The right of the Speaker of the House to count a quorum as was done in the Fifty-first Congress, was unanimously affirmed by the court in an opinion delivered by Justice Brewer, in the case of the United States against Ballin, Joseph & Co., appealed from the New York Circuit Court. This case in-volved the validity of the law passed May 6, 1891, and known as the worsted classifica-tion act. When it was before the House for action, 188 votes were recorded for the mass tion act. When it was before the House for action, 158 votes were recorded for the pass-age of the bill, whereupon the Speaker pro-ceeded to make a quorum by counting several Representatives present, but none voling, pursuant to a rule adopted by the House for such cases. "This rule was valid," said Justice Brever: "It is within the competency of the Legislature to enact any law not forbidden by the Constitution or against natural justice to secure the presence of a quorum, and when that quorum is present it is there for the purpose of doing busines."

present it is there for the purpose of doing busines." The decision of the Supreme Court in the case of Marshall, Fried & Co., of Chicago, r. M. Boyd et al and Charles Sternback et al, of New York, versus the United States, involving the validity of the McKinley tariff bill, was delivered by Justice Harlin. Duties were assessed on various articles im-ported by the appellants under the McKin-ley bill, and they protested against paying them on the ground that the act was not the section 30 of the act, as it was passed both Houser and was agreed to in conference, was omitted from the enrolled bill signed by the pre-siding officers of the two houses, and by the President, and that therefore, it did not comply with the requirements of the Con-stitution. insureation as a bill that has passed 'Con-gress should be deemed complete and unim-penchable." In support of this view numerous deci-sions are quoted. The judgments of the courts below sustaining the validity of the act are affirmed. A decision was given against the Chicago Anarchists, Fielden and schwab, who sought release from Joliet prison on writs of habess corpus. Their counsel held that the men were not present in the Supreme Court of Illinois when sentence of death (afterwards commuted to imprisoment for life) was pronounced on them. The Court holds that sentence of death was not pronounced on the defendants by the Supreme Court of Illinois, but was passed (when the men were present) by the Criminal Court and asked if he has anything to say why sentence of death should not be pronounced, applies, it is held only to courts of appeal like the Ilinois Supreme Court. This does not invalidate the arbitra-tico receiptions ti on negotiations now going on between this country and Great Britian.

In purpose of the translate Terms yiana ior 30,000 vonthe unless sover for the period of six months unless sover discharged. In pursuance of that proclama-tion the Governor issued a general order calling for volunteers to repel the threaten-ed and imminent invasion of Pennsylvania. In compliance with this order the Forty-seventh Regiment was raised and mustered into the State service for 90 days, instead of six months se designated in the call. The records of the War Department show that Manley was mustered out with his Jone, 1863, and was mustered out with his Jone; six months as designated in the call. The records of the War Department show that, Manley was mustered in on the 17th of June, 1863, and was mustered out with his com-pany on August 13, 1863. During this ser-vice the evidence on file shows that the sol-dier guffered a sun stroke from which he has never recovered. Upon this application he was granted a pension of $24 a month, but on June 13, 1861, his name was dropped from the penson roll upon the ground that it had been ascertained that the regiment to which he belonged was not in the United States service but in the service of the State of Pennsylvania.
