Scrofula in the Neck
By Hood's Sarsaparilla

All parents whose children suffer from Scrofula, Salt Rheum, or other diseases caused by impure blood, should read the following from Mrs. J. W. Tillbrook, wife of the Mayor of McKeesport, Penn.:

"My little boy Wille, now six years old, two years ago had a...

Bunch Under One Ear
which the doctor said was scrofula. As it continued to grow he finally lanced it and it discharged for some time. We then began giving him Hood's Sarsaparilla and he improved very rapidly until it healed up. Last winter it broke out again and was followed by...

Erysipelas
We again gave him Hood's Sarsaparilla with most excellent results and he has had no further trouble. His cure is due to the use of Hood's Sarsaparilla. It has never been very robust, but now seems healthy and daily growing stronger. The doctor seemed quite pleased at his appearance and said he feared at one time that we should lose him. There also taken...

BERING SEA CONTROVERSY. TEXT OF THE CORRESPONDENCE.

Lord Salisbury Wants British Sealers to Be Protected for Loss. President Harrison's Firm Reply.
The full text of the correspondence between the United States and Great Britain on the Bering Sea controversy, which was sent to the Senate by the President, was made public Friday.

The correspondence opens with a note, dated February 18, to Mr. Blaine from Sir Julian Pauncefote, in reply to a note from Mr. Blaine, and will explain the latter. Sir Julian states that the British Commissioners are right in holding that they have no power under their present mandate to discuss the question of a "modus vivendi" for the next fishing season.

The next letter is also from Sir Julian Pauncefote to Mr. Wharton, dated March 19, and gives Lord Salisbury's reply to the proposition for a modus vivendi.
The determined stand taken by the President will be found in the following letter of Mr. Wharton to Sir Julian Pauncefote, dated March 22.

Sir—I am directed by the President to say that your note, dated the 18th inst. and delivered on the 20th inst. (Sunday), has had his immediate attention in view of what he deems to be the extreme urgency and gravity of the matter under discussion. The urgency grows out of the fact that the further protraction of this discussion will make any modus that may be agreed upon ineffectual to protect the interests of the United States and give to the British sealers practical immunity by reason of the impossibility of communicating to them the agreed restrictions. It is known to this Government that the sealers have departed to escape notice of a possible modus, and that every day almost adds to the fleet that must now be overhauled at sea. Already 47 Canadian vessels have departed for the sealing grounds (as against 31 at the same date last year), and are engaged in following up and destroying the seal herds. These vessels will, if not stopped and turned back at the passes, go into the Bering Sea and pursue to the very shores of our islands the slaughter of the mother seals seeking the accustomed rookeries to deliver their young. This is a crime against nature. This Government expects to show, if the arbitration proceeds, that male seals constitute the larger per cent. of the catch of the pelagic sealers.

This Government, notwithstanding the fact that its right to take seals upon the Pribilof Islands is undisputed and wholly uninvolved in the arbitration, has proposed to take no profit from the Island catch, but to limit the taking of seals to the necessities of the natives of those islands, and to consent that, with indemnity or without, the contested right of British subjects to catch seals in the Bering Sea shall be exercised pending the arbitration. The President finds it difficult to believe that Lord Salisbury is serious in proposing that this Government shall take several bonds from owners of about 100 Canadian sealers to indemnify it for the injury they may severely inflict upon our jurisdiction or property, and must decline to discuss a suggestion which is only his respect for Lord Salisbury and his belief that His Lordship has a due appreciation of the gravity of this discussion enable him to treat with seriousness.

We should doubtless have to pursue and capture upon the high seas many of the owners of those vessels to secure the bonds suggested, and as the condition is to be that the obligors shall pay "any damages which the arbitrators may adjudge," while the treaty gives the arbitrators no power to adjudge any damages, the transaction would be without risk to the obligors and of no value to us.

This Government cannot consent to have what it believes to be its rights destroyed or impaired pending their determination by an agreed tribunal, however adequate the security offered. The reference in my note to the inconsistency of Her Majesty's Government in denying responsibility for the acts of the Canadian sealers was not intended to suggest a willingness on our part under any circumstances to see our property converted into a claim for damages, and particularly as such a claim can not be heard or determined by the arbitrators without a reform of the treaty. His Lordship must remember that while he now offers what he mistakenly calls "security" for satisfying any damages which the arbitrators may "adjudge," he has already carried his point in the treaty that the arbitrators shall have no jurisdiction to award any damages.

As to His Lordship's suggestion that Canadian sealers may have some claim for compensation if Great Britain shall restrain pelagic sealing, the President declines to say that he is not able to see how the citizens or subjects of either of the treaty powers can by any rule of law or equity support any claim against their government which the government of the other party would be bound to satisfy. The suggestions that the conclusions of the Board of Arbitration may not be reached and announced in time to govern the conduct of the parties during the season of 1893 is, I think, fully provided against by the treaty itself.

His Lordship is mistaken as to the time that has elapsed since the signing of the Delagoa Bay agreement with Portugal. It is not four years old, but less than one, the date of signing being June 13, 1891. If the present treaty is promptly ratified or exchanged or otherwise becomes an amicable agreement, delay. The President has found no obstacle in the way of such a consummation, except the well known and unfortunately very prevalent here that the refusal of Great Britain to agree to the preservation of the status quo of the property during the arbitration and her insistence that pelagic sealing shall go on, to the injury, if not destruction, of our rights, largely defeat the object of the treaty.

NOT WARLIKE BUT FIRM.
The President directs me to say in conclusion that the modus of last year is the least that this Government can accept. In reason, the restraints after a treaty of arbitration should be more absolute, not less. He does not desire to protect the discussion, and having now in the most friendly spirit submitted the considerations which support the just demand of this Government that the property which is the subject of an agreed arbitration shall not be subjected to spoliation pending the arbitration, he expresses the hope that Lord Salisbury will give a prompt and friendly assent to renew the modus.

The President will hear with regret that Her Majesty's Government contemplates to assert a right to deal with this subject precisely as if no provision had been made for a settlement of the dispute; and in that event this Government has already been pointed out will be compelled to deal with that subject upon the same basis and to use every means in its power to protect from destruction or serious injury property and jurisdictional rights which it has long claimed and enjoyed.

A most extraordinary instance of human longevity may be found in Smellie's "Philosophy of Natural History," where an account is given of Peter Torten, a native of Hungary, who died January 3, 1724, at the advanced age of 185!

The man who loves the devil here would love him in Heaven.

MILLS CHOSEN SENATOR.

He Was Elected Almost Unanimously by the Texas Legislature.
Bishop and Mrs. Joseph P. Thompson, colored, of Newburgh, N. Y., celebrated their golden wedding. The Bishop, now 73 years old, was born on his seventeenth year, made good his escape to the North, learned the blacksmith's trade, bought books and studied them, began preaching and has been fifty years in the ministry and fifteen in the episcopate. "He was a large, fine-appearing gentleman, almost white," writes a Newburgh neighbor, "and would be noted in any assemblage of men."

ROGER Q. MILLS.
Roger Q. Mills has been elected United States Senator by the Texas Legislature in Austin, to succeed Reagan. He received twenty-nine votes in the Senate and ninety-two in the House, there being twelve scattered complimentary votes for other prominent Texans.

The last ballot resulted as follows: In the Senate—For R. Q. Mills, 31; Wash. Jones, 1; J. D. Sayres, 1.
In the House—For R. Q. Mills, 98; Horace Chilton, 3; H. B. Culberson, 1; Barretts Gibbs, 2; J. E. Bailey, 4.
There was a good deal of speaking in making and seconding the nomination of Mr. Mills. Both houses then adjourned. Senator Chilton had previously addressed a note to a caucus of his friends, announcing his withdrawal from the race, thus leaving the field clear for Mills. Mr. Chilton assigned as his only reason for withdrawing that he found the total vote of his friends in the Legislature insufficient to elect him, and he did not wish to embarrass them who would stand by him.

The announcement in the House at Washington that Roger Q. Mills was the choice of the Texas Legislature to succeed Mr. Reagan in the Senate of the United States was the signal for an enthusiastic outburst of applause, which was exceedingly gratifying to Mr. Mills, who occupied a seat in the outermost row.

A Promising Situation.

(New York Daily Investigator).
Good judges say that one of the next localities to achieve distinction by jumping from a substantial town to a thriving metropolis in a few years will be the city Superior, Wisconsin, and this, too, will infer to the effort and struggle through which towns have passed, while waiting the same result. Until a year or two ago the average man did not stop to think that Superior was a monopolist of water and rail terminals at one end of the lakes in the same position as Buffalo on the other end. Figures are unimportant unless given briefly, but comparison are always important. This little Superior, credited by its last census with only 23,000 people, handled more coal last year than did Chicago; of grain shipped nineteen million bushels, of no sixteen hundred thousand barrels, of flour four million pounds, and of merchandise to the value of thirteen million dollars. Of all lake cities this business is second only to Chicago in magnitude. There is an economical reason for this condition of things. It is that the rate on freight sent west of Lake Michigan is one cent per ton per mile, while the water rate is one-tenth of one cent per ton per mile. This position at the extreme western end of Lake Superior which gives the city of Superior its prestige and is making it grow faster than Chicago ever did. Besides one hundred or so smaller industrial concerns, Superior has located twenty-eight large manufacturing enterprises in the past eighteen months, including the American Steel Barge Company, the builders of the famous "Whitlock" vessel, which is revolutionizing the lake and ocean freight carrying trade. The twenty-eight institutions above mentioned include iron and steel plants, flour mills, stove foundries, wagon factories, pump makers, ship builders and saw and shingle mills. The most conservative business men in the Northwest believe the Superior will grow faster in the next ten years than any other city in that prosperous section of the country, and many of them claim that Chicago, St. Paul, Minneapolis and Milwaukee have never seen the rapid growth that will come to the head of the great chain of lakes and the city of Superior.

Questions Often Asked.
Q. What is Alabastine?
A. It is a substance in a durable coating for walls and ceilings.
Q. Is it the same as kalsomine?
A. It is entirely different from all other preparations on the market.
Q. Can anything but plain work be done with Alabastine?
A. It is made from a cement that goes through process of setting, and will not grow harder with age.
Q. What are kalsomine made from?
A. From whitening chalk, clay or other inert powders for a base, and are entirely dependent upon the coloring of the wall.
Q. Why do kalsomines rub and scale?
A. Because the glue, being animal matter, decays in a few days, leaving the surface in a state of moisture, and the binding qualities of the material are then gone.
Q. Does the Alabastine contain any injurious substances?
A. Kalsomines have been most carefully tested, and is recommended by leading sanitarians throughout the country, on account of its purity.
Q. What has the same investigation shown regarding wall paper?
A. Sanitarians condemn in strong terms the use of wall paper for walls of living rooms on account of the poison used in its manufacture. It can be anything but plain work be done with Alabastine?
A. Any kind of work, from plain tinting to the most elaborate decorating can be done.
Q. How can I learn to do this work and decorate my house?
A. By writing the Alabastine Company, Grand Rapids, Mich., for book of instructions and suggestions and illustrations of stencil; also showing six sets of tinted wall designs. Sent free.

Deafness Can't be Cured
By local applications, as they cannot reach the diseased portion of the ear. There is only one way to cure it, and that is by constitutional remedies. Deafness is caused by an inflamed condition of the mucous lining of the Eustachian Tube. When this tube gets inflamed you have a rumbling sound or imperfect hearing, and when it is entirely closed, deafness is the result, and unless the inflammation can be taken out and this tube restored to its normal condition, hearing will be destroyed, and unless you cure it, you are cured by catarrh, which is nothing but an inflammation of the mucous lining of the Eustachian Tube.
