Foreign Geography. Children of European birth who were old enough to receive some instruction in geography before coming to this country hold opinions in regard to the political divisions of the earth which all the American geographers and the teachers thereof combined cannot uproot. A New York teacher found that out when she tried to impress upon a young Austrian miss that Columbus is the capital of Ohio. "It is Cincinnati, on the Ohio," reported the Austrian maiden politely, but firmly. Maps and printed text were produced to prove her error. The pupil was in no wise convinced. "It wasn't that way in our geography at home," said she. And the next day, to uphold her contention, she brought the geography on which she based her assertion. That book was not a perfect product of the geography maker's art, for it certainly did state that Cincinnati, on the Ohio river, was the capital of Ohio. "But that is a mistake," said the teacher. Then day after day, when the girl was called upon to recite, the teacher put the question of discord. "What is the capital of Ohio?" and day after day, at the risk of bad marks, came the positive reply, "Cincinnati, on the Ohio."—New York Press.

Whelks' Eggs. Natural soap is not heard of very often, but it not only exists, but is highly prized by Jack Tar in the tropics when the purser reports that the ship's supply of soap has given out. Then all hands are sent ashore to gather a supply of "natural soap," which is found on the shore in the shape of whelks' eggs. The whelk is a little shellfish, or marine mollusk, which in Europe is eaten like mussels, cockles, oysters and clams, but in the tropics it is more highly esteemed for the soap it provides in the shape of its eggs. The eggs are found in a light yellowish mass which is composed of some five or six hundred capsules. One fish alone produces millions of these eggs in the course of the year. They are found on the shores of the Atlantic, but are very profuse on the intertropical coral reefs, where sailors take large quantities aboard for use as soap.

His Memory. "Has he a good memory?" "No, just a common, ordinary, everyday memory. He remembers people who owe him money much better than those to whom he owes money."—Detroit Free Press.

STATES WAR ON TUBERCULOSIS

That the State aid extended to tuberculosis sufferers through the department of health dispensaries is reaching the really needy is evidenced by careful statistics that Health Commissioner Dixon has just compiled. These statistics which are based upon a total of 9,363 patients examined at the dispensaries, of whom 6,728 were found to have tuberculosis during a period of seventeen months ending December 31, 1908, show that the average family income in the homes from which these patients came was $24.63 per month. The average number of persons in the family was 4.38 and the average per capita income was $5.60. "These facts are particularly gratifying said Dr. Dixon Saturday. "With the thousands of tuberculosis patients whom we are asked to help it is quite possible that occasionally the State's charity is imposed upon. We are fully justified, however, by the tabulated records, in drawing the conclusion that the really needy poor among Pennsylvania's unfortunate victims of tuberculosis are the ones that are being helped, just as the law making the appropriation contemplated." An interesting study of the possible source of infection can be made from the dispensary statistics. In 2,404 cases, there was reason to believe that the disease was contracted in the home from another member of the family. This shows how important is the work which the visiting nurses of the dispensaries are doing in teaching the members of the household how to guard against being infected by one of the family who has the disease. In 474 cases the possible source of infection was a fellow employe. Fully alive to the danger from this source the State department of health has communicated direct with all the large employers of labor throughout the State, urging the necessity of frequent medical inspection and calling attention to the State's dispensaries where suspected cases among the poor will be examined at any time free.

FUNERAL OF L. ALLEGAR Levi Allegar, whose death occurred Thursday, was consigned to the grave in Old Fellows' cemetery, Saturday afternoon. Options taken on the lands several months ago by the Allegheny County Juvenile association are reported to have been taken up on Saturday and the property will be purchased as soon as deeds and titles can be prepared. The institution will be conducted on the cottage plan and will cost $500,000 for the buildings alone.

Duck Raised in Nail Factory. W. S. Rishton, the well known Bloomsburg druggist, had a duck for dinner yesterday which had evidently been raised and nurtured in a nail factory. In the bird's craw were found 74 nails ranging from 3/4 of an inch to 1 1/2 inches long. Each nail had been worn smooth and also the sharp end of all the nails had been worn off, probably digested.

GEESE GO NORTH; MEANING WHAT?

During Friday evening a large flock of geese flew northward up the North Branch. They were flying comparatively low, as though they were preparing to alight for a night's roost in one of the forests north of Williamsport. While it is very unusual for wild geese to be seen thereabouts at this season of the year, it was more strange to see them moving in a northerly direction. It is the custom of the big birds to fly north along the Susquehanna on their way to the lakes in the spring and their coming there ordinarily foretells the approach of warm weather. In the fall they fly south, and their flight is taken as a sure sign that cold weather or a storm is approaching. Rivermen and hunters who saw the geese are puzzled as to what the presence of the birds in this vicinity portends. They say if the season was several months later, the birds would probably be on their way to the lakes or Hudson bay to spend the summer, and that a spell of warm weather might be expected. They cannot believe that spring like weather is following in the wake of the geese that flew up the North Branch Friday evening. They incline to the view that the geese have been blown far out of their way by a wind storm and that they have been wandering about bewildered in the snow storm.

ON THE HIGH SEA Richard Miller, son of Charles C. Miller, this city, a seaman on board of the Torpedo Boat Destroyer U. S. S. Preston, has written a letter home to his parents describing a great speed record recently made by the boat he is on. The letter, which was written at Charleston, S. C., says: "We left League Island, Saturday, January 8th for Newport, R. I. We arrived there Sunday morning, and on Monday we left for Charleston. The distance is nine hundred miles, which we covered in twenty nine hours, nearly thirty-two miles an hour. It was very rough when we left Newport and our boat being light was tossed on the waves like a cork.

SAD DEATH A very sad death occurred on North Mill street Tuesday afternoon when Raymond Anderson, a seventeen-year-old boy, died suddenly as the result of an abscess in the head. The deceased boy, who was the son of Mrs. Annie Anderson, was taken ill about a week ago, but was not considered in a serious condition. He was suffering with an abscess in the head, which broke Tuesday afternoon, causing almost instant death. It proved a dreadful shock to the family, as, although the boy suffered a great deal during the last three days, such a thing as a fatal termination was scarcely dreamed of. Raymond would have been eighteen years old in April and was a bright and lovable boy. Mrs. Anderson, the mother, is the widow of the late Edward Anderson. Two brothers—Edward and Harry—and one sister—Viola—also survive.

BLOCKING CROSSINGS The recent arrest of an engineer on the Pennsylvania railroad for blocking crossings on the south side has not sufficed to put a stop to the objectionable practice. On Sunday the main crossing at the steam mill was blocked for fifteen minutes. The full measure of inconvenience to traffic that is entailed at that point will be appreciated when it is explained that at such times as the present when sleighing is good teams pass over the crossing at the rate of about one a minute. In some instances engineers and conductors are considerate and the trains are cut at the crossing. The greatest negligence is practiced at the lower crossing west of the freight house. A freight train one day last week, it is stated, was permitted to block the crossing there for thirty-five minutes. It frequently happens that school children are held up at that crossing and are compelled to stand in the snow until they freeze their feet. Now and then a boy or girl weary of the long wait yields to temptation and crawls through under the train, taking risks that are fearful to contemplate.

40 Nescopeck Fans Pay $10. Forty members of the Nescopeck Athletic association have agreed to pay $10 each to back a baseball team for the coming season. With a park and a balance in the treasury from last year it is considered that amount will be sufficient to run the team with gate receipts. Each member giving $10 will receive a season ticket.

Jacob Bardele, an aged and widely known resident of Anthony township, died Tuesday afternoon at his home near Ottawa, following an illness of two weeks with gangrene. He is survived by the following sons and daughters: Mrs. Emma Straub, of Philadelphia; Mrs. Catherine Oaks, of Watsonstown; Mrs. Annie Ellis, of Exchange; Miss Emma, at home; Ellis, of Watsonstown, and Cyrus, of Williamsport. R. R. COMMISSION MAKES NEW RULE

The State railroad commission, which has been flooded with complaints by people who set forth grievances against railroads and then failed to prosecute the cases when the commissioners invited them to do so in a regular way, has determined to put into force a new rule which will dismiss such complaints when the person making them fails to follow up. This rule will provide that when a complaint is entered and the complainant fails to make it according to the practice of the commission within fifteen days the matter will be marked off the docket. The rule will require that forms and all necessary papers for the presentation of a complaint in a systematic way be sent to every person asking its aid and in addition copies of the rules of practice will also be sent. The position is taken by the commission that many people write to the commission simply as a means of easing their minds, while others send in complaints which are not set forth clearly or which are so manifestly trivial that the commission has to send letters asking for specifications or instance. It has frequently occurred that people have ignored these requests for further information, while a number of cases are known where the complainant having written to the commission finds that the railroad company has remedied the matter and then lets the matter drop, the commission not receiving any further information on the subject. The new rule will effectively stop such procedure, it is believed. The position taken by the commission in its annual report relative to the holding of a railroad company to a quoted rate, although it may vary from a published rate, has attracted much attention. This stand, which is decidedly different from that of the Interstate Commerce commission, will probably result in closer attention to published tariffs than has been given hitherto. The commissioners believe that their comment upon the present confusing tariff sheets will bring about more intelligible publications.

SINGULAR ADVENTURE On last Saturday while Dr. Everitt, the well known physician of Millville, was taking an appendicitis patient to the Joseph Ratti hospital for an operation the horses ran away and caused an upset. The patient proved the hero of the hour by seizing and controlling the horses while the doctor, who was pinned under the broken sleigh, managed to extricate himself. The patient was Matthew Lawton, a well known resident of Millville. He was in a very serious condition and prompt action was necessary. Dr. Everitt telephoned to the hospital to have everything in readiness for immediate operation and at once started for Bloomsburg with the patient. Unfortunately the physician was disabled as the effect of fractured wrist. All went well until they reached a point near Mordansville, when the horses took fright and ran away. The sleigh was upset and badly broken the doctor being pinned underneath the wreckage. At this juncture Mr. Lawton, for the moment forgetting his pain and keenly alive to the doctor's peril flew to the horse's heads and succeeded in quieting them while his companion crawled out from under the sleigh. Another sleigh was procured and physician and patient continued their way to the hospital.

Do You Get Up With a Lame Back?

Kidney Trouble Makes You Miserable. Almost everyone knows of Dr. Kilmer's Swamp-Root, the great kidney, liver and bladder remedy, because of its remarkable health restoring properties. Swamp-Root cures kidney trouble almost every wish in overcoming rheumatism, pain in the back, kidneys, liver, bladder and every part of the urinary passage. It corrects inability to hold water and scalding pain in passing, or bad effects following use of liquor, wine or beer, and overcomes that unpleasant necessity of being compelled to go often through the day, and to get up many times during the night. Swamp-Root is not recommended for everything but if you have kidney, liver or bladder trouble, it will be found just the remedy you need. It has been thoroughly tested in private practice, and has proved so successful that a special arrangement has been made by which all readers of this paper, who have not already tried it, may have a sample bottle sent free by mail, also a book telling more about Swamp-Root, and how to find out if you have kidney or bladder trouble. When writing mention reading this generous offer in this paper and send your address to Dr. Kilmer & Co., Home 517 Broadway, Binghamton, N. Y. The regular fifty-cent and one-dollar size bottles are sold by all druggists. Don't make any mistake but remember the name, Swamp-Root, Dr. Kilmer's Swamp-Root, and the address, Binghamton, N. Y., on every bottle.

6,000 PHILA CAR MEN WILL STRIKE

PHILADELPHIA, Jan. 19. Six thousand street car men of the Philadelphia Rapid Transit company voted to go on a strike at once. Mayor Reyburn announced today that he would run the cars with policemen and firemen. He says that the street car line is for the service of the public and that therefore the men in the employ of the public should be pressed into service to operate. Last the employes of the company should make trouble, the mayor has also provided six cases of rifles to overawe the strikers and prevent a disturbance, or to beat them back if they attempt to stop the cars. The men voted throughout the night, holding secret sessions, and did not finish until four o'clock this morning. The men claim the company did not act in good faith.

REAPING BENEFIT From the Experience of Danville People. We are fortunate indeed to be able to profit by the experience of our neighbors. The public utterances of Danville residents on the following subject will interest and benefit thousands of our readers. Read this statement. No better proof can be had. Mrs. William Robenolt, 304 Church St., Danville, Pa., says: "I do not think there is a kidney remedy on the market equal to Doan's Kidney Pills. I suffered a great deal from kidney complaint and backache and whenever I brought any strain on the muscles of my loins, such as is done when stooping or lifting, sharp pains would catch me through my loins. Doan's Kidney Pills, which I procured at Hunt's drug store, disposed of every symptom of the trouble. I could not have hoped for greater benefit than I received."

In addition hundreds of people signed pledges never to play cards or dance again. After the last service twelve young men went to the room of the revivalist and tossing a pack of cards at his feet promised never to play with them again. Later ten young women called to pledge themselves to dance no more. It is a dangerous thing to take a cough medicine containing opiates that merely stifle your cough instead of curing it.
