In the Fifth ward Dr. Conrad, M1. Hoerle and Dr. Wakefield all gave their opponents an uncomfortably close chase for the two branches of Council, and School Controller respectively. Here, too both Rose and Carswells were ahead of the rest of their ticket.

NO 44-THE ROAD LAW CANNOT STAND.

It is Special Legislation, and so Contrary to the Constitution. The road law which was passed by the State Legislature in 1887, and the consti-tutionality of which has been in the courts for some time, was declared unconstitutional by the Supreme Court on Monday in an opinion filed by Justice Williams The act provides principally for the taking of land for road purposes in cities of the first class and for the assessment of dam-ages, and the constitutional question arose as to the right of the Legislature to thus make special provision for certain localities in the State in the face of the constitutional prohibition of special legislation

" In order that a given act may escape the charge of being a local law," runs the decision, "it is necessary that it should be applicable to all the members of the class to which it relates, and be directed to the existence and regulation of municipa powers and to matters of local govern ment." A law that will bear the application of this test is within the purpose for which classification was designed, and therefore constitutional. A law that will not bear its application is local, and offends against the constitution."

It is then stated that the provisions of the act of 1887 relate wholly to certain judicial processes referring to land condemnation, and not at all to municipal administration, and that the law is therefore unconstitutional. The first two sections of the act, however, are believed by the court to be constitutional. Chief Justice Paxson and Justice Mitchell think the whole act unconstitutional. A dissenting opinion was died by Justices Paxson and Mitchell.

DEATH OF MR. HENRY O'HARA

After a Long Illness He at Last Shares the Common Fate. Mr. Henry O'Hara, a very aged and highly respected citizen of Munster township, this county, died at his residence near Munster Station on Tuesday morning. He had long been enfeebled by old a'soluiely no money. came here to fills position paying $1.20 or $1.500, which Au attack of the influenza proved too much for his time worn system. His age was about ninety years.

Mr. O'Hara was born and spent his whole life upon the farm on which he died. His wife, who has been dead a number of years, was a descendant of the McGuire families that first settled Cambria county. He leaves three children-Frank, who lives on his father's farm, Mrs. Mary Farren and Mrs. A. J. Anderson, of Altoona

The time of the funeral has not been learned, but it will probably be this mornng. The remains will be interred in the Catholic Cemetery at Loretto, after services in St. Michael's Church.

Thos Foure Girl Babies.

Texarkana Special to Globe Democrat Mr. Page, the father of those four girl babies whose arrival created such excitement here some time ago, was in the city to-day. The little ones are now more than a month old, and are growing rapidly. Page has received many letters of condolence and congratulation some proffering financial assistance. A lady, said to be an old maid living out West, writes that she has seen the newspaper reports, and on proper proofs being made that it was an actual occurrence she will send a check for $300. She wishes it understood, however, that the gift is a token of sympathy for the mother, and not to be constroed as her approval of such proceedings.
