BUSINESS MENTION, WANTS AND
Announcements.

Farmers, Take Notice.
For the benefit of those who have a large amount of wheat on hand yet, I will say through the worthy columns of THE STAR, look after your wheat very closely, now, through the months of June and July, as it will go through a sweating process, even if it was dry when stored away. In order to keep it in a condition so that good flour can be made of it, you must air it at this time of the year. If you only move it out of one bin into another it will help it greatly.
Keep your wheat in good condition, and you will not have any trouble to command top market price for same.

H. A. REITZ.
THE STAR has several very fine organs, pianos and sewing machines for sale, taken in exchange for advertising, that can kind of a sewing machine, organ or pi-money than any other dealer in the county will sell you the same goods for. We are in a position to get you some of these goods for less than wholesale price, and we can prove it to you. Get other people's prices and then call and see how bad we can beat them all.

BEATTY'S PIANOS AND ORGANS.
Hon. Daniel F. Beatty, the great Organ and Piano manufacturer, in building and shipping more Organs and Pianos than ever. In 1870 Mr.
Beatty left home a penniless plow-boy, and by his indomitable will he has worked his way up so as to sell so far, nearly 100,000 of Beatty's Organs and Pianos since 1870. Nothing seems to distract him; obstacles laid in his way, that would have wrecked any ordinary man forever, turn to an advertisement and comes out of it brighter than ever. His instruments, as is well known, are very popular and are to be found in all parts of the world. We are informed that during the next ten years he intends to sell 30,000 more of his make, that means a business of $20,000,000 if we average them at $100 each.
It is already the largest business of the kind in existence.—Send to Daniel F. Beatty, Washington, New Jersey, for Catalogue.

Licensing Engineers.
The question of licensing engineers is being so agitated in every state in the Union that within a short time, it will be impossible for any one intrusted with steam to hold or secure a situation without passing a rigid examination and obtaining a license. Stephenson's Illustrated Practical Test has been published to aid engineers preparing to pass such examination, and as it embraces all the questions asked on the Boiler, Pump, Engine, Dynamo, Corlies Engine, &c., it has already met with such a demand that it is now in its fourth edition. This work, which only costs one dollar, can be obtained of the publisher, Walter G. Kraft, 70 La Salle Street, Chicago.

Are You Going to be Married?
Of course you are, for God has said that it is not good for man to live alone. We wish to advise that it is not good for you to commit matrimony without seeing THE STAR'S fine assortment of wedding stationery. We can show you over 100 different styles to select from. Call early and make your selections.

CORRESPONDENCE.

Grantsville.
Wheat is in heads, clover is blossoming and corn ready to be plowed.
Sheriff Jamison and David Durst, of Oakland, were in town, Tuesday night.
J. S. Broadwater visited Accident over Sunday.

Gid Hershberger was unfortunate while at Salisbury, last week. He was doing some hauling, and had four horses in the team, and one of the leaders became frightened by the discharge of steam at the planing mill, and wheeled around, throwing the saddle horse and breaking his shoulder, which necessitated the killing of the animal.

We consider this community very fortunate in Dr. Bruce Lichty locating here, and believe him to be an able and trustworthy physician.

"Golly!" there is fun in hearing the bell and whistle, at one time, in the morning.
SATELLITE.
June 8th, 1892.

Southampton.
Geo. Martz Sr., has been on the sick list for the last two or three weeks, but we are glad to hear that he is getting much better.

Rev. W. C. Garland occupied the pulpit at Kennell's Mills Union church, last Sunday, and preached a grand sermon.

J. H. Martz and wife attended the funeral of the daughter of Jacob Shoemaker, who died at Pittsburg and was interred at Hyndman.

Our constable arrested A. M. Rizer, last Sunday, at Wellersburg church.

J. J. Martz and wife are at present visiting in Illinois and Iowa. They contemplate staying there all summer.

Nelson Bittner, our enterprising man who owns the distillery near Glencoe, is putting the jugs out like hot cakes.

Rev. Jacob Fichtner occupied the pulpit at the Kennell's Mills church last Sunday evening.

Rev. B. Knepper, of Wellersburg, held his communion services last Sabbath.
The reverend gentleman preached a good sermon.
PRIMA DONNA.
June 6th, 1892.

State Line.
Very good growing weather.
Corn is about all up and looks nice.
Oats made a good change last week.
Wheat is coming in heads.
Clover is showing its red heads.
Cherries are about half grown.
The apple crop will be a little thin this year.

Strawberries will soon be coming in.
There will be a heavy crop of them.
The parties who were in Virginia last week returned on Thursday. They say they like that country very well.

Rev. M. J. Beachy and Rev. M. D. Yoder left last week for West Virginia to hold a series of meetings there.

We are informed that Mrs. Dan Yoder, in West Virginia, is very ill and that their little baby died some time ago.
Katie E. Hershberger and Barbara J.
Swartzentruber intend to start for Virginia this week. I guess everybody will soon be going to see that "paradise," or the lovely land on this side of Jordan.
But to get on the other side of Jordan we must take a different route and make other preparations, so that we can cross over and stay forever there.

Sheep dogs have again been getting in their work. Last Wednesday night they killed one for D. S. Beachy and also bit one. They also bit several belonging to E. D. Hershberger and killed one for U.
D. Yoder. "Blue pills" were fed to the dogs belonging to D. J. Swartzentruber and L. S. Yoder, so it is safe to say that none of those dogs will kill any more sheep.

J. S. Miller is hard on bullfrogs, as he helped to get away with eighteen of them. He says they have the best kind of meat and make good eating.

J. B. Miller and his best girl took a trip to J. J. Maust's and spent Whit, Sunday and Monday visiting friends and relatives in that vicinity.

We were wrong last week in stating that some of J. S. Miller's sheep had been killed by dogs. We were misinformed.
Whenever we are wrongly informed about any item of news and it goes into print, the mistake will always be cheerfully corrected if some one informs the editor of the error.

Concerning the Verdict in the Fahrer-Niland Murder Case.

EDITOR STAR:—I see by the papers that Fahrer was found guilty of manslaughter.
Some of the papers think he got off very easy. For my part, I don't think so.
I heard the case through from end to end, and in my judgment it was a clear case of self-defense. I do not think or believe that any man, according to justice or the laws of God and man, is bound to stand and let any fiend in the shape of a man drive a pick through his body and not kill his assailant in order to prevent him from doing so. I look at every man's life as being very precious, especially precious to himself, and after all, self-preservation is the first law of nature in all things and under all circumstances.
I have made up my mind long ago that whenever things come to such a crisis that one of two men must die, and were I one of the two, I would greatly prefer to have the other man do the dying.

From the evidence in the Fahr-er-Niland case, according to my judgment, no man of good sense would ever put himself in a position such as Niland did, without expecting to be killed. If ever I put myself in the same position that he did, and get killed, I don't want my friends nor any commonwealth to persecute or prosecute the man that killed me. Just make up your minds at once that I was a fool and deserved death.

But I do not censure the jury for doing just as they did do, and no man has any right for one moment to think or say that they did anything but what seemed just and right to them. I know that people are not all constituted alike, nor do they all think alike. I know that some men have such a terrible horror of killing that they would suffer a fiend in the shape of a man to strike a dagger into their hearts and not think of killing him to prevent him from killing them. Of course such men take up the idea at once that when one man is killed by another that there is a murder committed, saying: "This man is a murderer." They never consider the circumstances, even if it is shown beyond a doubt that he had to kill or be killed. They think he had no right to kill, and in their estimation he is a murderer and must be punished.

In order to prove that men are not all constituted alike or think alike, we will go back to the war of the Rebellion.
There is a class of men that took the conscientious oath. They would swear that they were opposed to war. According to their way of thinking war was unjustifiable under all circumstances. They had such a horror of shedding blood that before they would take up arms to save the life of the nation or their own lives and property they would suffer death rather than shed human blood. Even our worthy attorney, who has so ably prosecuted the defendant in this case, and who is a royal good fellow and an able attorney, can readily be classed with men that are constitutionally opposed to the shedding of human blood, under any and all circumstances, even unto the saving of the nation. Why are these men of that nature? Simply because they are constituted in that way and were taught that doctrine in their boyhood.

Now we will take the other side: Here is this man Fuhrer. I am not acquainted with him, but I saw him, in the Court room. He appeared to be a young man, yet I was told that he had been a soldier in the Regular army for five years. He must have been very young when he enlisted. Now, what were the teachings he received? The first thing he was required to do was to take a solemn oath, with uplifted hand, and swear by Almighty God, the searcher of all hearts, to support and defend the United States government, etc. Next he was armed with a weapon belonging to the government. He was then drilled to handle that weapon in a skillful and useful manner and in all the manoeuvres pertaining to the army drill.
He was taught that it was his duty to fight the enemies of the nation, at the risk of his own life, and to capture or kill them wherever he could find them.
Under these circumstances he would naturally come to the conclusion that if it becomes the duty of American citizens to kill men in order to save the honor and life of a government, he would have an undisputed right to kill a man to save his own life.
