SUDDEN DEATH OF MISSIONARY

Our readers will be pained to learn of the sudden and unexpected death of Miss Anna R. Limberger, the missionary, who died at the Koser Hospital, Williamsport, at six o'clock Sunday evening following an operation performed Friday.

DANVILLE TOOK TWO FROM ALDEN

After threatening to drive base ball fans to cover for the second time in two days, the weather man turned off the tap just in time Saturday afternoon to allow the double header festivities to proceed according to schedule.

The results of 9 to 1 and 4 to 1 victories for Danville, although not unexpected, were nevertheless highly gratifying. Considering the weather, which did not cease at any time to be threatening, the crowd that turned out was remarkably large.

The newest recruit, Pitcher Earl Ainsworth, in whom Danville people are more than ordinarily interested on account of the popularity in this town of his brother, former Physical Director James C. Ainsworth, did the twirling in the curtain raiser.

The big noise of the afternoon was made by "Buck" Umlauf, who, although down in the lineup as playing short stop, was all over the diamond and outfield making the most amazing plays. He also helped out with three singles. The stars at the bat, however, were Hagy and Veith.

Second Game. In the second game the scoring did not begin until the third, although in the first two Danville had four men left on base and it was plain to all that it was only a matter of time until things broke.

In the third Livengood opened with a single through short and advanced on Niple's sacrifice and scored on Wagner's hit to left. Hagy made the second out on fly to short. Veith got his base on Smith's error, Wagner scoring. Veith going to second on the play. Veith scored on Mackert's hit and the latter was caught stealing second.

Danville got one more tally in the fifth when Hagy and Veith both drove the ball over the right field fence. Alden's only score came in the sixth when two passes were followed by a run batted in.

Brannen, in spite of a sprained ankle which has not entirely mended, assumed the role of slab artist in the second game. He held the visitors harmless without apparent effort and insisted upon administering strike outs at critical moments. In addition Brannen caught a line drive from the bat of Loftus that seemed to surprise the pitcher as much as it did the fans.

MEMORIAL DAY PROCLAMATION

The governor of Indiana, Thomas R. Marshall, has issued a Memorial Day proclamation, which we take pleasure in reproducing, for it is well worth the reading, and in carrying out the directions of its author:

"Death is the arch-gleaner in the fields of time. Each day is harvest day and each soul is ripened grain. Windrow after windrow, he mows down the human race. He spares not young man nor maiden nor him who stoops with age. Each going down leaves a void unfilled in some human breast; but the patriot's death sobers and fills with sorrow the nation's heart. If the blood of martyrs is the seed of the church, then the life and death of the soldier who offered his life as a willing sacrifice for the preservation of the Union, must remain the most fruitful germ in the formation of American character. It is well for a people to live in the present and to plan for the future, but it is ill for a people to forget the past. Thus far, in our history, we have not ceased to remember the toil, devotion and sacrifice of the living and the dead who, from '61 to '65, counted all else naught if thereby they might preserve the union of the states. Year by year, with the beauty of the lily and the fragrance of the rose, we seek to voice above their graves the gratitude of the American to the hero of that age. Only a few now stand near the portals of that door which never outward swings. This year as they bend with tears the graves of their long-gone companions in arms, let the people of Indiana reverently lay aside their usual avocations and join in this solemn service. Let them make the day one of solemn consecration to the rights of men and of saddened reverence for that shedding of blood, without which, thus far, in the world's history, there has been no remission of sin. In the hope that such will be the character of the day, I, Thomas R. Marshall, governor of the state of Indiana, do hereby designate and set apart Monday, May 30, 1910, as Memorial day, and do proclaim the same to be a legal holiday throughout the state. May all that is said that day come from lips aflame with patriotism and hearts aglow with love for the hero dead and the hero living."

These words are fitly spoken, calculated to touch the hearts of the people, and bring them in tune with the day and what it commemorates. Should the issuing of a Memorial day proclamation by the governors of states become universal, as it should, it could not be expected that the average executive would do as well as this.

14 ARRESTED FOR TRESPASSING

Fourteen young men and boys were arraigned before Justice of the Peace Dalton Saturday evening charged with trespassing on the D. L. & W. railroad. In each instance the fine of ten dollars was remitted but the defendants were held for the costs.

The information was lodged by W. A. Adamson, special officer of the D. L. & W. railroad company, the warrants being served by Officers Mince-moyer, Voris and Young, of this city. The hearing took place during the evening. Special Officer Adamson explained to a representative of this paper that wholesale arrests had been contemplated for some time. To prevent trespassing the D. L. & W. company has posted notices on its property here. These trespass notices, the officer explained, are generally unheeded, and during base ball games it has been a common spectacle to see men and boys not only climbing over the freight cars but also perched on the water tank, the top of which is reached by a ladder affixed to the structure.

The arrests took place Saturday evening after the base ball game, when not only were the cars and the tank crowded by those who wished to witness the sport free of cost but also the deposit of cinder in the canal at the gas works, which forms a vantage point. The D. L. & W. company is determined that trespassing must cease whether on the canal property or the railroad. It being the first offense the fines were remitted Saturday. Those who fail to take warning, however, it is stated, will be obliged to pay the full penalty—fine and costs.

Of those arrested five were charged with trespassing on the cars. The cost on being divided among the number gave each $1.71 as his share. Nine were charged with trespassing on the water tank. In this group the cost on being divided gave each $1.40.

NOT THE BODY OF JOS. KELLY

Joseph M. Kelly, the young junk dealer of this city, who was reported drowned last week, is probably still among the living. The grave was dug, the pallbearers were selected and other arrangements for the obsequies had been perfected, when it was discovered that the body found in the river near Lancaster was not that of Joseph M. Kelly, but of some other person whose identification has not been established. Meanwhile the case has developed into one of deep mystery, which could be unraveled only by the genius of a keen detective.

On Saturday morning Peter Kelly, father of Joseph M. Kelly, accompanied by William L. Roat, undertaker, went to Lancaster for the purpose of identifying and bringing home the body. Arriving at Lancaster and meeting the coroner they learned that the body was at Conestoga, a place some nine miles from Lancaster. To Conestoga they proceeded and hunted up the undertaker who had charge of the body.

Imagine their surprise when the casket was opened and they saw before them not the familiar features of the youthful Joseph but instead those of a man at least sixty years of age, who was partially bald and whose hair and mustache were grey. The one circumstance that is enshrouded in mystery and led to the identification of the remains as those of Joseph M. Kelly, of our town, is the fact that on the body was found an identification blank carefully filled out, as follows:

"My name is Joseph M. Kelly. My address is Danville, Montour county, Pennsylvania. In case of accident or of serious illness please notify Mrs. Joseph M. Kelly, Danville Pa."

The handwriting was neatly executed. How the identification card happened to get into the pocket of the drowned man no one can conjecture. The whereabouts of Joseph M. Kelly up to yesterday were as great a mystery. Add to these circumstances the fact that the body of the drowned man was without any means of identification and we have a complication of strange and mysterious incidents as baffling as any that are found in modern detective stories.

The body was not found in the river proper, but rather in a basin-like depression along shore, on one side of which the river bank formed a steep declivity. From appearances the man had fallen down over the river bank and sunk headfirst into the mud and water. The body was discovered about half a day after death had occurred.

The drowned man was poorly dressed, with the exception of a Stetson hat, nearly new. There were no indications of violence about the body. Neither Mr. Kelly nor the undertaker had ever seen the man before.

On Saturday a grave was dug in Odd Fellows' cemetery here to receive the body. The pall bearers for the funeral were selected.

Upon returning to Lancaster Saturday evening Peter Kelly at once sent a message to Danville conveying the information that the body was not that of Joseph M. Kelly. On the 10:30 Pennsylvania train yesterday Kelly and the undertaker returned to Danville, when all the facts as above stated were learned.

POSTPONED ACTION ON HOME FOR OLD

The proposed extension of the Odd Fellows' orphanage at Weigh scales, near Sunbury, to make a home there for aged members of the order as well as for the orphans, will not take place this year. A motion was passed at the session of the grand lodge at Williamsport, Friday, postponing for a year action on the recommendation of the committee on homes and kindred charities, providing for an aged home. To the Sunbury orphanage was given $2,500 for maintenance.

Later in the session a motion was passed that all the recommendations concerning the Sunbury home be postponed a year, with the exception of the amendments which were adopted by the home at the meeting held last winter. These amendments are that the stated meetings of the corporation be held on the second Tuesday of each July of each year, and that the board of directors shall meet at the home on Monday, preceding the second Tuesday of each July. The grand lodge passed a motion that the Sunbury home be privileged to pass these amendments. Heretofore these meetings have been held in February of each year, which is always a disagreeable time for holding conventions.

The grand lodge adjourned to meet in Wilkes-Barre in 1911.

Women as Well as Men are Made Miserable by Kidney and Bladder Trouble.

Kidney trouble preys upon the mind, discourages and saps energy; beauty, vigor and cheerfulness soon disappear when the kidneys are out of order or diseased. Kidney trouble has become so prevalent that it is not uncommon for a child to be born afflicted with weak kidneys. If the child urinates too often, if the urine scalds the flesh, or if, when the child reaches an age when it should be able to control the passage, it is yet afflicted with bed-wetting, depend upon it, the cause of the difficulty is kidney trouble, and the first step should be towards the treatment of these important organs. This unpleasant trouble is due to a diseased condition of the kidneys and bladder and not to a habit as most people suppose. Women as well as men are made miserable with kidney and bladder trouble, and both need the same great remedy. The mild and the immediate effect of Swamp-Root is soon realized. It is sold by druggists, in fifty-cent and one-dollar size bottles. You may have a sample bottle by mail free, also a pamphlet telling all about Swamp-Root. Names of Swamp-Root including many of the thousands of testimonial letters received from sufferers who found Swamp-Root to be just the remedy needed. In writing Dr. Kilmer & Co., Binghamton, N. Y., be sure and mention this paper. Don't make any mistake, but remember the name, Dr. Kilmer's Swamp-Root, and the address, Binghamton, N. Y., on every bottle.

TAKING THE EXAMINATION

The present is the last week of the present school term. Examinations are in progress. It was learned Monday that out of 150 pupils in the high school 11 failed to attain the average of 85 per cent necessary to secure promotion and were, therefore, obliged to take the examination.

In the grades about 10 per cent of all the pupils enrolled failed to attain 80 per cent. In the grammar schools the examinations began last Thursday in order that they might be completed by Thursday of this week, when commencement will be held in that grade. In the senior secondary schools examinations will begin today.

It is also learned that among those who take the examination the percent age of failures is rather large. It is found that very often the same cause that kept the pupils' average down during the term militates against success in the examinations. It may be ill health, lack of application or some other cause.

In the high school out of 163 students enrolled 16 dropped out during the term. A record shows that in practically every instance the student left for reasons that did not reflect in the least on the conduct of the school. It is in the senior secondary and grammar schools that probably the larger number of pupils drop out during the school term, as when enrolled in those schools they have reached an age when they may leave to enter some employment. A few schools the present year have lost very heavily while others report the loss of only a couple of pupils.

In other words, the chance of a passenger losing his life in an accident on the Pennsylvania road system was one out of 300,000,000.
