BUILDINGS AND MAKING THEM.

Facts of Interest to Builders and Their Employers. Some very interesting tests of woods native to Washington and others mature to other timber sections of the country was made recently at the Northern Paci-fic ear shops. The purpose was to dem-onstrate the relative strength of the woods.

woods. The timber tested way subjected to an actual breaking, on stick- 2x4 inches and four feet long, to centers, being one-fourth as long, thick and wide as an acfour feet long, to centers, being one-fourth as long, thick and wide as an ac-tual stringer as used by the railroad company in their trestile bridges. The test is important, as there seems to have been but little information on that sub-ject, and the impression has been that ordinary oak was stronger than fir. The test show, however, that yellow fir is actually one-third stronger than eastern oak, and more than one-half stronger than eastern white pine. The breaking weight, placed squarely in the middle of each stick, was as follows: No. 1. Old plece of yellow fir from yard, having docayed ends, six years in the weather, 3,063 pounds. No. 2. New soft plece fine grain yellow fir, similar to the best flooring timber, 3,029 pounds. No. 3. Old plece yellow fir, coarse grain and hard, broke short at 4,320 pounds. No. 4. New plece from the butt of tree, coarse grain, broke with a stringy frac-ture at 3,635 pounds.

A SUBURBAN COTTAGE. A SUBDRAN COLLARS. No. 5. New piece Michigan white pine, soft and clear, broke short at a weight of 1.610 pounds. No. 6. New piece Michigan oak broke nearly short off at a weight of 2,428 pounds.

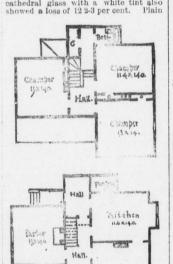

pounds. All of the pieces of wood were sub-jected to the same clear span of 3 feet 9 inches, and the weight applied exactly in the middle. As to the deflections the following notes were made: Nos. 1 and 2, half an inch, No. 3, three-eighths of an inch, No. 4, five-eighths of an inch, No. 5, one-fourth of an inch, No. 6, one and one-eighth of an inch.

HOW IT WORKED.

HOW IT WORKED. "Good morning, Jack 't why I haven't seen you for a month past. What in the world is the matter with you ? You seem to have renewed your youth." "Well Phil, I have. Don't you remem-ber the last time I saw you, how misera-ble I was ? Sick and blue, and in that sort of mood a man gets sometimes when he feels the most noble thing in life is to go straight to the devil." "Not so bad as that, I hope ; at all events you didn't go that way, you are looking far too happy and hearty." "Thank goodness, no 'tor rather, thank Vinegar Bitters. Do you remember that day I saw you last, when you recommend-ed that remedy to me so persistently, and I was first vexid and then half convinced." was greatly improved, so much so that I determined to change off and try the new style.
"Well, how did you like it?"
"You told me your wife preferred th new style, I believe; well, I must say I agre with her. I like the old style very much but the new is a finer, smoother, more expensive preparation."
"I believe it is ; in fact, I have heard so, and I wonder the McDonald Drug Company sell it for the same price they do the old style, because it is really a very costly preparation."
"Well, that dosn't concern us. Who was it said that people famcied themselves pious sometimes when they were only billous? No matter: I was only going to say that I believe people often seem wicked when it is only their liver, or their stomach, or some other cantankerous organ of the body so out of order they couldn't be good if they tried."
"And if all the miserable dyspepsia. and victims of billousness, headache and the thousand and one lils that flesh is heir to would only take Vinegar Bitters, what a happy world this would be!"
"I never go back on the old style."
"Well, they can pay their money and take their choice, for both kinds work admirably."
