

CO-WORKERS WITH MISS LIMBERGER

The funeral of Miss Anna Limberger, the missionary, took place from the residence of Charles Limberger, father of the deceased, West Mahoning street, yesterday afternoon. There was a large attendance.

Among those who gathered around the bier of the devoted woman, who had given practically all of her adult life to the cause of foreign missions, were the Rev. Dr. Butler and the Rev. R. A. Carhart of Mexico City, both co-laborers with Miss Limberger, the former being at the head of missionary work in Mexico. By a coincidence both the above gentlemen happened to be in this country attending the World's Sabbath School Convention at Washington, D. C., when Miss Limberger's death occurred and thus it was rendered possible for them to be present at her obsequies.

OFFICIATING CLERGYMEN.

The funeral services were conducted by the Rev. George S. Womer, pastor of St. Paul's Methodist Episcopal church, of which Miss Limberger was a member practically all her life. Mr. Womer was assisted by the Rev. W. P. Eveland of Williamsport, formerly of Danville, as well as by Dr. Butler and Rev. R. A. Carhart of Mexico.

The pall bearers were: Sam A. McCoy, Fred W. Jacobs, Thomas G. Vincent, Dr. E. A. Curry, Frank Jameson and Frank G. Schoch. Interment was made in Odd Fellows' cemetery.

Among the persons from out of town that attended the funeral were: Joseph Limberger, Mrs. Lucy Limberger, of West Chester; John Limberger, wife and daughter, Mrs. Glen, Mrs. Mary Purdy, Mrs. Truman Purdy, of Sunbury; Mr. and Mrs. John R. Sharpless, Mrs. Bakesless, Miss Cope and Mrs. Shuman of Bloomsburg.

No Toadying.

Among the good old ways of "merrie England" is the tendency to democracy prevailing in her boys' schools. Parents can be assured, it is said, that no pampering will fall to the lot of their sons, however exalted may be their rank or great their possessions. An English paper tells the story of an Indian official of high rank calling upon the house master in a famous public school, where a young prince, son of a rajah, was being educated. This official brought a special message from his master, the rajah, to the effect that he wanted no favors or exceptional treatment of any sort extended to his son on account of his exalted birth.

"You may set the mind of the rajah at rest on that score," said the house master, struggling to keep back his smile before the dignified anxiety of the Indian official. "The authorities were inclined to discriminate in the prince's favor, the boys of the school would generally set the rajah's son answers to the name of 'Nigger,' and I understand that with his intimates he is familiarly known as 'Coal Scuttle.'"

Sinister Motives.

Two men—William Jones and John Smith—were neighbors and deadly enemies. They often crossed swords in court and out of it, and Jones, being what might be called more clever than Smith, invariably got the better of the encounter. In the end so cowed was Smith that the slightest move on the part of Jones made him nervous and suspicious, and with the remark, "I wonder what object he has in this?" he called up all his reserve faculties to combat the fresh attack which poor Jones never contemplated.

One day a friend called on Smith and greeted him with:

"Well, old man, have you heard the news?"

"No," said Smith. "What news?"

"Jones is dead. He died last night at midnight," replied the other.

Smith paused, drew a hard breath, raised his hand to his forehead and thought, then blurted out:

"Dead, did you say—Jones dead? Great heavens! I wonder what object he has in this?"

Taking One's Own Pulse.

Being able to "take" one's own pulse is a doubtful accomplishment, because the heart has some peculiarities the importance of which are sure to be overestimated except by physicians and much uneasiness occasioned in consequence. Irregularity of the pulse is natural to no small number of people without other signs of disease. It may also be simply a transient symptom, due to errors of habit or other causes which, disappearing, leave no trace behind them.

DECLARES COOK WILL MAKE GOOD

NEW YORK, May 25. Captain Bradley S. Osborn, secretary of the Arctic club, and closest friend of Dr. Frederick A. Cook, declared today that Dr. Cook is in Europe, that he has not been in the United States for many months and that he will return in October with positive proofs of his discovery of the pole.

Captain Osborn, himself an explorer of note, declares he has been in constant communication with Dr. Cook. "I received a letter from him post-marked 'Southampton, Eng., April 7,'" he said today, "and since that time I have seen other letters Dr. Cook has written his brother, William Cook, of Brooklyn. Dr. Cook attended a recent function in Paris. His whereabouts is no great mystery to his friends, but he will not come forward in the public eye again until he has established such irrefutable proof of his discovery of the pole that he can look any detractor in the face and say: 'You are a damned liar.' Until that time the public will know nothing of Dr. Cook or his whereabouts."

"Has Dr. Cook started for Etah, to recover his instruments and data left there by Harry Whitney at Commander Peary's order?" Osborn was asked.

"No, not yet, and I don't believe he will go in person, for then his enemies would say he tampered with them. But the instruments will be secured and the proof forthcoming."

The parties who took the flowers from the frame plot in the cemetery are known. If not stopped, they will be prosecuted.

KING OF SPAIN'S GUARD DOUBLED

MADRID, May 25. The guard about King Alfonso's palace was doubled today as a result of information obtained by the police of the existence of a formidable anarchistic plot against the king. A search of the rooms of Jose Tobarelli, the anarchist killed Monday by the premature explosion of a bomb, revealed the plot. Tobarelli, known also as Galleamyor, was an active member of a band of conspirators whom the police are now trying to run down. The police believe that Tobarelli was the first one chosen to attempt the king's assassination and that, having failed, others of the band will now be chosen by lot. The king's ministers have warned him not to appear in public unless under special guard.

SPEDDY OUTBREAK FEARED

Barcelona, May 25.—All doubt as to the existence of a plot against the life of King Alfonso was removed today by an official statement in "Land of Liberty," an anarchistic newspaper, that the recent bomb outrages, including that in Madrid Monday, were arranged by anarchists. The editor of the paper is under arrest. The boldness of the editor in admitting the plot is considered indicative of a speedy revolutionary outbreak. This city is the hotbed of anarchists and several demonstrations against the government were held today. Reinforcements for the local barracks are arriving and every precaution is being taken to prevent a repetition of the outbreak of last summer when hundreds of revolutionists were killed.

SITUATION IN NICARAGUA SERIOUS

BLUEFIELDS, Nicaragua, May 5. Fighting to the last ditch, the Estrada army is today battling with the Madrid forces in an effort to save Bluefield and prevent the capture of the custom house in the Bluffs, the gate to the port. All night the gunners of both armies kept up the duel, which started Monday night. Today the Madrid forces repeatedly charged the first division of the Estrada forces, but were driven back.

CUSTOMS HOUSE SEEMS DOOMED.

Madrid has had the advantage throughout the engagement, as his base of supplies at Greytown is keeping well in touch with the army and reinforcements are rushed to the front taking the place of men killed or wounded. The steamer Venus landed 500 men below the Bluffs of the customs house last night and bombarded the government building. The attack was renewed early today and it is believed certain the customs house must fall.

AMERICA ACTIVITY WORKING.

Americans operating machine guns have so far saved the Estrada forces from defeat. The division under General Mena is well entrenched and the Americans keep up a constant fire with the rapid fire guns. Estrada issued a statement to his men today expressing confidence of victory, but it is believed Madrid will eventually force his surrender. In that event, Madrid plans to advance to the city limits of Bluefields and demand that Commander Gilmer, of the United States gunboat Paducah, give him permission to enter the city.

Lights His Pipe in a Gale.

I write as one who has smoked in his time more matches than most people, and it will be understood how I regard the bus driver's ability in lighting a pipe. A gale may be blowing, the horses requiring special attention, his left eye engaged on the reflection of the omnibus in shop windows, a passenger inquiring who won the Derby in 1884, constables issuing directions with the right arm, a fare hailing him from the pavement, and amid all these distractions he can strike one wooden match, hold it in the curve of his hand and the tobacco is well alight. Also while hats are blowing about the streets in the manner of leaves in autumn, rarely moves from the angle decided on the first journey. I have always assumed that he takes it off at night before retiring to rest, but to part with it must mean a terrible wrench.—London Express.

A Brilliant Judge.

Steady Baker was at one time mayor of Folkestone, England. Once a boy was brought before him for stealing gooseberries, and Steady, aware of the importance of the case, turned over the pages of the alphabetically arranged "Burn's Justice" for a precedent. Falling to find one, he turned to the culprit. "My lad," said he, "it's lucky for you that you were not brought here for stealing a goose instead of for stealing gooseberries. There is a statute against stealing geese, but I can't find anything about gooseberries in all 'Burn,' so let the prisoner be discharged, for I suppose it is no offense."

Long Words.

While our language does not contain such long words as are found in some other tongues nor so many words of unusual length, still we have several that are awkwardly long for conventional purposes. We have "philoprogenitiveness," with twenty letters; "interconvertibilities," with twenty-one; "intercommunicabilities," with twenty-two; "disproportionableness," with twenty-three, and "transubstantiationists" and "contradistinctionality," each containing twenty-four letters. An effective little word is "synacategorematic," as it manages to compress eight syllables into seventeen letters. The longest monosyllables contain nine letters, and there are four examples: "splotted," "squelched," "strengths" and "stretched."—New York Tribune.

Holland.

Holland, known as North and South Holland, forms part of the northern part of the Netherlands. These provinces are composed of land rescued from the sea and defended by immense dikes. Holland was inhabited by the Batvi in the time of Caesar, who made a league with them. It became part of Gallia Belgica and afterward of the kingdom of Austria. From the tenth to the fifteenth century it was governed by counts under the German emperors. Holland was at one time a Dutch republic. It was created a kingdom in 1806, and Louis Bonaparte, father of Napoleon III, was declared king.

LANDSLIDE EAST OF TOWN

The heavy downpour of rain Tuesday afternoon caused a bad landslide on the D. L. & W. railroad near "Dry Saw Mill Hollow" east of Danville, which held up traffic for four or five hours.

The landslide, which occurred about 4 o'clock, was discovered by the engineer of the 4:33 passenger train, in time to avert an accident. At a point quite near the tank the track was covered for a distance of over nine yards with a deposit of rock and gravel, several feet in thickness.

The train ran back to Catawissa, where the Danville station was called up and notified of the landslide. Trackmen were called in at once and sent to the scene of the landslide to remove the obstruction.

When the 5:47 passenger train, east, arrived at Danville, it was held at the station. Later it proceeded up the track toward the landslide for the purpose of effecting a transfer of passengers.

Darkness came on before the track was cleared. Pieces of timber along with the heavy masses of rock imbedded in the landslide added to the difficulty. Work proceeded slowly and it was about 9 o'clock when the track was open for traffic. Meanwhile the passengers on the 4:33 train, west, and the 5:47 train, east, had been transferred and had proceeded on their way.

The First Balloons.

The chemical philosophers have discovered a body (which I have forgotten, but will inquire) which dissolved by an acid emits a vapor lighter than the atmospheric air. This vapor is caught, among other means, by tying a bladder compressed upon the bottle in which the dissolution is performed. The vapor, rising, swells the bladder and fills it. The bladder is then tied and removed and another applied till as much of this light air is collected as is wanted. Then a large spheroid case is made, and very large it must be, of the lightest matter that can be found, secured by some method like that of oiling silk against all passage of air. Into this are emptied all the bladders of light air, and if there is light air enough it mounts into the clouds upon the same principle as a bottle filled with water will sink in water, but a bottle filled with ether will float. It rises till it comes to air of equal tenacity with its own if wind or water does not spoil it on the way. Such, madam, is an air balloon.—From Dr. Johnson's Letter, Sept. 22, 1783, to Mrs. Thrale.

Beethoven's "Moonlight Sonata."

The story runs that Beethoven's "Moonlight Sonata"—always so called, though he so rarely gave a descriptive name to any of his works—was composed on an occasion when he had been playing to some stranger folk by chance. Walking with a friend, he overheard in a humble house some one playing with much feeling a bit of one of his sonatas. He paused to listen. In a moment the music ceased, and a girl spoke longingly of her wish to hear some really good concert. The voice was so appealing that the composer stepped without hesitation to the door and knocked. Admitted to the wondering host, he said, "I will play for you," and played wonderfully till the lamp burned out. Then with the moonlight filling the room he began to improvise—the mysterious delicate breathings of the beginning of that wonderful sonata, then the tricksy, elf-like second part, and the glory of the close.—Christian Science Monitor.

PENNSYLVANIA RAILROAD BULLETIN.

SUMMER VACATIONS.

The time is coming for summer outings. Have you thought about yours yet?

No country on the face of the globe contains so many delightful summer resorts as the United States, with its near neighbor, Canada.

The Pennsylvania Railroad will issue its popular Summer Excursion Book on June 1, and you will find it a wonderful help in plotting out your summer trip.

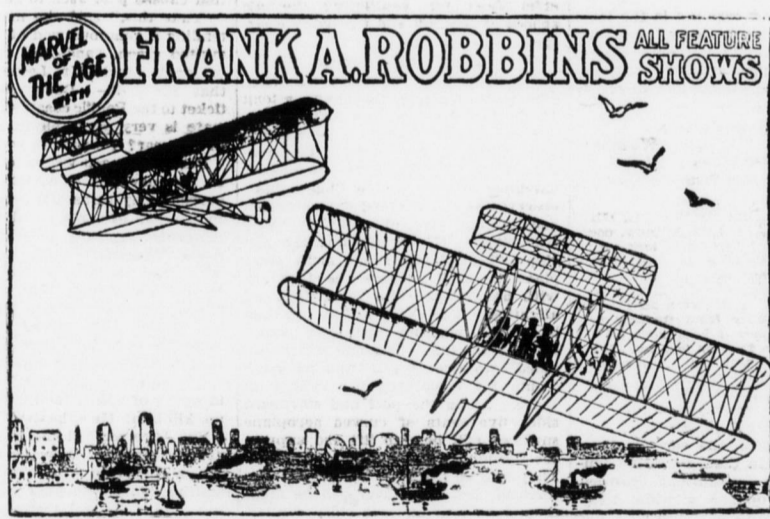

It contains descriptions of about eight hundred of the leading resorts of North America, lists of hotels and boarding houses at these various places, a map, routes and rates from the principal stations on the Pennsylvania Railroad, and other valuable information.

If you have grown tired of the resort you have visited for years, you may make a selection from this book for a stay of a day, a week, a month, or the whole summer.

You may plot out an extended tour covering mountain and seashore, or a fishing trip, or a hunting jaunt, by rail or boat or a combination of both.

Any Ticket Agent of the Pennsylvania Railroad will be glad to furnish a copy of this valuable book for Ten Cents, or it will be mailed you postpaid, on receipt of Twenty-five Cents, by Geo. W. Boyd, General Passenger Agent, Philadelphia, Pa.
