THE FARMER AND THE AUTO

The number of automobiles owned by farmers is growing rapidly. The Travel Magazine says out of 10,000 antomobiles in Iowa, 5000, are owned by farmers. Kansas farmers spent $3,-200,000 for automobiles during 1909, and $2,750,000 in 1908. In one Nebraska town of 800 population, forty automobiles were sold last year to farmers near the town and retired farmers in the town. Careful estimates of farmers in the entire United States is Nowadays there is no more cry about lack of opportunity on the farm. Sixteen automobile makers are advertising automobiles to the farmer in the 450 farm papers in the country, and most of them are arguing that the automobile will keep the boy on the farm, and make life more livable for the wife, whose dreary round of labor has been the pity of the country. Now the farmer with an automobile can take his family for an evening call, or lecture, without using his horses. He can go to church on Sunday more regularly, he can visit distant relatives and friends more frequently; he can go to town oftener and more quickly. There are 48,000,000 people living on farms and in towns of less than 4,000 in this country. This means that over half of our population is practically in the country. About 25,000,000 of these are young people, and they are just as keen for pleasure as young people anywhere else. That is one big reason for the automobile on the farm. Ten or fifteen years ago farmers bought organs for their daughters and buggies for their sons. A great many of them are today buying automobiles for the whole family. An entirely new meaning has been given to the village social life in consequence.

Mrs. P. A. Winters, 200 E. Front Street, Danville, Pa., says: I value a Doan's Kidney Pills highly in view of the benefit I received from their use. There was a constant pain in the small of my back, extending into my shoulders and the trouble was always worse after a hard day's work. My strength left me and I felt all worn out. Doan's Kidney Pills, which were procured at Hunt's Drug Store, acted as a tonic to my entire system and whenever I have taken them since then, they have brought relief from kidney disorders."

GETTING READY

Judging from the number of people who expect to have electric displays in front of their residences and business places during the week of the Six-County firemen's convention in June, the electric light companies will be taxed to their utmost to supply the necessary illumination. While many are of the opinion that there will be but one "big day," they may be agreeably mistaken, as already a number of business men are quietly oliciting subscriptions to be offered as prizes for the other parades which will be held that week. It is intended to have Marathon races, civic parades, industrial and business men's demonstrations. The merchants, who are arranging to have a strong organization will, in a short time, make known their plans. They want the co-operation of everybody in making the week the greatest in the history of the town. It will not, however, in any way interfere with the firemen or their parade, but on the other hand will contribute to the success of the conven-

BAD FIRE IN BLOOMSBURG

A fire of unknown origin broke out in Bloomsburg Sunday morning, in which a dwelling was partially burned and four barns along with much of their contents destroyed, causing a total loss of about $12,000 partially covered by insurance.

The fire was located in the heart of the residential part of the town at the rear of the First Presbyterian church on Market street. It originated in the barn of William E. Hartman shortly after 4 o'clock and spread successively to the barns of Jacob Keller, Jerry Hess and Fred M. Gilmore. From the the dwelling on the same lot owned by on Murray alley, the house around the corner on Anthony alley.

Thrilling incidents abounded. William E. Hartman is the owner of the bus line running to the Pennsylvania Nanticoke. station. In this barn, beside his wagons, harness and a large supply of Thomas Swanberry of Wanamie; Fred feed, were five horses. When the fire Jenkins of Dunmore and Joseph Hunwas discovered the upper part of the Chief Burgess Strolis is preparing Boon, whose residence is situated near, was the first to reach the scene of the He was immediately followed by Mr. Hartman. They arrived just in the nick of time to save the horses. Mr. Hartman dashed into the burning ceeded in leading out one of the horses. Mr. Hartman is afflicted with heart much for him; he fell to the ground insensible. At this juncture Mr. Boone proved a hero. At the first sight of the fire he had hurried out of his house without shoes. When Mr. Hartman gave out, in his bare feet he dashed into the stable over the burning straw. By this time the horses' manes were on fire and their halter straps were here that week, judging from the many burned. He delivered one of the horses to Mrs. Hartman, who stood at the door and returning again and again through the fire succeeded in getting out all three of the remaining horses.

By this time the fire had spread to union of former townspeople will the adjoining barn, where four horses were stabled belonging to the proprietor of the Reading bus line. horses, along with a number of carriages, wagons, harness, etc., were say
