 JOHN COLEMAN, Proprietor. JOHN SCHELMER, Conductor.

LOCAL AND GENERAL.

Prof. Dickey drove to Berlin last Saturday.

Geo. S. Young, of Meyersdale, has moved to Williamsport.

Dead in the shell—the Salisbury and Meyersdale electric road.

Will Moser's new barn is to be raised on Saturday of this week.

Dr. O. G. Getty, of Grantsville, has decided to locate in Meyersdale.

Silas Wagner spent several days in Somerset, last week, on business.

Alex. Livengood, of Scottdale, is at present visiting friends in our city.

Prof. Howard Miller orders THE STAR sent to his address at Lewisburg, Pa.

Pierce Miller, the Stoyestown cattle buyer, was in this vicinity this week.

Read Wm. Petty's new "ad" in this issue. There is much of importance in it.

By a fall of coal, the other day, in Statler's mine, Robert Walker had an arm broken.

Samuel Baer, of Greenville township, died on Wednesday at 9 o'clock. Dropsy was his ailment.

And now, just as we go to press, they say that Mr. and Mrs. Harvey Maust have a brand new daughter.

Services in the Lutheran church, Sunday, at 2 P. M. Subject, "Methodism." All are invited to attend.

The new clarinet makes a big improvement in the band, and what's more, Davis knows how to play it.

Mrs. McMullen, of accident, Md., mother of Mrs. Dr. Speicher, is visiting the doctor and family at present.

H. H. Smith, the genial agent for the W. H. Clouse woolen factory, was making his rounds in this vicinity this week.

D. L. Stanton, of Garrett county, Md., an old-time schoolmate of the editor's, made THE STAR a pleasant call last week.

Physicians say that Spring fever is not a mere figure of speech, but an actual ailment, the scientific name being neurasthenia.

Samuel Foust, his wife and two children, and Mrs. John Faust, of Johnstown, were the guests of H. A. Reitz and family, last week.

Cyrus McKenzie, who recently went to Pittsburg in search of employment, has returned home. He says he could not find the kind of a job he wanted.

John Cesena, of Bedford, has been re-elected for the 28th consecutive time, President of the Board of Trustees of Franklin and Marshall College, Lancaster.

Jeff Garber and C. S. May recently caught 69 trout in a few hours fishing. That is one of the best catches yet reported, considering the short time it took to catch them.

Just as we go to press word is received here that Cleveland has received the Democratic Presidential nomination and that the choice for second place is Stephenson, of Illinois.

A match game of base ball was played, Monday, between the West Salisbury and Grassy Run clubs. The score stood 37 to 20, in favor of West Salisbury. Six innings were played.

D. I. Hay is wearing a huge smile that is spread all over the south part of his face, because it's a boy. Isaac Rees also looks as happy as a big sunflower, owing to the fact that it's a girl.

The Salisbury band has ordered new uniforms. The coats will be sack pattern and dark blue in color. The pantaloons will be light blue and the caps will be of the Gilmore pattern.

Messrs. A. F. John and E. M. Beachly of this place have secured the option on a North Carolina timber tract that will yield from seventy-five to eighty millions feet of lumber.—Commercial.

Monday last Mr. Charles Pitt made arrangements to handle the entire strawberry crop of Rev. S. Baumgardner, of Salisbury, who is an enthusiastic raiser of small fruits.—Commercial.

One item in an Oregon horse doctor's bill read: "To holdin' a post-mortem examination on a boss who afterward recovered, $1.50." It was paid on the ground of square professional talent.

If you have chapped hands, face, or rough or red skin, from any cause, use Stewart's Almond Cream. It will please you and bring quick relief. Only 10 and 25 cents a bottle. Sold by J. L. Barchus.

Henry S. Wagner, of Grantsville, Md., died suddenly on Wednesday night. Mr. Wagner had been a cripple for many years, owing to a spinal trouble, which is believed to have finally effected his brain and caused his death.

Everybody should be intensely interested in politics. But no one should permit passion to overthrow reason. Argument is always legitimate, but vituperation is the overflowing of a bad heart or a diseased mind.—Somerset Democrat.

S. A. Howe and 110 other citizens of York county, Nebraska, have asked Congress that in future the salaries of all Senators and Representatives in favor of the free and unlimited coinage of silver be paid them in silver only.

James K. Fuller, the oldest son of Elijah Fuller, died May 28th at Salmon City, Idaho. The deceased was born in Grantsville, Md., but emigrated to the far west nineteen years ago. He was engaged in the cattle business. He leaves a widow and one child.

W. H. Dill, Jr., has sold his interest in the Dill-Williams livery stable to B. L. Kemp, at present bar-keeper of the Commercial Hotel. Mr. Dill, it is stated, will remove to Boynton, where he has a large contract with the Salisbury Extract Works.—Register.

The contested election case of Greevy vs. Scull for the seat the latter now holds in the 52d Congress, was argued before the Committee on Elections, Thursday and Friday. The committee is not expected to report for at least a month.—Somerset Herald.

John Bender, of whom our Chestnut Springs correspondent has something to say this week, was captured, Wednesday night, and brought to town by Constable Chas. Crossen. Bender will have a hearing before Esquire Lowry, next week, when his fate will be determined.

We are informed of the publication of a novelty in the book line which is certain of an enormous sale. This book is "Glimpses of the World. A Portfolio of Photographs" prepared under the supervision of the great traveler and lecturer—John L. Stoddard. It contains photographic views of famous scenes and places in all parts of the world. Every view is fully described. As an educator it is invaluable. It contains 550 pages, and nearly 275 views, and is sold by subscription at popular prices. The R. S. Peale Co., Chicago, are the publishers and they desire an agent in this locality. They will gladly mail descriptive circulars, sample views and terms to all, on application.

For some time past there has been considerable trouble at Boynton between Alvin Thomas and Joseph Smith. Smith claims that Thomas has been annoying him and his aged mother for a long time, calling his mother all sorts of vile names and making himself generally offensive and obnoxious to them. He says Thomas came to their house a few nights ago, tramped down their garden vegetables, fired a revolver off several times and wanted to kill him. The next day young Smith had Thomas arrested and arraigned before Esquire Lichliter, where he was bound over to court in the sum of $300. We regret that we must from time to time chronicle such events as this, but the way of the transgressor is hard and we are here to print the news.

The following, from the Salt Lake Tribune, will doubtless be of interest to many of our readers, as it has reference to the marriage of Miss Alice Keim, a former Elk Lick girl, to James Dryden, of Utah. "Mr. James Dryden, of Logan, acted a double drama yesterday. In the forenoon he appeared before the Clerk of the District Court and took the oath of allegiance to the United States. At 12 o'clock noon he took the oath of allegiance to a young lady of this city. Before the Clerk he solemnly renounced all allegiance to Queen Victoria, and later swore allegiance to another queen, who will hereafter claim his best fealty. In other words, this is a case of a Canadian being annexed to a united state. He evidently believes that one woman is enough to owe allegiance to at a time, and he will no doubt be a loyal subject to the new queen who sits enthroned in his affections. Queen Victoria may not lose a great deal, but Mr. Dryden, we think, has gained much by the transaction."

Opening of the Salisbury Opera House. The new opera house is now finished, and is one of which the citizens of Salisbury can justly be proud. We would like for some one to show us another town in the county that has a finer one. While it is true that it may not be as large as a barn in its dimensions, yet it is commodious enough to answer the wants of Salisbury for some years to come. There will be one hundred and fifty-seven chairs for reserved seats, and one hundred and twenty-eight general admission seats. It is the purpose of Beachy Bros. to endeavor to secure the best class of performances in all lines that can be secured, taking all things into consideration. They are to be congratulated that they have secured for the opening nights two first-class entertainments in every particular. The character of these entertainments is such that all can attend, be entertained and fascinated by the pleasing representations of things new and strange. Mamroov, a native of Jerusalem, is to give the first two entertainments on the opening nights, June 30th and July 1st. He has just completed a successful lecture tour through England, and every place he has been in this country he has been received with enthusiasm. Mamroov as a lad took great interest in the peasantry of Palestine. While still very young he entered the services of Sir Charles Warren as interpreter and thus daily came in contact with men of science and ability, and also with many of the common people throughout the country. Later he became the interpreter of the United States Consulate at Jerusalem, and in that capacity formed the acquaintance of a number of Americans. He afterwards came to this country and entered the lecture field. Mr. Von Finkelstein Mamroov thoroughly understands the manners, customs and habits of ancient and modern life in Syria and Palestine; and, with household furniture and costumes, shows to his audiences real life in the historic east.

He comes with the highest recommendations from men like Dr. Vincent and Newman D. D., L. L. D. and from newspapers like the New York Times, Sun and World. You will make no mistake if you go to hear him. Different program each night. Music will be furnished by the Salisbury orchestra. Reserved seats can now be procured at Beachy Bros.' hardware store.

Amision: Reserved seats, first night, June 30th, 40 cents. Reserved seats, second night, July 1st, 35 cents. General admission, first night, 30 cents. General admission, second night, 25 cents.

An exchange says that every child in the United States ought to be a Republican and Protectionist just from listening to the talk of their seniors who relate how they were whipped in childhood for breaking a dish when we bought our queensware from England. It was an expensive article, and nearly all laboring men in the country fed their children out of tin plates. Now, under the wise care of home industries, queensware is so low in price that parents would hardly look cross at a child if it were to smash a whole set of dishes.

SHORT TARIFF SERMON.
PROTECTION AND PATRIOTISM.
 Aside from the fact of its material benefits, the higher wages and greater prosperity which it always brings, Protection deserves the support of American citizens because it is pre-eminently an American policy. The great statesmen of our country, irrespective of party, Jefferson as well as Washington and Hamilton, Jackson as well as Clay and Webster, have all believed in Protection, not only because as wise men they saw the need of it, but also because it emphasized and exalted that American spirit of which all were equally enthusiastic exponents. Free-Trade has nothing to offer us but what is foreign. It wishes us to buy foreign goods and import them in foreign ships. It holds out to us the prospect of foreign markets, and thinks no trade good but foreign trade. The very idea is foreign, imported from Great Britain, and its foothold has been secured in this country through the employment of foreign emissaries. Protection thinks that so far as markets, laborers, industries, products, ships, trade are concerned, in the words of an American poet, "There's no place like home."

It wishes it understood that American products are good enough for the American people. It thinks that the Free-Traders' claim that American laborers are not skillful enough to manufacture as well as half-starved laborers of Europe is a sneer at the intelligence of American people. And above all other things, it emphasizes the fact that there is an American standard of wages and of living, and that our national life and the high grade of our country's citizenship depends on that standard's perpetuation. The impartial man, therefore, who weighs both sides of the question cannot but conclude that Protection is the more patriotic policy, and as such, more worthy of a patriot's support. For with the great mass of mankind, patriotism still continues to be regarded as a noble feeling, despite the contempt of the "philosopher" or the sneers of the Mugwump.

Bridal and Burial.
 (From Frank Leslie's Weekly.)
 It was a soldier's bridal day
 His darling stood in robes of gray
 To give to him her heart.
 The soldier wore the army blue,
 And vowed his vows of honor true,
 "Till death their lives should part."
 Above them hung our banner bright;
 Each heart was sad, and yet alight
 With hope he might not fall.
 And that some happy gala day,
 He would return with her to stay,
 When bugles did not call.
 "Haste to my rescue!" Freedom cried.
 The soldier marched away—he died.
 As white as winter snow
 He came again; alas! alas!
 They hid his face beneath the grass
 Full thirty years ago.

Under the pillow where his head
 Was lying the dear bride-wife spread
 Her wedding gown of gray.
 They found her picture on his breast,
 And left it undisturbed to rest
 'Till God's memorial day.

Her brow wears alms of the years;
 Her eyes have not forgot the tears
 They shed that vanished day;
 Her locks have lost youth's loveliness;
 Their hue is like her bridal dress
 Of unsubstrive gray.

Time is grief's healer: but she waits
 Alone for him who by the gates
 Of heaven records the hours
 Till she shall come with love as true,
 As when he wore the army blue,
 Or lay 'mid funeral flowers.

Are You Going to be Married?
