MANY DELEGATES AT CONVENTION

Despite the inclement weather, which made it almost impossible for the delegates living in the rural districts to reach town, there was a large attendance at the annual Bi-County convention of the P. O. S. of A., which assembled in the rooms of Washington Camp, No. 319, Bloomsburg, Tuesday morning.

President Jacob Stiner opened the morning session and in a few well chosen remarks introduced W. W. Evans, who welcomed the delegates to Bloomsburg, Dr. L. B. Kline, of Catawissa, gave the response. After several other talks by various delegates, the president appointed the following committees:

Credentials—E. V. Ent, A. N. Sheerer, A. J. McHenry. Resolutions—Dr. L. B. Kline, J. E. Snyder, F. W. Gearhart. Press—Samuel Kashner, W. H. Kuchner, Francis Good.

Riverside, 567—Joseph Reed. At the afternoon session which convened at 2 o'clock, the first business was the election of officers and the selection of the next place of meeting. Fairmount Springs was chosen for the next convention, which will be held on February 23, 1911.

The officers elected were as follows: President, Dr. L. B. Kline, of Catawissa; Vice President, J. P. Laubach, Fairmount Springs; Master of Forms, J. E. Snyder, Millville; Secretaries, E. A. Brown, of Light Street; W. P. Zetser, of Mainville; J. V. Wilson, of Danville; Treasurer, A. U. Leshar, of Berwick; Chaplain, Rev. I. M. Bachman, Nanticoke; Conductor, Phillip Unangst, Berwick; Inspector, George Wertman, Danville; Outer Guard, Francis Good, Danville.

BOUGHT JEWELRY STORE. Cleaver W. Wagner has bought out J. W. Lore, the Mill street jeweler, and will assume charge of the business about March 1st.

OPENING GUTTERS ON MILL STREET

The thaw Monday afforded an opportunity to remove a good deal of the ice from the sidewalks and gutters, where it has lain in a thick mass for some weeks.

The street commissioner for the first thing Monday morning put the borough employes at work opening up the gutters on Mill street in order to drain off the water, which was beginning to overflow the sidewalks.

On the other streets of town the gutters as a rule are blocked with snow and the sidewalks are in a bad condition as the result. With a large proportion of people it seems to be a mooted question upon whom the removal of the snow from the gutters devolves—the borough or the owner of the tenancy occupying the property.

That the borough does open the gutters in some instances was evidenced by the work done on Mill street Monday. It would seem, however, that work done by the borough in this line can not be taken as a precedent.

The matter was threshed over at the last meeting of council. The borough ordinance is not difficult to interpret. The language plainly sets forth that it is the duty of owners or occupants of property to keep the "pavements, footwalks and gutters" of their respective properties free from snow.

THE SOOTHING SPRAY OF Ely's Liquid Cream Balm, "used in an automizer, is an unspeakable relief to sufferers from Catarrh. Some of them describe it as a Godsend, and no wonder. The thick, foul discharge is dislodged and the patient breathes freely, perhaps for the first time in weeks.

MARRIED IN NEW YORK

David Steiner, the well-known proprietor of the liquor store, Mill street, was married in New York City on Sunday, the bride being Miss Dora Mandellberg, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Sigmund Mandellberg, who are prominent among the Jewish societies of New York.

HORSE BADLY HURT

A horse belonging to William Rebnuck was badly injured on the Pennsylvania railroad crossing on the south side Monday morning. As he was being driven over the track along with another horse one of his hind feet became wedged fast between the rail and the plank on the crossing.

Many Quail Lost.

Heavy loss of game birds because of the severity of the winter is feared by State game authorities, who say that hundreds of quail and other birds must have perished because of the deep snow and the inability to get food. In many sections quail were saved by sportsmen who trapped and fed them, while numerous farmers have systematically cared for the birds.

New Flat Boat.

Peter G. Baylor has built a large flat boat to be used in connection with his coal dredge next summer. It is 45 feet, 10 inches long, 12 feet wide and 22 inches deep. It is now ready for launching.

Out Again.

William T. Shepperson, of Riverside, is able to be out again after a two weeks' illness of neuralgia.

IN PRISON AT WILKES-BARRE

The individual, who fleeced several of our merchants Wednesday by means of bogus checks, is in all probability under arrest in Luzerne county. A fellow who gave his name as Peter Daley was taken into custody in Nanticoke, Friday, for trying to work a similar game on B. Levy & Bro. of that place.

Daley or Dalaney as he was known in Danville, bargained for a suit of clothes of B. Levy and Bro. on Friday afternoon, presenting a check for fifteen dollars, which at once aroused the merchant's suspicion. Daley was arrested and taken before Justice of the Peace Burnett of Nanticoke charged with forgery. In default of five hundred dollars bail he was committed to jail at Wilkes-Barre.

Chief of Police Mincemeyer Saturday morning was in communication over the phone with B. Levy and Bro., of Nanticoke, the firm that accomplished Daley's arrest. There is no doubt in the officer's mind that Daley is the same fellow who fleeced Danville merchants last Wednesday. No action looking to Daley's prosecution will be taken in this county at present, as Chief Mincemeyer was assured by B. Levy and Bro. that they have a first class case against the swindler and will see to it that he is prosecuted to the full extremity of the law.

An overcoat identified as the one taken from R. L. Marks in this city was in Daley's possession when he was arrested and will probably be returned to the owner. B. Levy, who caught Daley at his fraudulent game, about fourteen years ago conducted the clothing business in Danville. He was located on Mill street in the room now occupied by Lowenstein Bros.

"THE THIRD DEGREE"

The following is a clipping from "The Scranton Tribune-Republican" of the issue of February 23 in criticism of "The Third Degree." "Again thanks to the Lyceum management, this time for "The Third Degree," presented as it would be and for so many months was on Broadway.

"There are those who said "The Third Degree" was the best play Charles Klein has written. Like Klein's other plays, it is built on something—this time the foundation being the evil of persecution snuffing prosecution in the criminal courts, with inconceivably ambitious police and unscrupulous yellow journals linked as persecutors. The process of "sweating" prisoners to make confessions, and the work of the yellow press in recklessly blackening the character of the accused "to make a story" are properly lambasted in this play.

"In the company playing here are George Sumner, Charles Hill Mailles, Gladden James, Alfred Moore, Lawrence Edinger, Marion Kerby and Eleanor Lyons. Nothing better in the way of artistic delineation of a difficult part could be asked than Miss Kerby's work in this play."

EXPENSE ACCOUNT FILED

The campaign expenses of Clarence Price, councilman-elect of the third ward, were very small. His expense account filed at the office of Prothonotary Vincent Tuesday reads as follows: "I, Clarence Price of the borough of Danville, county of Montour, State of Pennsylvania, do swear that the cost of my nomination and election to the town council of the borough of Danville was just ten cents, I having given the same to my grandfather."

Ice House Full.

J. A. Lawrence Monday stated that his new ice house on the cinder tip is full to the roof. According to his estimate the building contains 1350 tons of ice. It is of good quality, he says, ranging in thickness from ten to twelve inches.

FORMER PASTOR AT THE GROVE

One of the ablest and withal one of the most fascinating sermons heard in this city in a long time was preached in Grove Presbyterian church Sunday morning by the Rev. Elliott C. Armstrong, pastor of the Central Presbyterian church of Williamsport.

The sermon related to prayer and the relation of prayer to the great truths of psychology, a science which is just now looming up so prominently and is engaging the best thought of the world. Whatever view may have been held before, the sermon clearly demonstrated that psychology has quite as much in it for the Christian as for the scientist merely. To many, even those who had given the subject some study, the sermon opened up a new field of thought.

Mr. Armstrong took as his text: Hebrews, 4th Chapter, 16th verse: "Let us therefore come boldly unto the throne of grace, that we may obtain mercy and find grace to help in time of need."

Passing on from the text, which was addressed to a people that had lately become Christians and with whom there was always an inducement to return to the old faith, the speaker proceeded to a discussion of the soul's attitude in prayer, which easily led up to the subject of psychology. It is one thing, the speaker said, to use the words of prayer and another thing to enter into the spirit of prayer. He took up psychology in relation to the healing power, of the soul, but went no further than to ask whether it is a reality. As illustrating the trend of the times he said it is significant that so much study should be given to the soul of man. It is strange, too, that so much attention should be given to the subject of sleep, a state in which one-third of man's life is passed. Many sermons of the present day are being preached on the religious value of sleep.

Much attention throughout the religious world is also being given to the psychology of prayer. This study is active not only among religious people but also among others to whom it has become more and more apparent that the power of prayer is a real force—just as is electricity or steam—that certain lives are driven by it. It can and has accomplished certain great things.

In act of prayer the suppliant becomes conscious of another and a higher self, which rises to a loftier and loftier level. In prayer a fixed idea comes to dominate the soul and thus is developed a tremendous power for good. Dwelling on one thought in prayer a person comes to believe it true. In this way under the dominion of a fixed idea people have broken the chains of vice that enslaved them and great transformations of character have been wrought. We all are conscious of having within us an underlying realm of soul, which we do not understand. In the exercise of prayer this reservoir of underlying power breaks through and wells up. The phenomenon is often remarkable. Whenever there is a real and earnest prayer one becomes conscious of a power that comes up out of the depths of the soul.

The speaker described certain types of old people, which are objectionable to us. It is a matter of great moment he said, what we will be like when we grow old. Prayer may help us. It is plain that when a man begins to pray he begins to exercise control over his future—that he becomes more and more the master of the future. Prayer may be made scientific. Let a boy draw a picture of what he would like to be in the future and under the dominion of that fixed idea during the years of prayer he will grow into that very thing he aspires to be.

Mr. Armstrong left Danville sixteen years ago after a successful pastorate at the Grove church. Notwithstanding the bad walking Sunday morning a large number of his former parishioners attended service. The greetings were warm and heartfelt.

Trip to Bermudas.

Druggist G. Shoop Hunt and John Keim returned Friday morning from a ten days' trip to the Bermuda Islands. The voyage out was very stormy and they both suffered somewhat from seasickness, otherwise they found the trip most delightful.

FOUR UPSETS IN ONE DAY

As the snow and ice accumulates on the streets the trolley tracks become a source of great danger to sleighs. There were four upsets on Saturday.

John Kime met with the first accident Saturday morning. Accompanied by G. H. Arms, he had just driven over from the south side. In front of the Riverview hotel one of the sleigh runners dropped into the deep groove along side of the rail. Mr. Kime turned the horse slightly to one side when without a moment's warning over went the sleigh, turning nearly upside down. Mr. Kime and companion along with robes and the seat of the sleigh were dumped out into the snow. The horse escaped but was caught near the Montour house.

An hour or so later Walter Cobb, who drives the Grand Union Tea wagon, had an upset on East Market street near the electric light plant. To do service in winter the Grand Union wagon box is set on runners. It is a trifle top heavy and when it struck a deep rut at the trolley track it easily capsized. The driver as well as a boy accompanying him was thrown out along with a lot of packages containing tea and coffee. The horse made no attempt to run away.

During Saturday afternoon two similar accidents occurred near Schatz shoe store on East Market street. At this point a very deep rut occurs along side the trolley track. The first to upset was a sleigh containing a woman. Along with several packages she was dumped out into the snow, but soon regained her feet and ran after the horse, which she caught without much difficulty.

A few minutes later a young man and woman came along in a stylish cutter. They were also dumped out into the snow. The young man was soon upon his feet, but the woman, snugly wrapped in the robe, was helpless until assistance came. The horse, although spirited looking, made no attempt to run away.

UNIQUE TOWN LAW

A pretty question has been raised as to just how long Joseph L. Townsend, elected president of the town of Bloomsburg last Tuesday, will serve and the Attorney General will probably have to take a hand in the matter. Bloomsburg has the only town form of government in Pennsylvania, its incorporation as such being one of the pet ideas of the late Senator Charles R. Buckwalter, who was also responsible for the cumulative system of voting there.

The constitutional amendments recently adopted provide for the term of office of officers of townships, boroughs, wards and cities; but the framers of the amendments overlooked the fact that the State has a "town" within its borders, and towns are not included, as they have not been in any acts of the Assembly tending to the improvement of the municipal government in the State.

Whether Bloomsburg's newly-elected president of Council, who takes up the office the first Monday in April, will serve one year, as heretofore, or whether his office will be brought within the meaning of the constitutional amendment, and he will serve 21 months, remains to be determined by the Attorney General.

Uhl, Jr., Esq., George J. Krebs, John Snyder, Somerset, Penna., and Ralph Kiser, Esq., Charles P. Hancock and Arthur H. Woolley, of Danville, Penna. Officers: Simon Krebs, president; Charles F. Visiting Relatives Here.

William F. Gibson, of New York, who grew to manhood on a farm near Mooresburg, is spending several weeks with friends and relatives in this vicinity. He left this section at the outbreak of the Civil War and served two enlistments in the Union army. He is at present visiting his brother-in-law, Daniel Keim, Vine street.

Purchased Drug Store.

Frank Straub, for some years past druggist at the hospital for the insane, has purchased George A. Rossman's drug store and will take possession March 1st. Mr. Rossman, who has been in business in this city for twelve years past, will remove to Sunbury. Beyond this he has formed no plans for the future.

The present month contains no more holidays.

TO KEEP UP GAME SUPPLY

To a little coterie of Danville sportsmen belongs the credit of originating a movement to "plant" a lot of Hungarian quail in this immediate section under conditions that will insure their absolute protection for several years.

The prime movers are M. H. Schram, Robert Y. Gearhart and Ralph Kiser, Esq. In the first place it hardly admits of doubt that quail have suffered greatly during the present severe winter. Large numbers have died, and it is not improbable that they will be found practically extinct in this section next spring. Hence the necessity for rehabilitating the quail. In the choice of birds these times all instinctively turn to the Hungarian quail, which is larger than the American quail, approximating a pheasant in size.

The weather in Hungary is of about the same degree of severity as in Pennsylvania and the natural assumption would be that birds which thrive in Hungary ought to do well here. Large numbers have already been brought over and so far as can be learned they have proven hardy and adapted to the climate.

At Yardsly, this State, Hungarian quail are being propagated by private individuals for the purpose of "planting." The business is conducted for profit, however, and the price charged for the birds is simply prohibitive, namely, nine dollars per pair.

Mr. Kiser wrote to Dr. Joseph Kalbfus, secretary of the State game commission and the reply, received Thursday, heartily endorses the movement. In view of the high price charged for Hungarian quail in this country, Dr. Kalbfus says the sportsmen of some other states have combined and sent an agent to Hungary for the purpose of bringing over birds, two thousand or more at a time. Thus they are able to pay expenses and supply birds at much less cost than is charged by the people at Yardsly. Dr. Kalbfus commends the Danville sportsmen for the interest they are taking in the matter of supplying game and assures them that the State game commission will do everything in its power to assist in the protection of the birds that may be introduced.

Acting on the suggestion found in Dr. Kalbfus' letter Mr. Kiser at once wrote to a gentleman of influence in Hungary with whom he has had correspondence and who is so situated as to be of service to the Danville sportsmen. Further action in the premises will be postponed until a reply from this gentleman is received.

If the quail can be obtained the Danville sportsmen will organize themselves into a game protective association subsidiary to the State game commission. Before taking the first step several farmers, whose land is well adapted to the propagation of quail, were interested in the proposition. The Hungarian quail will be planted on these farms, which in addition to the protection due the owner under the law will have special protection from the local game protective association.

FIRST CLASS PRODUCTION

In everything that goes to the making of a finished and artistic performance, and in the presenting of an enjoyable entertainment, the Chas. K. Champlin company excels any of the companies that have appeared here in repertoire.

In abilities of those constituting the cast; in the cleverness of the portrayal of character; and in the scenic garniture, the company if not offered at popular prices, might well hold place among the higher priced attractions. Last night's production was David Belasco's "The Charity Ball." Another large audience witnessed the performance and made unanimous proclamation of its pleasure and satisfaction. No company that has ever appeared here in repertoire has established itself in more popular regard with the theatre patrons. The eight fine vaudeville acts are alone a show in themselves.

Trains Must Give Warning.

In charging the jury in civil court at Sunbury yesterday in the suit of E. C. Haas and Chas. McMann, of Shamokin, vs. the Pennsylvania railroad to recover damages for injuries received by the plaintiffs, Judge Auten said that if the trainmen complied with the law in ringing the bell and blowing the whistle, as they say they did, on approaching the crossing where the train and two plaintiffs were hit, then the company is not at fault and the plaintiffs are not entitled to damages. If no proper warning was given then damages may be given.

A New Railroad.

Dauphin and Schuylkill counties are to have a new railroad, running north-east through the coal fields from Millersburg, Dauphin county, to Ashland, Schuylkill county, tapping a portion of the coal fields that have hitherto not had railroad facilities. The incorporators are mostly non-residents of either county.

Lancaster's First Presbyterian church will purchase a $30,000 parsonage for its pastor.

WASHINGTON-LINCOLN DAY

Friday was observed as Washington-Lincoln Day and Parents' day in the public schools of Danville. The programs rendered were appropriate and revealed the degrees of interest taken in the subject by teachers and pupils alike.

The programs were rendered between two and three o'clock. Visitors began to appear at 1 o'clock. They put in the time very pleasantly examining the pupils' papers exhibited, which represented the everyday work done in the schools. No one could but be pleased with the accuracy, the tidiness and the painstaking care revealed by the papers. The exercises, too, were of a character which could not help but favorably impress the visitor.

The programs consisted of recitations, singing, reading, &c., the selections all having reference to Washington or Lincoln. Here and there in the lower grades two schools combined and gave the exercises in one room. In nearly all the rooms Washington's and Lincoln's portrait were in evidence.

In the first ward the high school with its advanced work and excellent equipment proved an additional attraction. The two literary societies held a joint session, the program being appropriate to the occasion. The department of Science and Mathematics was the objective point of most visitors after the programs had been rendered. Here Mr. A. B. Moyer gave a practical demonstration of wireless telegraphy, using the excellent and modern apparatus installed a few years ago.

The department of Biology and Mathematics taught by Mr. J. H. Gaskin, was quite as interesting to visitors. The work of the class in botany especially formed a most striking exhibit.

In the commercial department, taught by Mr. Magill, the typewriting class gave an exhibition of speed and general proficiency. The spectacle of so many machines in operation at the same time proved quite a novel one.

DO IT NOW

Danville People Should Not Wait Until It Is Too Late.

The appalling death-rate from kidney disease is due in most cases to the fact that the little kidney troubles are usually neglected until they become serious. The slight symptoms give place to chronic disorders and the sufferer goes gradually into the grasp of diabetes, dropsy, Bright's disease, gravel or some other serious form of kidney complaint. If you suffer from backache, headaches, dizzy spells; if the kidney secretions are irregular of passage and unnatural in appearance, do not delay. Help the kidneys at once.

Doan's Kidney Pills are especially for kidney disorders—they cure where others fail. Over one hundred thousand people have recommended them. Here's a case at home: A. W. Brecher, 311 Front Street, Danville, Pa., says: "When I caught cold it generally settled in my kidneys and disordered these organs. I tried several kidney remedies but Doan's Kidney Pills, procured from Hunt's Drug Store, gave me the greatest benefit. I know them to be an effective kidney tonic and far superior to the other kidney medicines on the market."

For sale by all dealers. Price 50 cents. Foster-Milburn Co., Buffalo, New York, sole agents for the United States. Remember the name—Doan's—and take no other.

MARRIED AT ILOILO

Announcement of the marriage of Mrs. Elizabeth Mary Brinton to John Bordin, Jr., at Iloilo, Philippine Islands, reached this city Friday. The wedding was solemnized on January 5, 1910. The bride as Mrs. Brinton was well known and had many friends in Danville, where her early life was spent. For several years prior to her marriage she was nurse in the Union Mission Hospital at Iloilo, Island of Panay.

The groom is an attorney at law. Mr. and Mrs. Bordin will reside on the Islands. More people are taking Foley's Kidney Remedy every year. It is considered the most effective remedy for all kidney and bladder troubles that medical science can devise. Foley's Kidney Remedy corrects irregularities, builds up the system and restores lost vitality. For sale by Paules & Co. Pharmacy.

Small Pox Warning.

Dr. Samuel G. Dixon Friday issued a warning against smallpox of which there are now 84 cases in the State. He says: "The present cases are of a modified type, the first symptoms much resembling an ordinary attack of the grip. This fact is apt to lead to careless handling of the cases and thus the spread of the infection. To save the State from a general epidemic and preserve the great record which Pennsylvania has enjoyed the past two years by its freedom from the disease, I cannot urge too strongly the necessity of all health officers and physicians throughout the State being on their guard for the first symptoms of the disease."

Hoarse Coughs, Stuffy Colds.

Pain in chest and sore lungs, are symptoms that quickly develop into a dangerous illness if the cold is not cured. Foley's Honey and Tar stops the cough, heals and eases the congested parts, and brings quick relief. For sale by Paules & Co. Pharmacy.
