Capital, Labor and Industrial.

At a meeting of tanners of New York State last week, it was decided to shut down for 60 days. All the principal tanneries, numbering about 120, will be affected. The reason given for the shut-down is over production and dull trade.

One of the greatest labor troubles that New England has ever been afflicted with is now in full progress. It is in the granite trade. All of the granite firms have closed their works by a concerted pre-arrangement mainly because the workmen would not consent to have all agreements between employer and employe date each year from January 1, instead of from May 1, as has been the custom. A conservative estimate places the number of locked-out quarrymen at 120,000. They live mainly in Boston, Quincy, Monson, Rockport and Milford, Mass.; Concord, N. H.; Hallowell, Waterville, Clark's Mills and Portland, Me.; Barre, Vt.; Westley, R. I.

The building business in New York is completely prostrated by the strike of the granite workers in New England. It is estimated that fully 50,000 men are out of work.

About 150 Chicago granite cutters struck to help their fellow-workmen in the East.

Philadelphia granite cutters have struck against handling non-union granite from New England.

Two hundred and fifty lathers struck at Philadelphia for $1.75 per 1,000 laths, and two-thirds of the boss plasterers complied with the demands.

From May 5 to May 18, 233 contract laborers have been barred from entering the United States at New York.

Another meeting of the striking Durham coal miners was held at London. A vote was taken on the question of resuming work, but a majority of the delegates voted in favor of continuing the strike. This strike has now been going on for over two months, and the greatest suffering exists, not only among the miners themselves, but among the factory hands, iron-workers and others, whose places of work have been closed in consequence of the impossibility of procuring fuel.

Local Assembly 8430, Knights of Labor New York, and the New York State Engineers' Society, passed resolutions protesting against the action of the labor leaders in calling out 60,000 granite quarrymen on account of an alleged grievance of six granite block cutters.

Many plasterers, hodcarriers and bricklayers of Pittsburgh are striking, and building as a consequence, is delayed. The building trades have three strikes on hand and of suits for injunctions.

The new law provides that no such corporation shall permit or require any conductors, engineers, trainmen who have worked 24 hours to go again on duty until he has had at least eight hours' rest. Ten hours' work performed within 12 consecutive hours shall constitute a day's work on all steam railway roads.

Crime and Penalties.

Frank Crane, a Cincinnati, O., salesman, shot Hattie Hagedorn and then suicided, because she would have nothing to do with him. She will die.

A girl about 18 years old, disguised as a calf, was shot at Lake Creek, Idaho, while stealing ore. Several thousand dollars worth was missed before the girl was shot.

For the second time New York State's original electrical execution apparatus was used Thursday in Auburn, and in the chair where Kemmler was experimented upon Joseph L. Rice was electrocuted, being the State's ninth victim. He met death bravely and yet not with any bravado, and so far as human ingenuity or science can discover, he died instantly and without pain. The execution lasted but a few seconds. From the time the warden notified him in his cell that all was in readiness until death was announced was two and one-half minutes. The quickest rope execution in this State has been timed at 23 minutes.

About 75,000 granite workers throughout the country are now on strike, and the fight is only just begun.

Oliver Curtis Perry, the train robber, pleaded guilty to four indictments in court at Lyons, N. Y., and was sentenced to 49 1/2 years of hard work in Auburn prison. At Philadelphia, Pa., Luigi Cicarone, an Italian, who on February 19 last killed his wife by scalding her, was convicted of murder in the second degree and sentenced to 12 years' imprisonment.

An attempt was made to wreck a Rock Island railroad train near Des Moines, Ia., Saturday night. Ties were piled across the track. The night track-walker was shot at, but succeeded in stopping the train.

Four men boarded a train on the Jacksonville, Tampa and Key West railroad near Monroe Junction, Fla., and attempted to rob the express car. Messenger W. N. Saunders and Special Agent L. M. Cox made a desperate resistance, and the former was killed, while Cox was seriously wounded. The robbers jumped from the train without securing anything. A posse is in pursuit.

James P. Tanager, at Gardner, Me., shot his wife and then committed suicide. He also fired shots at his sister and brother-in-law Cause, a family quarrel.

The Baptist Congress, at Philadelphia, Pa., during the second day's meeting, discussed the question: "Is a union of various Baptist bodies feasible?" Rev. B. B. Tyler, D. D., read a paper viewing the subject from the standpoint of the Disciples' sect, expressing the opinion that it is not only feasible but of prime importance. He favored a union like that of the Primitive church, not doctrine, but personal in its nature. Rev. A. A. Lewis, editor of the Sabbath Outlook, believed the union could be brought about, but confined his argument to defending the practice of his own sect, the Seventh Day Baptists, in observing the Sabbath day as the Sabbath. Prof. J. A. Howe, D. D., a Free-Will Baptist, of Cobb Divinity School, argued that union was possible by cordially agreeing to God's law of variety in unity, by allowing every church to preach what it practices, and practice what it preaches. A paper from W. H. Wyatt, D. D., of the Southern Theological Seminary, was read, which declared the probabilities against an organic union, on account of the greater tendencies to scatter among religious bodies, the frequency of theological disputes and the tenacity with which men cling to their opinions.

The fire was the hottest and fiercest since the fire that swept the same site in 1853, and the property destroyed could not be replaced for $1,000,000.

MANY PERISHED.

A Frightful Cyclone Sweeps over Mauritius, in the Indian Ocean.

LONDON, May 21.—Advices received here from Mauritius state that a hurricane, unprecedented in its violence, passed over that island on April 29, causing enormous damage to shipping. A majority of the vessels at the island were blown ashore. The western half of Port Louis, the capital, was devastated. Houses were blown down, gigantic trees were uprooted and that part of the town was wiped out of existence.

The loss of life was appalling. A large number of persons were caught in the falling houses and crushed to death, while others lost their lives by being struck by flying debris while they were attempting to seek places of safety. The roar of the gale was deafening, and people rushed to and fro in aimless confusion with no idea of what they were doing. Rain fell in torrents.

The exact number of dead is not known. Every effort is being made by the authorities to alleviate the suffering that has been caused by the disaster.

Mauritius, or as it is sometimes called, Isle of France, has always been noted for its violent and destructive hurricanes, but this one exceeds in destructiveness any hitherto known. The island lies in the Indian ocean and is well known as the scene of the famous story of "Paul and Virginia." In that story the author describes with great minuteness a terrible hurricane that passed over the island, during which Paul and Virginia lost their lives. But the horror of that scene was far exceeded by this latest death-carrying wind that has thrown the whole island into mourning.

(N. Y. Sun.)

It would be difficult to measure the interest and comment, not to say excitement, which the published letter of Dr. R. A. Gunn, which appeared in the paper yesterday, has occasioned. The prominence of the doctor and the unusual nature of the letter have both tended to add interest to the subject and make it really the talk of the town.

I called upon Dr. Gunn at his residence, No. 124 West Forty-seventh street, yesterday afternoon. I found the reception room crowded, and it was only after an hour's waiting that I succeeded in obtaining an interview.

Dr. Gunn is a distinguished looking man, and impressed me at once by his manly bearing and air of sincerity. I took the seat he courteously offered me and said:

"Are you aware, doctor, of the commotion your letter has caused?"

Dr. Gunn smiled and replied: "Things out of the ordinary usually cause commotion. It is not a common thing for physicians to endorse and cordially recommend medicines other than those in the Materia Medica. History is full of instances of scientists who have indorsed discoveries they believe to be valuable, and have been denounced for so doing, and yet these same discoveries are blessing the world today. I hope that the manhood and courage to be true to my convictions, and that is why I so openly and unflinchingly indorse Warner's Safe Cure as being the greatest of modern discoveries for the cure of diseases which have baffled the highest skill of the medical profession. I was impressed with the earnestness of the doctor, and saw that he meant every word that he said.

"How long have you known of this remedy, doctor?" I asked.

"Nearly ten years," he replied. "My attention was originally called to the Safe Cure by a serious case of Bright's disease, which was considered hopeless, and yet, much to my surprise, under its use the patient recovered. I have tried it in other cases since, then constantly, and my original faith in its power has been confirmed. I have seen patients recover from inflammation of the bladder, gravel and Bright's disease when all other treatment had failed, and I have found it especially efficient in all female troubles."

"Can you specify any particular cases, doctor?" I asked.

"That is a delicate thing to do," the doctor replied, "but as I always keep a written record of my cases, I can accommodate you."

Thereupon the doctor opened his desk and produced his record book. Turning over the leaves he said:

"Here is a case of a gentleman who was a great sufferer of inflammation of the bladder of long standing. He had consulted a number of physicians without benefit. When first I consulted I myself tried the usual methods of treatment, but without success, and finally advised him to try Warner's Safe Cure. He felt better from the start, and in a few weeks was entirely cured."

The doctor turned a few pages further and then said:

"Here is another case. It is that of a gentleman who had frequent attacks of renal colic, which, as you know, is grave forming in the kidneys. He had never been able to prevent these formations, but after an unusually severe attack I recommended him to try the Safe Cure, which he did, and although it is three years since he took the remedy, he has never had an attack since."

The doctor continued to turn the leaves of his book, and suddenly exclaimed:

"Here is a most remarkable case. It is that of a lady who has suffered for some time from Bright's disease. She became enclente, and about the fourth month suddenly became blind, had convulsions and finally fell into a state of coma, caused by uræmia or kidney poison. Several physicians who saw her said she could not live, and in this view I fully concurred. As she could still swallow I said, as a last resort, that they might try Warner's Safe Cure. They did so, and to the surprise of every one she recovered. She has since given birth to a living child, and is perfectly well."

"These are certainly most wonderful cases, doctor," I said, "and while I do not for a moment question their authenticity, I should consider it a great favor if you would give me their names. I think the importance of the subject would fully justify it."

"In the interest of other sufferers I think you are correct," Dr. Gunn finally observed, "after a moment's thought. 'Both the lady and her husband are so rejoiced, so grateful, over her recovery that I know she is only too glad to have her name put in. The lady is Mrs. Eves, wife of the well known customer. She was not only restored, but is in perfect health to-day."

I thanked the doctor for his courteous reception, for the valuable information imparted, and I feel assured that his generous and humane nature will prevent him from withholding other than that which this interview published for the benefit of suffering humanity.

Slow but Sure.

The Austrian method of execution seems to be but a slight improvement on electrocution. The Austrians swing a halter over the neck of a murderer and string him up, while the executioner-in-chief, wearing white kid gloves, calmly beholds the victim wriggle, and two ponderous assistants pull him down by the legs.

Considerate Pupils.

Professor A. C. Reese, of Carrollton, Ga., has been teaching school fifty-six years. He says he has taught nearly 5,000 pupils, and never has had but two die in school time.

There is more catarrh in this section of the country than all other diseases put together, and until the last few years was supposed to be incurable. For a great many years doctors pronounced it a local disease, and prescribed local remedies, but by constantly failing to cure with local treatment, pronounced it incurable. Science has proven catarrh to be a constitutional disease, and therefore requires constitutional treatment. Hall's Catarrh Cure, manufactured by F. J. Cheney & Co., Toledo, Ohio, is the only constitutional cure on the market. It is taken internally in doses from 10 drops to a teaspoonful. It acts directly upon the blood and mucous surfaces of the system. They offer $100 for any case it fails to cure. Send for circulars and testimonials. Address: F. J. CHENEY & CO., TOLEDO, O.
