Mrs. Dr. Braller and son, of Berlin, are visiting in this vicinity.
Henry Loechel has had his house roof and chimneys repaired this week.

Jim Fallon, of Boynton, spent Christmas in Uniontown, with his sister.
Henry Keim says: "Put my name on your list, too; your paper is a good one."

Over about Centerville some of the schools are closed on account of measles.
Mrs. W. J. Rees is seriously ill, says last week's issue of the Meyersdale Register.

Rockwood is going to have a spoke and hub factory that will employ twelve men.
Ed. Showalter went to Baltimore on Christmas day to see the sights of that city.

Harry Platt, of Meyersdale, was a pleasant caller at our sanctum on Christmas day.
The electric road talked of so much by Meyersdale papers should be called the gas road.

Mrs. Dr. Speicher went to Garrett county, Md., last Saturday, to visit friends.
Ex-Sheriff McMillen was in our city last Saturday to attend Dr. Stutzman's funeral.

S. S. Koons orders THE STAR sent for six months to his brother Henry, at Mt. Pleasant.
Harvey M. Berkley has been appointed cashier of the First National bank of Somerset.

M. J. Livengood has finished painting and papering the Ravenscraft building in Meyersdale.
Residents of Jefferson township claim that there are from six to ten wolves in that vicinity.

S. J. Lichty has the thanks of the editorial staff of this paper for a basket of very fine apples.
Emanuel Hersberger, of Garrett county, Md., orders THE STAR sent to his address at Grantsville.

S. L. Livengood orders THE STAR sent one year to J. V. Stoer, of Pittsburgh, for a New Year's gift.
Thomas Lee orders THE STAR sent to his son, Joel F., who is postmaster at Cage, Butler county, Kan.

J. L. Barchus, one of Salisbury's enterprising business men, falls in line this week with a good big "ad."
At Milton Hartline's: 'Tis no toy, but a Christmas gift—a bouncing boy, and Milt is almost wild with joy.

S. L. Livengood went to Pittsburgh on Christmas to see a very dear friend of his, but of course we won't tell who.
Geo. Schramm and family went to Scottsdale for a week's visit with Mrs. Schramm's relatives at that place.

Mr. and Mrs. Phillip Wagner, of Meyersdale, who are well known by many of our readers, are said to be very ill.
Mrs. Hart Fuller, who runs a boarding house in Cumberland, spent Christmas in our city with friends and relatives.

Mrs. M. C. Berkley, of Rusklin, Neb., is visiting relatives here. She arrived in time to spend Christmas in Salisbury.
The Masons and Odd Fellows took a prominent part in Dr. Stutzman's funeral ceremony and made a fine appearance.

A lamp explosion took place last week in Meyersdale, in A. W. Platt's store, and did damage to the extent of about $60.
J. L. Barchus was pretty near on the sick list last week for a few days. He suffered with a very bad cold, but is now better.

Who will be the next to speak through these columns on a change of name for this burg? Let us hear from you, fellow citizens.
Mr. and Mrs. John Short, of Rockwood, formerly residents of this city, were here to attend Dr. Stutzman's funeral, last Saturday.

N. G. Keim, who is in the employ of Stephen B. Elkins, the newly appointed Secretary of War, spent Christmas at his home in this city.
Lawyer John R. Scott, of Somerset, who had been at Philadelphia taking medical treatment, has returned, much improved in health.

Mrs. Rosenberger, Miss Suhrie and Miss Ravenscraft, of Meyersdale, came up to this burg last Saturday to visit friends and relatives.
H. C. Shaw, the enterprising West Salisbury merchant, joins the procession this week with a cash-in-advance subscription and an advertisement.

Patrick Dorsey and son, of Garrett county, Md., were in our city on Tuesday. Mr. Dorsey is one of the prominent farmers of Garrett county.
Miss Martha Livengood, who has for some time been living in Meyersdale with her sister, Mrs. W. H. Dill, spent Christmas at her home in Salisbury.

A big black bear is said to be prowling around in the vicinity of Cupp's Station, this county, but the Somerset Standard seems to regard it as a "fish story."
Theof. Wagner was recently appointed District Deputy State Councilor in the Junior Order of United American Mechanics. A very good appointment.

"Why, it's the best paper in the county for news," is a common expression on our streets these days, while everybody seems to be commenting on THE STAR.
Neven Newman, of Keim, Pa., orders his name enrolled on our subscription list and says people up that way pronounce the new paper a first-class one.

David Sheppard, the popular and well-known Meyersdale barber, orders THE STAR sent to his address for one year, in consideration of $1.50 cash in advance.
Scott Johns had a shooting match on Christmas day, and the boys who used Winchester Rifles feel good. The Winchester won seven turkeys out of eight.

The teachers' institute to be held in Meyersdale, Jan. 1st and 2nd, will be a great intellectual feast. A very good program has been prepared for the occasion.
Beachy's hardware building is looming up in great shape. The frame work of the first story is now up and is 14 feet high. The second story will be 18 feet high.

Unless this town changes its name, it will never amount to near what it should. Without the change, it will be just like the cow without a tail in fly time—have no show.
We have on file a report of the amount of cider, applebutter, jelly, etc., that was turned out in the fall at H. H. Reitz's applebutter factory. It will be published next week.

We see by the Los Angeles Herald that Jonas Gnagey and daughter, who recently left for Grantsville, Md., to go to California, have arrived safely at their destination.
Rev. George Harris, son of David Harris of West Salisbury, is at home on a visit. Rev. Harris has charge of a congregation somewhere in one of the New England states.

Mr. S. C. Broadwater, of Garrett county, Md., visited friends in Salisbury on Christmas day, and before leaving handed us $1.50 for THE STAR, which he says is a first-class journal.
The Meyersdale Commercial notes the fact that Salisbury is expecting a glass works to locate here. You bet your life we do, Bro. Smith, and the chances are very favorable, too.

And still subscriptions roll in at a lively rate. They don't give a man a chance to solicit them, but then we won't find any fault on that account. Let 'em keep a-comin', we'll do the rest.

The oil well is on a stand-still at present, owing to a bit becoming detached and lost in the well. The necessary tools to lift it are expected today, and in a few days drilling will go on as usual.

S. A. Beachy orders THE STAR sent for one year to his father-in-law, at Milledgeville, Ill., for a New Year's gift. That's the proper caper. THE STAR is a very nice present to give to a friend at any time.

Married, Christmas evening, in the Reformed church in Grantsville, Md., by Rev. J. M. Evans, Mr. Joseph A. Lucas, of Reese Tannery, W. Va., and Miss Annie A. McLaughlin, of Summit Mills, Pa.

We are a day late this week with THE STAR, on account of being crowded with work in the job printing line and on account of the illness of the associate editor, who is suffering with a severe case of la grippe.

Judging from the number of births recorded in this issue, our population is growing in a manner to be proud of. We don't know now whether we have all the infantile arrivals recorded for this week or not.

John Schramm, Coleman's genial and accommodating hack driver, says he ate his Christmas dinner with A. W. Platt and family, of Meyersdale, and a better dinner, he says, never was prepared for kings and queens.

Misses Mattie and Lydia Meager were welcome callers at THE STAR office last Saturday. Miss Lydia, who is teaching school down at Wellersburg, and who is said to be a splendid teacher, orders THE STAR sent to her address.

Our merchants report a good holiday trade, taking the weather into consideration. P. S. Hay, of whom it was prophesied that he wouldn't sell near all his immense stock of holiday goods, says he carries but very little over.

Earnest Livengood was knocked over the other day in Barchus' store by a big bolt of oil cloth falling on him, which badly hurt his leg. It was thought at first that the leg was broken, but investigation proved that it was not.

Just as we go to press we learn that Phil Wagner is dead. We believe this leaves Aunt Sally Livengood the only living member of that Wagner generation. Funeral will take place on Saturday at the St. Paul Reformed church.

H. H. Reitz thinks Smith avenue ought to be extended to the new cemetery. Mr. Reitz is more than half right. We believe it would pay Mr. Haselbarth to donate the ground for the street and then sell building lots. We believe it would pay him.

Russell C. Fuller orders THE STAR sent to his address at Dixon, Ill., through the solicitation of Jesse Jeffery. Now then, Jesse, drum in another one, A fellow never loses anything by doing a good turn for his home paper. We thank you for what you have already done.

Messrs. Alex. and Frank Stutzman, in company with M. J. Beachy, made THE STAR headquarters a visit last Sunday evening. The Stutzman brothers thought it was quite a change to see their old home transformed into a printing office, but glad to see it put to such good use.

The editor of this paper is not a prophet nor the son of a prophet, but he will venture the assertion that in six months from now THE STAR will be the only Somerset county paper that will have a circulation in this vicinity worth speaking of. In fact that comes pretty near being the case now.

The following prominent railroad men were in attendance at Dr. Stutzman's funeral: J. Emery, supt. of trains and engines, Connellsville; Paul Wonn, his assistant, of Meyersdale; M. Foley, of Rockwood, supervisor of road; Frank McDonald, a popular passenger conductor of the S. & C. branch.

Just as we go to press we are in receipt of six more subscriptions from Grantsville, and the cash accompanies the order. S. D. Yoder, M. D. Yoder, Jonas D. Brennan, H. Yost, C. M. Livengood and J. W. Durst are the additional gentlemen who want starlight, when it can be had for only $1.50 per annum.

Frank Petry was a friendly caller at editorial headquarters last Saturday. He said, "put me on your list," and remarked that he felt dead sure that he could get fifteen or twenty subscribers for as good a paper as THE STAR among his friends at Lonaconing, Md., where he has employment. Of course he can.

On Monday George Beals was leading a horse on which his little boy was mounted, when all of a sudden the animal became frightened and ran away, throwing the child to the ground and injuring him somewhat, but not seriously. George tried his best to stop the horse, but after being dragged for some distance he had to let go.

We are glad to note that there is a growing sentiment here in favor of patronizing home industries. That's right; whenever the people of a community make up their minds to stand by their own business institutions, just that soon will the community be placed on a firm foundation and its future prosperity will be assured.

Your attention is called to the change in Peter S. Hay's "ad." Mr. Hay has paid for that amount of space for one year in advance. That's the way to encourage your local paper, gentlemen, and it shows that Mr. Hay, like all other level-headed men, recognizes the value of printers' ink.

Peter S. Hay is a man who does not spend money foolishly.

George Tedrow, a young son of Simon Tedrow, had his arm badly broken the other day in Tub Mill mine. He fell down and a mining car passed over it, dislocating it at the elbow and badly mashing the bone. Dr. Lichty says that there is danger of his arm being stiff after it heals. THE STAR is sorry to hear of this misfortune.

Jonas J. Keim, who returned home from Pittsburgh last week, sick, recovered sufficiently to again go back to the Smoky City on Monday. Jonas says he is getting tired of being a street car conductor and will not follow the business much longer. He says his brother Will and Sam Kimmel are also getting tired of street car conducting.

The miners don't seem to think much of the present wire suspension bridge project and are getting tired, they say, of putting up suspension bridges. Many of them are clamoring for a wagon bridge at the foot of Union street, for they say a bridge is badly needed there and that it is the county's duty to build one. We believe the miners are about right and we believe if they get up a petition for a county bridge it will win.

The Junior Order of United American Mechanics is voting on a change of name, the new name proposed being "Order of United Americans." Each council will continue to ballot for several weeks, and then the result will be made known. Elk Lick council is largely in favor of the new name, and in THE STAR'S opinion that should be the case in every council. The present name of the order is both bunglesome and misleading.

We have an excellent write-up of the Christmas services held in the Reformed church, which was handed to us by a friend, but owing to a rush in our job department this week, the report, with other matter, will not appear until next week. Perhaps by that time some one could write up the services held at the other churches. We would like to have a write-up of them all, and not being able to attend any of the services, we will have to depend on others for reports.

George Lowry, another of the prominent farmers of this locality, called at our den the other day to subscribe. He remarks that THE STAR not only contains more home news than any of the other county papers, but is also well loaded with interesting news from nearly all parts of the world. Mr. Lowry is one of those considerate sort of men that never say a great deal, but always knows what he is talking about when he does say something. We appreciate compliments from such men.

Your attention is called to the excellent article in this issue from the pen of H. H. Reitz, the popular miller of West Salisbury. Mr. Reitz brings out some excellent points that are well worth reading and considering. He is in favor of changing the name of our town, post-office, telegraph office and railway station, which is right and proper, but we can not quite agree with him on a name so short as to require but three letters to spell it. Six letters might do, but three would make entirely to short a name to sound well.

The friends of Prof. Grant Kendall will regret to learn that he will be compelled to suspend his studies for a time, owing to a threatened break-down. When he entered the University of Virginia, he resolved to compass the two years legal course in one. The result was that he overtaxed his strength by too close application, and by advice of his physician will rest awhile before resuming his studies. He will probably enter some law office for a course of reading and finish at Harvard.—Meyersdale Register.

Rufus Beachy called at our sanctum this week to subscribe for THE STAR. While here he remarked that he is red hot in favor of changing the name of this town, postoffice and railway station. Like nearly everybody else he has been greatly inconvenienced by the present bunglesome arrangement and sees great wisdom in THE STAR'S agitation for a change. Mr. Beachy recently became a registered veterinary surgeon, has bought a fine veterinarian library and proposes to get the anatomy of the horse and the treatment of horse and cattle diseases down fine.

The following young ladies from this county have been appointed and commissioned auxiliary members of the committee on Woman's Work from Pennsylvania to the World's Columbian Exposition: Miss Mary H. Baer, Somerset; Chairman: Miss Sarah Brubaker, Somerset; Miss Mattie McMillen, New Lexington; Miss Anna Black, Meyersdale; Miss Sadie Critchfield, Jenner X Roads; Mrs. Carrie Johnston, Stoyestown; Miss Anna Poorbaugh, Berlin; Miss Mattie B. Will, Glade; Miss Alice Hay, Elk Lick; Miss Lizzie Benford, Ursina. They will be notified as to their duties by the committee later on.—Somerset Herald.

On Monday S. J. Ringer, of Addison township, appeared before Esquire Casbeer, and made information against Chas. Wiltrout, Frederick Taylor and Norman Ringer, charging them with breaking and entering the store room of Alice J. Ringer, and taking therefrom goods valued at $45.00. He further charged that the parties named placed explosives under the store room and blew it up. The robbery, it is alleged, was committed at one o'clock, on the night of December 16, and the explosion occurred shortly after.

Warrants were placed in the hands of Officer Gilbert, who went to Addison and arrested the parties on Tuesday. Gilbert arrived here on the evening train with the prisoners and took them before Esquire Casbeer, who committed them to jail for a hearing.—Somerset Standard.

Run-away at Tub Mill Mine.
They had another run-away on the Tub Mill incline on Monday, and as a result Al Swartzwelder, Garlitz's driver, who had been there at the time for a load of coal, is now suffering with several broken ribs, caused by a flying plank striking him. He had a close call and probably came as near climbing the Golden Stair as he ever did in his life. Ben Boyd, who took refuge under a box car in front of the dump, also narrowly escaped being transformed into an angel. The following lines probably express Ben's feelings at the time the fun (?) was going on:

I want to be an angel.
For that I hope and pray;
I want to be an angel,
But of course not right away.

There is no fun in being on the Tub Mill dump when there is a run-away car or two coming down the incline, as the editor of this paper knows by experience, having once been lifted from that dump rather abruptly himself.

Didn't Know It Was Loaded.
From the Carlston (Neb.) Reporter.

A case of "didn't know it was loaded" occurred in F. P. Beachy's hardware store last Wednesday afternoon. Willie Lichty, who was about to go hunting stepped into the store mentioned to buy some ammunition among which was a box of caps. Wanting to satisfy himself that they were the right size he put one on the tube of the gun, when Mr. Beachy asked him if the gun was loaded and being assured that it was not he told Willie to "let her go" which injunction was immediately complied with, and she did—right through the floor, tearing a large hole in the boards. Had the muzzle of the gun been elevated about a foot higher I might have been compelled to report a sad accident, as Dick Beachy sat at a desk in the back part of the store, exactly in line with the gun. Fortunately Willie held the gun with muzzle downward and nothing more serious than a hole in the floor resulted.

HORRIBLE CRIME.

A Dastardly Attempt at Murder Near Hooversville, this County.

At an early hour last Thursday morning a horrible crime was committed near Hooversville, which for brutality and cowardice could hardly be excelled.

Two young miners, one by the name of Turner, an Irishman, and Salmon, an Englishman, entered the shanty of an old miner named Bittner and tried to murder him. They left him for dead with something like fourteen ugly wounds about his person. Salmon held the old man while Turner ripped the victim's jaws and cut his tongue nearly out. He also made an attempt to cut the old man's throat, but made a poor job of it. However, after they thought they had about finished Bittner, they returned to their boarding place and related what they had done, and seemed to be little concerned about the matter. Mr. Rodgers, the man with whom the villains boarded, then investigated the matter and found that their report was but too true. He found Bittner lying in a pool of blood, nearly dead, but he was still conscious and able to relate the tragedy. Rodgers then made arrangements for the care of Bittner and had the would-be murderers placed under arrest and lodged in the Somerset jail. Bittner was still living at last reports, and it is said that he will likely recover. Turner and Salmon will likely be tried at the February term of court. The murderous scoundrels ought to be lynched.

A PATRIOTIC WORK.

Every person who is opposed to Free Trade Slavery and favors American Industrial Independence secured through the policy of Protection, should read the documents published by the American Protective Tariff League. As a patriotic citizen it is your duty to place these documents in the hands of your friends. They are interesting and instructive, and embrace discussions of all phases of the Tariff question. The League publishes over 50 different documents, comprising nearly 800 pages of plainly printed, carefully edited and reliable information. Among the authors of these documents are: Hon. James G. Blaine; Wm. McKinley, Jr., Governor of Ohio; Senator S. M. Culum, of Illinois; Senator Joseph N. Dolph, of Oregon; Senator S. P. McPherson, of Nebraska; Senator Frye, of Maine; Senator Casey, of North Dakota; Senator Justin S. Morrill, of Vermont; Senator Nelson W. Aldrich, of Rhode Island; Hon. Thomas H. Dudley, of New Jersey; Hon. Robert F. Forbes, of Washington; Prof. J. K. Dodge, of the Agricultural Department at Washington; Commodore W. H. A. Hughes, of Hon. R. A. Harshbarger, of New York; Congressman Dellyer, of Iowa; Hon. B. J. Jones; David East Rice, of Boston; Congressman Perkins, of Kansas; Dr. E. P. Miller, of New York; Hon. Geo. Draper, of Massachusetts; Hon. C. J. Edwards, of Texas; Judge Wm. Lawrence, of Ohio; Hon. D. G. Hartman, of New York; Hon. Geo. S. Boutwell, of Massachusetts; Hon. H. A. Hammond, of Kentucky; Knott Shuler, of Tennessee.

This complete set of documents will be sent to any address, post paid, for Fifty (50) Cents. Address, Wilbur F. Wakeman, Sec'y, No. 28 West Twenty-Third Street, New York.

Correspondents Wanted.

We want news gatherers and itemizers in all parts of the county, but want nothing but actual news reported—no sensational rot, such as we sometimes see in some of the communications to a few of our esteemed contemporaries. We want nothing but sensible news items, plainly written on one side of paper only, concerning such things as accidents, amusements, births, burglary, change of business firms, crops, crime, church news, deaths, discoveries, arrivals at hotels or elsewhere, divorces, engagements, election news, fires, facts and figures concerning various things, festivals, improvements, inventions, lectures, marriages, new enterprises, persons leaving the community, sales of real estate, shows, exhibitions and fairs, schools, secret societies, strange phenomena, suggestions of improvements needed, sickness, surgical operations, etc., etc.

Write to THE STAR for stationery, postage, etc.
