An important step was taken in the procedure relating to East Market street paving. The secretary reported that W. H. Lyon, to whom the contract for paving had been awarded, had forwarded his bond, on which were the names of well-known business men of Sunbury. A communication from Borough Solicitor Gearhart was read, in which he insisted that Mr. Lyon furnish a "surety" bond and advised that the bond he offered be refused, as one that does not meet the demands of the situation.

Mr. Lyon's bond is for ten thousand dollars and relieves the borough of all responsibility for the trolley company's share of the paving. In addition Mr. Lyon agrees to sign all the ark, N. #### AFTERNOON GAME.

The 18 to 5 game in the afternoon while prolific, could scarcely be styled inspiring. There was a large crowd present and everybody seemed to have good time at Nescopeck's expense Good base ball brought gasps of admiration at very infrequent intervals, while the laughter at Nescopeck's water colored efforts was almost incessant.

Sweeney essayed the role of slab artist for the first two innings; after that Haller assumed the mantle. The explosion of fire crackers and similar noises produced as is usual on the Fourth of July, which began immediately after midnight Monday morning and continued until midnight following, gave evidence that fire works are by no means under the ban in Danville.

However, there were no casualties in the least serious to mar the pleasure and the day will be remembered as one of the most enjoyable that was ever celebrated in Danville.

The exericses rendered in the park and the fireworks on the river were the crowning features of the day. The address by Mr. Scarlet, delivered at 7:15 o'clock was a gem. It was thoroughly characteristic of the speaker, being a model of eloquence abounding in beautiful sentiment inspired by the occasion.

The Orpheus Glee Club rendered a difficult program, holding the people for about an hour. Both the address and the music were simply inspiring and the effect of neither was lost on the big assemblage, which showed its appreciation by repeated applause. Both Mr. Scarlet and the club of singers deserve the thanks of the commun. ity for their efforts to aid in a fitting observance of the Fourth of July.

The display of fireworks was prob ably the grandest ever seen in Danville and occupied over an hour. Practically the whole town turned out to witness the display, occupying the bridge and the bank on each side of the river.

ANALYSIS OF

There has been received at the water works a report of the mineral analysis of the water taken from the North Branch at this place by the Dearborn Drug and Chemical company of Chicago, which firm has undertaken to produce a compound that will prevent incrustation in the boilers.

The water in the North Branch is considered very hard and the deposit of lime, sediment, etc., on the inside of the boilers has always proven a great annoyance to manufacturers. No boiler compound has as yet been produced that eliminates the scale precisely as desired. The Dearborn Drug and Chemical company, however, believes that it can accomplish what others have failed to do.

It first analyzed a sample of the water taken from the river here to determine just what its constituents are and then set itself about to manufacture a compound that will meet all the demands. The result of the Chicago firm's experiments will be awaited with no little interest, not only by the borough but also by the manufacturing concerns of Danville.

Of late we have had reports of many analyses of river water made to determine to what extent it is polluted with organic matter and the allusions to bacteria and bacilli coli have become quite trite. In the result of the mineral analysis we have a refreshing contrast, as altogether another class of constituents is sought. The first impression may be that our river water is loaded down with mineral and organic matter to nearly the limit and that in a gallon of 231 cubic inches in one form or another we are getting about all that is coming to us. However, it is safe to assume that the water here is little or no worse than at a hundred other places. Following is the analysis made by the Dearborn Drug and Chemical com

Grains per gallon, silica, .070; oxides of Iron and Aluminum, .035; carbonate of lime, .927; sulphate of lime, 2.129; carbonate of magnesia. trace; chloride of magnesia, .663; sodium and potassium sulphates, trace; sodium and potassium chlorides, trace: loss, etc., .030. soluble nonincrusting solids, .030. 'Contains a little over 334 grains of mineral matter, a trace of organic matter in solution; and a little over 4 grains of solid matter in suspension per U. S. gallon_of 231 cubic inches.

The river is falling rapidly and the tops of the "wells" are exposed above the surface. As the stream falls near low water mark not only the propores. 7 At the present time the water in would seem to be a fitting time for the borough to obtain an analysis of the river water with special reference to bacteria and similar organisms. It would be a great relief to persons who are obliged to use river water for all purposes if assured at this season of
