THE STAR is not an advocate of the liquor traffic. In fact if The Star had the power it would wipe liquor out of existence, but as liquor is manufactured, it is going to be sold in some shape or form in every community where there are men who desire to drink it. Licensed Senator Palmer has proudly donned the mantle of "some good western man," and he says it fits. "Bill" Morrison, ever was distilled. one of the good old anti-license towns that Prohibitionists delight to dream of But it is also well known that there is about as much drunkenness in Berlin as in any other town of its size. The local paper of that town complains of the drunkenness that exists there, and the following is what the Berlin correspondent to the Somerset Standard has to say ent to the Somerset Standard has to say:

"Berlin has no whiskey saloons, neither has she a law prohibiting the sale of bitters, made of cheap whiskey and just smough bitters to pass them through the drug store as medicine. One of our inhabitants for some time has been in a how-come-you-so condition. Lately he reached the point where in his eyes stick-became snakes and bugs crawled out of his ears; back of all this was bitters, how many bottles of bitters drank deponent sayeth not. but the results are known to all. This man is a citizen, but is losing the confidence of thinking men, he is a husband, but is trampling in the mire of drink the respect of wife; he is a father, but is trampling on the affections and prospects of his children; he has been a church member, but by his acts is insulting his God. Drink is causing him to wipe out the good of the past, make a failure of the present and a hell of the future; he is killing his body, prostituting his mind and making shipwreck of his soul. It is time for him to put the brakes down; some think it is too late, I do not. The old hymn sang true. "White the lamp holds out to burn the vilest sinner may return." No man is too far gone to be saved. I hope this may reach the eye of the man; if so, stop, be a man overcome your appetite, and take your place again as an honest clitzen, a good husband, a true father, and an upright follower of Him who came to seek and save the lost."

THE STAR'S views on the temperance

Our Foreign Competitors.

In Great Britain the wages average about one-half of the wages in the United States. Few of the working people own their homes. They have few, if any luxuries—in fact many of our necessaries luxuries—in fact many of our necessaries of life are considered luxuries by them. Every penny earned is needed to make both eads meet, so that after years of toil there is not a dollar saved, and the poorhouse is the last home of hundreds of thousands.

class are women. Together with children they work in the mines, in the fields and in the mills. Home life as we know it is not found. They simply exist.

In Holland a man considers himself fortunate if he earns $230 a year, eats. meat but once a week, and saving is out of the question.

In Italy meat is seldom eaten, even by a skilled mechanic. Average wages of males, $8 per week; females, $1.50. In Austria a mere pittance is all that is had by a large portion of the men and women, even after working 72 hours and more per week. Coarse clothing, poor and but little food and a miserable life is the result.

The use and abuse of the title "profes-sor," in the United States, strikes every foreigner. The time was, even here, when this prefix carried with it dignity and commanded respect. Until lately a "professor" was supposed to be a teacher hotels are cried down by Prohibitionists of every community, but they seem to forget that thrice accursed is the town versity. In these days the title "profeswithout licensed hotels, where men get sor" is not only applied to teachers in the drunk on the vile and far more costly common schools, (some of whom might common schools, (some of whom might IF Representative O'Ferrall thought to disguised liquors sold at drug stores and almost be deserving of it,) but it has aske Senator Hill feel bad by referring other places.
