FRIDAY, OCTOBER 18 1889.

THE candidates on the Democratic cicket in this county are live, active Democrats and are all working earnestly for the success of the party. It is the bounder duty of ever true Democrat to work and vote for the whole ticket, and thus in-sure its election by a good old fashioned majority.

Of the fifty-four Presidential postmas ters appointed on Saturday last, just one succeeds a predecessor whose term had expired, while in thirty-three cases Democrats were removed to make room for Republican "workers." Yet we are told that President Harrison is a stickler for the Civil Service Law!

THE costliest luxury in which a nation can indulge is one of the modern warships. A century ago $300,000 was a great price for a warship. England's most formidable one, the Royal George, cost less than $350,000. Now an ordinary naval vessel costs a million and a half, while $4.313,970 was paid for the construction of the Trafalgar, of the British navy. When civilization has advanced to that point when governments can govern themselves without the assistance of powder, there will be a mighty sum of money to pass over to the cause of educa tion, religion and better public roads.

STATISTICS prepared by the Railroad Commissioners of Iowa show that in that State alone, with 8,000 miles of railroad, 352 brakemen were killed or injured in 1888 because of the use of the common link-and-pin coupling and the hand-brake on freight cars. Experts assert that practical safety brakes and couplers have been invented and may be readily obtained; yet many corporations continue to disregard the appeals of humanity in this matter, says the Philadelphia Record, just as they delayed the adoption of a substitute for the death dealing stoves and heaters in passenger trains until compelled by law to make the

A TRIP in a railroad car covering more that five thousand miles, which does not necessitate a single change of cars, although it runs over a score of different roa is and passes through as many States and Territories, and will not compel the passengers to touch the ground during the whole of it unless they feel disposed, may indeed be regarded as the most remarkable railroading feat the world has ever seen. Yet that will be one of the experiences wich the delegates to the Congress of the three Americas will experience during the next forty days. All this while these men will live and sleep as luxuriously as they can do in the best hotel in the land. Such an experience is possible only in the United States.

DISPATCHES from the northwest indicate that the cattle raisers anticipate a hard winter for their business, owing to a scarcity of feed and water. The dry season has seriously affected the growth of hay, the amount cured being comparatively small, while owing to the same great stretches of prairie have been burned over, thus completely destroying such pasture as survived the drought. The stock is already suffering, and death from starvation will, it is expected, greatly deplete the herds. This will bring heavy loss to the ranchmen. who are despondent over the situation Time was when to be engaged in the eat-tle business in the great West was to become rich in a very few years; but the changed conditions under which the business is now carried on have greatly increased the risks of loss, and he may be considered a lucky ranchman who gets through a decade without meeting with

If any of these newspapers are of the opinion that a gentleman by birth or breeding, a gentleman in the correct the highest esteem for her true womanly hiss an actor or play or anything else, it has perhaps an apparent excuse for its argument. Has any one ever met a man of courtesy and refinement who would consider himself justified in hissing an actor or play that did not please him? Shal our theatre audiences pattern after such men or after hoodlums? There is another the unqualified esteem and regard of all thing to consider. Tastes differ, and what pleases one person does not always give pleasure to another. If ten per cent. of an audience was dissatisfied with a performance, would that ten per cent. be as to bring brightness and happiness hissing would be the first to cry out fresh in the hearts of many who freagainst the outrage, if they were a part of the ninty per cent. so let them stop preaching hoodlumism, and hold their peace.

THREE MONTHS OF TANNER.

The treasury statement for September ays the Philadelphia Times, reveals very clearly why it was necessary to get rid of

Of the increase in government expendi tures for the quarter ending September 30 it appears that $10,568,000 was due to increased outlay for the Pension Bureau At this rate the increase for pensions alone for the fiscal year would have been $42,000,000 and upwards, or more than fifty per cent. more than in any former In other words to the $80,000,000 expended for pensions last year would have been added $42,000,00 more, making a total of $122,000,000.

This sum is $30,000,000 greater than is expended for the maintenance of Ger many's enormous standing army, $11, 000,000 more than the annual war outlay of France, and $32,000,000 more than that of England. Four years of Tanner at this rate would have made our pension expenditures equal to the war expenditures of all three of the great powers of Western Europe, unless some one coul have been hired to hold him.

ST. JOHN'S CHURCH BELL

Removed to Baltimore to be Repaired, and Then it Will be Put Again in Use. The large bell that hung in the tower of St. John's Catholic Church on Jackson street, before the flood, and summoned the faithful to services for the past five years has sounded its last note in Johns

It was hauled to the B. & O. warehous yesterday morning and shipped to the McShane Bell [Foundry, Baltimore, Md., where it will be recast and made ready to do duty when the new Catholic Church will be rebuilt.

The bell bore the following incription on one side in raised letters :

ST. JOHN GAULBERT'S CATHOLIC CHURCH JOHNSTOWN, PA., 1884. REV. OWEN P. GALLAGHER, RECTOR On The Reverse, McShane Bell Foundry, HENRY MCSHANE & Co., BALTIMORE, MD. 1884.

It will be remembered by many of the survivors of the flood of May, 31, 1889, how the fire from the Catholic church lit up the heavens on that terrible night. Many a poor victim who had lost both relatives and property, and had to take refuge on the roof of some wrecked building or watched the fire from the side of some neighboring hill can re-call the lonely hours as they slowly passed away during that never to be forgotten night. When the fire reached the church tower, and slowly began to eat its way toward the top, it was a sight that was calculated to thrill a person with awe. One by one the crosses on the four corners of the tower toppled over and fell to the pavement below or within the burning building, and each as it fell illuminated the heavens just for a moment. Finally when the fire reached the timbers that held the bell in place, far up near the top, which was surmounted by a very large cross, and as the fire progressed it could be seen to tremble and totter for a few moments, when it suddenly crashed down to the bottom of the tower, carrying the cross with it, and sending up a of sparks heavenward caused a feeling of gloom to spread all over the doomed city. When the bell was dug out of the ruins it was found to be very badly cracked on both sides, and could only be converted into old metal and recast.

Dealh of Miss Sallie A. Stroup.

In the death of Miss Sallie A. Stroup which occurred Friday morning thortly its most estimable young ladies Among her acquaintances she was held in sense of that much-abused word, would qualities and amiable disposition. She was a prominent worker in the young ladies' branch of the W. C. T. U., having been Superintendent of the Flower Mis sion, and performed her duties energy and ability. During the great calamity she endeared herself to many by her brave and gentle actions, so as to win with whom she came in contact. For at least two weeks after the flood, and per haps a lenger time, she assisted at the Bedford Street Hospital in such a way justified in spoiling the pleasure of the to many a weary sufferer. Her memory should, and no doubt will, be long kept quently noticed her on her missions of love and mercy.

Miss Stroup was born in this city, and was about twenty-eight years of age. She was a member of the United Presbyterian A TIMELY CAUTION TO NEWSPAPER Church, and illustrated in her life the beauties of the true christian character The funeral will take place on Monday afternoon from 1 " t to inter-

RED CROSS FIELD HOSPITAL.

Johnstown. October 11, 1889. to the Editor of the Johns

There appeared an article in the issue of the Philadelphia Sunday Times of October 6th, eminating from some pusillanimous individual whoapparently has exhausted all honest ability in endevor-ing to blackmail the National as well as the Philadelphia Red Cross Associations by the appending article. As commander of the Philadelphia Branch now in this borough, I hereby emphatically denounce and characterise the writer as an unmittigated slanderer and unfit to breathe the atmosphere of honorable and upright people who secludes himself through the privileges of the press and poses as one voicing the sentiments of the people of Johnstown, a Pharisee who should be made to retract the scurrilous falsehoods that are without foundation and ostracised from a respectable com-R. THE JOHNSTOWN HOSPITAL—RESIDENTS OB-JECT TO RELIEF MONRY BEING DIVERTED FOR THAT INSTITUTION. Special Telegram to the Times.

Johnstown, October 5. Among the many pieces of bad man-gement in connection with the distribuagement in connection with the distribu-tion of the people's money given for the relief of the sufferers by the flood in this and other parts of the State, nothing is so displeasing to the people of Johnstown as the inclination shown to divert portions of the money to purposes for which it was not intended.

the inclination shown to divert portions of the money to purposes for which it was not intended.

If the report that reaches here is true that the sum of $10,000 has been given by the Philadelphia committee for the purpose of continuing a hospital in charge of members of the Philadelphia auxiliary of the Red Cross Society at Johnstown, it will be met with a storm of disapproval and arouse a discussion if not a serious scandal that will be one of the most disagreeable of the unpleasant chapter of blunders that have followed in the wake of the great calamity.

At least four of the members of the Philadelphia Committee are also members of the Flood Commission, and although they are busy men and have not all had the time to attend the meetings or make themselves familiar with the situation, some of them know just how unpopular this hospital project is with the people of Johnstown, and are familiar with the opposition that exists to it not only on the part of the local physicians and the residents generally, but by the charitable agencies represented here, including the Red Cross Society itself.

Miss Clara Barton, the President of the National Red Cross Society, the woman who has done more than any other individual for Johnstown and its suffering people, is opposed to the hospital, has had nothing to with it and will not have, and is heartily in accord with the people of Johnstown in their opposition to it. More than this, Miss Barton looks upon the scheme to establish a hospital under the name of the Red Cross as something beyond and outside the purpose of the organization which she established and of yond and outside the purpose of the or-ganization which she established and of yona and ottsue the purpose of the organization which she established and of which she is the responsible head.

Without going into particulars, it is sufficient to say that Miss Barton and all the other officers of the National Red Cross Society at Johnstown did not approve of the part taken by members of the Philadelphia auxillary in the work of relief. Officers of the Red Cross say that the only drawback they had, the only thing they had to contend with, were the misunderstandings and misconceptions of the Society on the part of the people growing out of the conduct of the young doctors and their friends from Philadelphia who claimed to represent the Red Cross.

Dr. Pancoast, it is asserted, promised General Hastings and the committee and Miss Barton that it would be discontinued or at least turned over to the physicians of Johnstown, but on one pretext or another this has been deferred until now it appears an approriation has been procured for it that to the people here seems preposterous. Dr. Pancoast proposed to Miss Barton making it the nucleus of a memorial hospital to have her name. She would not listen to it and said it would be wrong to put any portion of the relief be wrong to put any portion of the relief fund to such a purpose.

As President of the Philadelphia Branch of the International Red Cross Society, I would beg to state that its members have worked most diligently and unselfishly for the benefit of the suffering at Johnstown. We have worked harmoniously with Miss Barton, the President of our National Organization, with the President and members of the County Medical Society and have received the encomiums and other evidences of satisfaction and gratitude from the citizens of miums and other evidences of satisfaction and gratitude from the citizens of the valley. When we proposed closing our field camp on the ist of August a petition was sent to me, signed numerously by citizens of Johnstown, begging me to keep the camp open and in operation, as it was so necessary to them and doing such good, useful work. Our society has spent in the valley over $29,000 in contributions, and of our own money. I have made repeated visits to supervise our operations and almost daily reports have been presented to the officers of our society and the executive committee commanders of our field camp, first, Dr.

A MUSCULAR FEMALE.

A German Woman Throws a Policeman Over the Fence. New York Corr., of Lancaster Inquirer. Mrs. Mary Richardson, of Jersey City, 200 pound German woman of forty-seve years, soundly thrashed two policemen and a deputy sheriff who tried to dis posses her yesterday. She met them with a Colt's navy revolver at the door, and sent two shots whizzing close by their ears. The third cap missed fire and before Mrs. Richardson could shut the door the officers were upon her. She dropped the revolver and led off with a left hander that knocked the deputy sheriff clean off his feet. She sent one policeman to the floor with a blow on the face, and bowled the other up and down the corridor in a catch-as-oatch-can wrestling bout. She retreated to her back yard eventually, with the deputy sheriff after her. After a short rough-and-tumble fight, she picked him up in her arms and dropped him over the fence into a neighbor's yard. This feat cost her her liberty, for, while she was doing it, two policemen crept up behind her and grabbed her wrists, and lina minute had handcuffs on her. Then the three disfigured, but triumphant officers, marched their captive to prison. court Mrs. Richardson was held for feonious assault.

LUXURY IN RAILROAD TRAVEL.

The Pennsylvania's New York and Chicago Limited Express. New York World.

In those improvements which make railroad travel a luxury the Pennsylvania Railroad Company has always been a pioneer. The handsome finish and comfort of its ordinary' cars almost render the old drawing-room car superfluous. Probably that is the reason the corpora tion has added new accommodations and attractions to its palace-car system such as have never before been dreamed of in the philosophy of the rail. Bath-rooms have been added to the sleeping-cars, with female attendants for lady passengers. A drawing-room car, handsomely fitted with rockers and other easy chairs, has been placed in the rear of th sleepers, in which persons taking berths can ride while their beds are being prepared. Barber-shops are provided for men, and arrangements have been made to receive stock quotations on the day trains. So a traveler can now have a many conveniences and luxuries on a Pennsylvania train as he can obtain in his own home or hotel.

Prosperous and Healthy

The Johnstown Daily DEMOGRAT entered the second year of his publication on Tuesday of last week. Notwithtend the introduction of a daily paper and the trying ordeal of the flood in which its office was extensively damaged and its subscribers and advertising patrons swept into eternity, inflicting heavy loss on the publisher, the paper appears to be in a prosperous and h condition. Altogether Mr. Woodruff has had a hard row to hoe the first year and it is to be hoped that the old adag A bad beginning insures a good ending" may be verified in his case, that the DEMOCRAT may continue to prosper and more than fulfil the brightest expectation of the publisher.

Read the Law Before You Shoot. By an act of the Legislature, approved April 25, 1889, the act of June 3, 1878, permitting the killing of quail or Virginia partridge between October 15 and January

1, has been amended, and it now reads as follows: "No person shall kill or expose for sale, or have in his possession after the same has been killed, any quail or Virginia partridge, between the 15th day of December in any year and the 1st day of November next following, under a penalty of $10 for each bird so killed, exposed for sale or had in his possession. Gunners would do well to pay strict attention to the law, as there are a number of gentlemen in this city and county who are anxious that partridges are protected. They declare that they will see that the law is enforced to the letter. By the act of 1881 rabbits can be shot only from November 1 to January 1.

Death Dealing Diphtheria at Gallitzin. The following telegram has been re-ceived from Gallitzen: Diphtheria in its worst form is playing havoe with the lives of our little ones in this place. During the past two weeks the average number of deaths was three to four per day, and the doctors report at least fifty cases down with the disease in the town Four families with six or seven little ones one month ago, now are childless from the sweeping fangs that fastened its death dealing substance upon their little ones. At the instance of a meeting of the borough council, which was called by Burgess Tom Burns for the purpose, a committee was appointed to investigate all cellars and inspect all drainage in order to prevent the ravage.
