WHITE CHRISTMAS

The six-inch snow came as a surprise on Christmas. It imparted an old-fashioned and seasonable aspect and added not a little to the pleasure of the day.

The trolley cars, although slightly delayed, were able to handle traffic without inconveniencing the public very much. It was not until Sunday that real deprivation was experienced. This section of the State seemed entirely isolated by the snow and while waiting for the mail and newspapers that came not people could only conjecture as to the depth of snow and the extreme conditions which seemed to be holding up traffic.

Casket and Corpse in Creek.

Cootesville, Dec. 29.—Conveying the remains of a young woman to the railroad station in Christiansia to be shipped to Baltimore, yesterday afternoon, two horses attached to a hearse ran away, the driver lost control of them, and the vehicle was thrown into a stream near the Octorar creek. The hearse and corpse were removed from the creek and taken back to an undertaker.

Orchard on State Reservation.

The Indiana forestry commission is making arrangements to plant a large orchard on the state reservation, nine miles south of Scottsburg. The commission heretofore has confined its attention to the cultivation and production of only the valuable woods for use in crosses, cabinet work and building. The new scheme will be a means of testing the hardiness of the various varieties of fruit trees, and it will also show whether the knobs can be used to advantage in the production of fruit.

New Cod Bank.

A new "cod bank" in the gulf of St. Lawrence, off the west coast of Newfoundland, has been discovered by the Canadian government survey ship Elnor. The new bank is situated about twenty-five miles northwest from Point Riche (the northwest point of Ingonchoix bay) and is reported to be about twenty-eight miles long and ten to twelve miles wide. The least depth of water over the bank is said to be about eighteen fathoms. Cod are reported to be in abundance.

Paris Apaches' Trained Dogs.

The most pest of the Paris suburban districts is the "Apache dog," which is taught by its masters to jump at lonely pedestrians and bite them while the hoodlums rides the victim's pockets. It appears that, taking a hint from the police methods, the Apaches have recently trained several animals of the same breed as the police dogs to attack policemen and others.

CRACKSMEN AT WORK

The office of the Welliver Hardware company was the scene of a daring safe robbery Thursday morning. The cracksmen after successfully opening the safe got away with booty representing in cash checks and notes, over one thousand dollars.

The offices are in the eastern end of the big warehouse situated on Church street at the D. L. & W. railroad. The safe crackers showed considerable familiarity with the premises. They gained admittance by forcing open a window on the second story at the rear of the building. To reach the window they climbed to the roof of the long one-story annex built at the rear of the warehouse proper.

Thursday morning a short ladder, brought to the spot by the burglars, was found lying under the platform at the door of the annex, where goods are loaded and unloaded. This ladder had been utilized by the robbers in getting to the top of the building. Marks of their feet, where they had made their way along to the rear window of the warehouse proper. On the window frame had been used to good effect, the lower sash having been forced upward until the patent fastening gave way.

The robbery was committed about three o'clock Thursday morning. At that hour people in the immediate vicinity were aroused by a loud report. The noise was attributed to an explosion of iron in the Danville rolling mill and no alarm resulted. It remained for George Gross to literally catch the robbers red-handed and to report the affair in such good time that the officers were enabled to get on the trail of the cracksmen before they had escaped very long.

Mr. Gross, who was working on night turn at the Danville rolling mill, was returning to his home about 3:20 o'clock Thursday morning and had reached a point on the D. L. & W. track just opposite the large warehouse when he was surprised to see two men leap to the ground from the large side door, which was wide open. A third man suddenly materialized, stepping between the two men and Mr. Gross, not more than four feet from the latter. Had there been any doubt as to the character of the men it would have been dispelled as they jumped to the ground by the tell-tale clink of coin, which came from the inside of a box that one of them held under his arm.

Mr. Gross believing that prudence was the better part of valor did not tarry to interview the men, but got down town quickly as possible, where he related what had occurred to Night Watchman Lewis Byerly and W. E. Young, after which he called up Chief of Police Mincemeyer. Lewis Byerly called out Officer Voris, while Night Watchman Young aroused W. W. Welliver, member of the firm that had been robbed.

When Mr. Welliver entered the offices of the company the rooms were still full of smoke. The cracksmen had done their work well, demonstrating that they were no novices. One of the double doors of the safe was shattered to pieces, the interior being fully exposed to view. The plan adopted by the cracksmen was to break off the combination and also the knob or handle of the door. Through the small round aperture produced nitro-glycerine or some other high explosive was poured, the joints having been carefully closed with soap.

The office presented a woeful appearance. Fragments of the safe door, lay scattered about. The walls and furniture were bespattered with soap, which was shot in all directions when the explosion occurred.

The safe was entirely rifled of its contents. The drawers and the frame that supported them were badly shattered and splintered. The covers of several of the books are mutilated although the leaves are intact.

The money drawer contained less than twenty-five dollars in cash and this is all the safe blowers secured that will be of any value to them. The safe contained notes and checks amounting to nearly or quite a thousand dollars, all of which were carried off. That the robbers will be able to realize anything on the notes and checks stolen is not at all probable although the loss of the paper will be felt by the Welliver Hardware company, which will be put to endless trouble in securing duplicates.

As described by George Gross the three men were of unequal height, one being a rather portly fellow. The tallest wore a long overcoat.

ALARM OF FIRE

The residents of the Eastern End were startled by an alarm of fire about 10 o'clock on Monday night. The blaze was found to be located among the ruins of the dwelling on East Market street extension which burned down Sunday night. Some fire remained among the debris and after twenty-four hours broke out anew. The fire bell at the Washington hose house was rung and in response the members of that company ran to the fire. To extinguish the flames was the work of but a few moments.

WHO ENTERED COMPLAINT

That threatened investigation of the woeful condition of the Susquehanna, Bloomsburg and Berwick railroad has petered out.

From Harrisburg comes the report that the railroad commission is trying in vain to find the man who complained that the Susquehanna, Bloomsburg and Berwick railroad was so bad that the road bed was the only thing to commend. Letters to him to amplify his statement or to state specific instances have been returned by the postmaster at the town whence the letter came. The postmaster states that he knows no such party.

Signal Wire Cutters.

Albert Hamiller and Alazy Warzeback were tried in the criminal courts of Montgomery county, December 6th, on the charges of felonious entry and cutting hall signal wires at Pottstown in that county. The defendants were found guilty and were sentenced to four years in the Eastern penitentiary. The ages of the boys were 17 and 20 years. These boys were two of a gang of five or six Reading fellows, who planned to go to Pottstown to commit robbery in breaking open freight cars. Their plan was to cut the signals so that the fast freight would stop at Pottstown, and they would then break the seal of the freight, and get inside; and as the train went up to Reading, they would throw off the freight near Neversink to be carried up into the mountains.

A Policeman's Testimony.

Paterson, night policeman of Nashua, Iowa, writes: "Last winter I had a bad cold on my lungs and tried at least half a dozen advertised cough medicines and had treatment from two physicians without getting any benefit. Thousands Have Kidney Trouble and Never Suspect It.

How To Find Out. Fill a bottle of common glass with your water and let it stand twenty-four hours; a brick dust sediment, or setting, stringy or milky appearance often indicates an unhealthy condition of the kidneys; too frequent desire to pass it or pain in the back are also symptoms that tell you the kidneys and bladder are out of order and need attention.

What To Do. There is comfort in the knowledge so often expressed, that Dr. Kilmer's Swamp-Root, the great kidney remedy, fulfills almost every wish in correcting rheumatism, pain in the back, kidneys, liver, bladder and every part of the urinary passage. Corrects inability to hold water and scalding pain in passing it, or bad effects following use of liquor, wine or beer, and overcomes that unpleasant necessity of being compelled to go often through the day, and to get up many times during the night. The mild and immediate effect of Swamp-Root is soon realized. It stands the highest because of its remarkable health restoring properties. If you need a medicine you should have the best. Sold by druggists in fifty-cent and one-dollar sizes. Beware of cheap imitations. You may have a sample bottle sent free by mail. Address: Dr. Kilmer & Co., Binghamton, N. Y.
