The Catawissa people, he said, seem to want the knitting mill very badly, but, despite the action taken by them on Monday night, he does not by any means consider it a settled matter that the plant will move. Speaking for himself, he asid, before he would favor a removal to Catawissa he would have to be better enlightened on the question of help at the latter place.

Mr. Delaney states that the Montour Knitting Mills Co. has orders on hand sufficient to keep the plant busy for one year. During the extended period of depression the company was never without orders and the mill could have been kept running every day. The Montour Knitting Mills are in-stalled in the disused "flat" school building, which underwent extensive repairs prior to starting the plant one year ago last August. It is now in first class shape, in point of equipment lacking nothing.
