law, Dr. H. G. Pullen, whose death occurred at Rochester, N. Y., yesterday morning after a protracted illness.

The funeral will take place in Binghamton tomorrow. Mr. Woolley will join his wife in the latter city, where she has been sojourning for a short time.

Council Holds Special Meeting. The borough council held a regular meeting Monday eve with President Andrew Schatz in the chair. Other members present were: Finnigan, Iles, Jones, Everhard, Deutsch and Marshall.

The president explained that the meeting was called for the purpose of taking action on an invitation received from the Soldiers' Monument committee relative to participating in the unveiling ceremonies. The communication read as follows:

To the Town Council of Danville, Pa. Gentlemen: The soldiers' monument committee of Montour county presents its compliments and requests the honor of your presence in a body on the occasion of the dedication of the soldiers' monument at Danville, Pa., Monday, May 31, 1909.

Very Truly Yours, JAMES FOSTER, Chairman. Sam A. McCoy, Secretary.

On motion of Mr. Finnigan it was ordered that the invitation be accepted and that the council, accompanied by the chief burgess and the borough officers attend the unveiling in a body. Council will assemble at city hall at 1 p. m. sharp on Monday the 31st inst.
