Her Shake-out and Ashes.

"What penance are you doing in this Lenten season, Mrs. McSimper?" asked the Rev. Dr. Thirly. "Oh, I come to hear your preach every Sunday," was the careful reply.

The Reasons Why.

We call it Alabastine, as it is manufactured from alabaster rock. The people use it because it is durable and beautiful. The sanitarians endorse it because it is of a sanitary nature, and contains no poisonous material.

WALL PAPER.

Wall paper firms fight it, as it displaces their poisonous products. Some dealers talk against it, as they can buy cheap kalamines, and where the price is not posted, sell at Alabastine prices, thus making more profit.

A MOST GRAPHIC STORY.

It is Taken Direct from Real Life. A CHARMING NEW ENGLAND LADY TELLS HER EXPERIENCE BOTH ABROAD AND AT HOME.

The unwritten romances of life are more wonderful and far more interesting than the most vivid works of fiction. The one we are about to relate occurred in real life, and is both interesting and instructive. Mrs. Jennie Ray formerly lived in Manchester, N. H. Her home was pleasant, her surroundings comfortable. In the year 1850 she visited England, and while in that country began to experience strange sensations. At first she attributed them to the change of climate, but they continued and increased, until finally, like many another woman, she became utterly discouraged.

And here comes the interesting part of the story, which will endeavor to tell in Mrs. Ray's own words. She said: "Unknown to all these physicians, I had been using a preparation of which I had heard much. I did not tell the physicians because I feared they would ridicule me, and perhaps order its discontinuance. During all the while that the physicians were at tending me the preparation was steadily and faithfully doing its own work in its own way, until I had my power back. At last the doctor said there was no use of his coming, for he could do me no good. I had suffered so much that I was quite willing to take any medicine that was offered to me, and he declared it was a fibroid tumor, but said he had never known one to come away of itself before. I immediately began to gain health and strength, and I unhesitatingly declare that my rescue from death was due solely to the marvelous effects of Warner's Safe Cure, which was the remedy I took unknown to the physicians, and which certainly rescued me from the grave. It is my firm belief that many ladies who are said to die of cancer of the womb are cases like mine, and if they could be induced to use Warner's Safe Cure they, like me, might be saved."

What would you think and what would you say if you made some delicious sweets, loaves and lots of them, with a great deal of patience and trouble, and then somebody come and took them all away? Well, what ever you think or say, that is what is happening to us bees all the time. We live in a house called a hive, in which we build of wax a great number of little six-sided closets, because that is the shape that gives the most space and strength with the least amount of material. The way we manage to give these tiny closets this shape is a secret known only to the bee-keepers, and they never have told it, and they never will tell it. When these six-sided closets, or cells as you call them, are finished the working bees, for I won't deny that we have many idlers among us, go out with their honey-bags and gather the sweet juices from the flowers. When these bags will hold no more, the workers return to the hive, place the juice in the small closets, seal up the closets, and leave it there to turn to honey, thinking what a fine time they will have feasting on it in winter. But just as soon as it is turned to honey, along comes somebody and carries it, closets and all, away. Once, however, we got even with the farmer on whose grounds we lived. Hum-um-um, what fun it was! He took our honey and some of us followed him to see where he stored it. Well, he put it in a box in the barn—a box with a glass cover and he slid the cover over it with great care. But with all his great care he never noticed a round hole in one side of the box, big enough to admit three or four bees at a time. But I did, and as soon as he had gone I hummed my loudest, and when I had attracted the attention of my comrades I said: "Well, hurry home and make all things ready, and then we'll just carry this honey back again." Such a fluttering of wings and humming and buzzing as there were! And we did it—yes, we did. And it didn't take us many days, either, and when that farmer came to look for that honey he didn't find it. Hum-um-um, wasn't it fun!—Free Press.

THE ADVANTAGE OF BUYING A KNIFE OF THIS KIND.

"The advantage of buying a knife of this kind," said the salesman persuasively, "is that it has a good file blade."

"What—a—is a file blade, faw?" inquired Fwedy Olechop.

"For filing your finger-nails." "I—aw—nevah use anything but the edge of a gold chain for that," said Fwedy, transfixing the presumptuous salesman by a cold stare through his eye-glass.—Chicago Tribune.

Singular Ignorance. "Do you know that Mrs. Coldwater actually asked me to-day what a jag was?" "She did?" "Fact. The idea of a woman having a husband and not knowing what a jag is!"—Texas Siftings.
