HUNTINGDON WINS

win all the time and if we have to lose we prefer to accept the defeat from just such a good clean bunch as did the trick yesterday. Even at that 5-4 sounds well and for a time it looked as though the large end of the tally would be on the other side. Danville was not playing at her best as testified by several costly errors. Rowe held his own on the mound scattering the hits so that they did the least damage. Moore was a puzzle until the eighth when the locals hit him hard, to the tune of three runs all earned. A fair sized crowd witnessed the game.

In the first inning Huntingdon fail ed to score. In Danville's half Hess, first up, got a base on balls: Umlant secrified him to the second bag. Livengood struck out, Dooley popped out one to second base and Hess scored on the throw.

No Suffering Too Great.

Not long since a young woman suffering with an incurable disease applied for admission to a hospital in a southern city.

"I know I must die," she said simply only two kinds of stone, travertine and only two kinds of stone, travertine and something to keep me alive for a little while for my babies' sake. Oartain Hess then threw the crowd in a frenzy of excitement by a long drive to center field fence which looked for all the world like a sure homer. It hit the top of the fence however and the fence how here the fence had the fence here the fence here the fence here the fence here here the fence here the fence here the fence here the fence here bounced on the wrong side. Hess circled to the second bag, Mackert scoring.

Umlauf got first on a hit scoring Hess and took second on the throw to the plate. Livengood hit to right field scoring Umlauf. Dooley went out on a flut check. a fly to short.

Ninth inning opened with the score standing 4 to 3 in Danville's favor. Huntingdon repeated the locals performance in the eighth. Rowe struck Simpson out. Sopher hit to right field and was thrown out at second. With two out Green hit a grounder to Livengood at second. The ball took a hard bound which Livengood misjudged the man reaching first safely. Savage next up hit a two bagger to right field. Green taking third. Howe's hit brought in the two scores. Maxweil He had actually landed the fish, when
