It was an interesting picture to study, the bright light of a perfect day was not oftened by rose-intend windows nor shadwed by Gothic arches and columns, but streamed in boldly through big skylights, narply defining the hugh steel beams and girders supporting the big structure, and learly lighting up the faces of the men. They were intelligent faces, the majority of them, and plainly reflected the varying motions that stirred them as they engaged in the service of song and praise.

AN EXPENSIVE STRIKE

A Review of the Great Lock Out. Its Sensational Features, Its Cost and the Troubles That Are to Come.

On June 28, the Carnegie Steel Company ocked out its Homestead employes be an agreement on the wage scale could not be reached, and then began the most costly and sensational labor dispute the country has witnessed since the great railroad strike

The Homestead trouble has attracted the attention of the civilized world, has found its way into the executive, judicial and legislative departments of municipal, county, State and national governments, and is, being forced as an issue in the National cam-islative departments of municipal, county, State and national governments, and is, being forced as an issue in the National campaign by free traders and free trade organs. Sensation has followed sensation until the people are even now asking, "What next?"

The appeal to the Sheriff, for aid to recovering the steel works from the locked out men who were in practical possession of them, by Chairman H. C. rick; the sending and the return of the Sheriff's deputies without getting inside of the mill fence, was an early act in the great drama, or tragedy. Then followed the Pinkertons, the pitched battle, the death of 10 men, the wounding of a score of others and the awful gauntlet which shocked civilization. The victory over the Pinkertons was followed by a practical reign of mob law in a modified form in Homestead, which soon gave way to martial law.

The main body of the National Guard was on duty 16 days, at an average cost per day to the state of $20,000. The total cost to date for the soldiers will reach in round figures $220,000, and the end is not yet. The workmen have lost in wages $180,000 and the Carnegie Company has lost and spent in getting new workmen an equal amount, in other places not employed by the idleness of these plants. EIGHT HUNDRED MEN AT WORK

N THE CARNEGIE MILLS AT HOMESTEAD, AND

OVER 100 MEN ADDED DAILY.

In order to ascertain the true condition of affairs at the Homestead steel-works, and to learn if the oft-repeated stories published about only a few men being at work and the majority of these disserts.

foundation in truth, a Pittsburgh reporter foundation in truth, a Friesding reporter secured a permit and visited the works Thursday. The result was a most surprising revelation, and plainly indicated that those persons outside the works who prefend to be thoroughly posted on the workings within the mill grounds are either wilfully deceiv-ng the public or they have no knowledge about what they speak.

me mil grounds are either whittilly deceiving the public or they have no knowledge about what they speak.

Not since the company regained full possession of the plant, which for several days was in the hands of the mob, have representatives of the newspapers been admitted to the works until now. The belief has been general that the discharged workmen on one side and the officials of the company on the other have been playing a double game of deception on the public as to the progress of resuming work, for the effect it would have upon those seriously considering the acceptance of employment at the terms offered. Vice Chairman Leishman disproved this by issuing orders admitting representatives of certain newspapers to the works. They were given every opportunity to make a thorough investigation of every department of the plant, even to talking with the men there at work.

The result of this personal investigation proves that there are over 700 men now at work in the mills, exclusive of supermendents, foremen and heads of departments, which included increases the total number to about 800. The new men as a rule are bright, intelligent Americans, a large majority of whom are skilled and experienced men in the departments in which they are employed. The best evidence that they are satisfactory, and they have no doubt of permanent employment in the positions which they have accepted.

While the Fourteenth was striking ittents and preparing to move, orders were issued from division he adquarters for the withdrawal of the Thirreenth and the Governor's troop. The men yelled and shouted, and other men envied them their good luck.

OTHER REGIMENTS ORDERED TO LEAVE.

While the Thirteenth was leaving campfinal orders were sent out from division headquarters. These orders provided for the sending home on Thursday of the Fourth regiment and Battery C, of the provisional brigade, commanded by Colonel Hawkins, who will now return to the command of his own regiment, the Tenth, and also the sending home of the Ninth, and also the sending home of the Ninth, and also the sending home of the Ninth, and Twelfth regiments, which have been quartered at Camp Black. These orders clear out all the troops except those belonging for the Second Brigade, and with this reduction of forces the division headquarters will be discontinued and the control of the camp pass into the hands of General. REMAIN.

With the Eighteenth and Tenth ordered home the forces on the ground will consist of the Fifth, Eiftenth and Sixteenth regiments, Battery B and Sher dan Troop. The infantry men will be needed for provost guard duty, in case of a row, the probability of which is now so remote that it cannot be discovered, though the military commanders deem it best to be on the safe side, those fallings of the Battery would be wanted. General Snowden is quite an admirer of the cavalry arm of the service; hence it is that Sheridan troop is left on the ground. The three regiments named, the Battery and Sheridan Troop aggregate about 1,500 men, and with General Wiley in command, will form a very neat brigade and one that capbe counted on for any service. Just how long these troops will remain is not yet determined.

The meeting continued without interruption from 2 o'clock in the atternoon until 10-o'clock at night and nothing was accom-plished. The conference was continued.

THE OFFICES GUARDED. THE OFFICES GUARDED.

Since the attempted assassination of H. C.
Frick, the Hussey building, Fifth avenue, Pittsburg, where the Carnezie offices are located, have been guarded by several special officers. A private detective is constantly on guard during the day time at the Chairman's office. Visitors if not known are carefully scrutnized. The plading of the special officers is said to be merely as precaut onary measure as there are no fearsof attempts on the lives of the company officials.

THE MEN PAID OFF.

INDICATIONS OF A LONG SHUT-DOWN OF THE BEAVER FALLS MILLS.

All the safaried men, such as bosses, clerks and other employes of the Carnegie Steel Company in Beaver Falls, Pa., to-whom money was due, were paid off in fully Thursday. Superintendent Wrigley states that the company will make no effort to-start the works soon, and the indications bear out his assertion. The strikers maintain that same hopeful view that they had on the first day of the strike, and are apparently-as firm as ever. The effects of the shut-down of the mills here is being felt already in many lines of business. NDICATIONS OF A LONG SHUT-DOWN OF THE

MORE STRIKERS ARRESTED

For Wilfull Murder and Aggravated Constable Morris, of Alderman McMas ter's office, (Pittsburgh) was in Homestead:
Thursday with warrants for 36 men, who are charged by Secretary F. T. F. Lovejoy, of the Carnegie Company, with aggravated riot. The constable arrested six men, all of whom were brought to Pittsburgh. Themen were all released on $2,000 bail being, furnished in each case. The rest of thewarrants will be served just as soon as the men can be found. But few, if any, are in-hiding, but they are not throwing them-selves in the way of the constable, prefer-ring to let him earn his fee. Bail will be ring to tethnine earth in see. But with the forthcoming in each case, excepting where proof of first degree murder is established.

CRITCHLOW REFUSED BAIL.

Sylvester Critchlow, one of the Homestead strikers, who is charged with murder before Alderman McMasters, walked into the Alderman's office and gave himself up. He was remanded to jail at Pittsburg without bail, to await trial at the September terms of court on the charge of murder. Critch low is the first of the Homestead men for whom the court has refused to take bail.

Judge Magee said:

This case is a very different case froms O'Donnell's case. Here you have a manwith a gun, who stood behind a barricade and fired his gun and a man is killed infront of the burricade. I think I did not harm in permitting O'Donnell and Ross to go on bail, It has taught them a lesson. Here is a case where I am very much disinclined to take bail. When you get men with guns on their shoulders, shooting from barricades and men are killed, it comesclose to murder in the first degree. Mr. O'Donnell's policy all the time was for peace. This man's case was all the time for war and bloodshed. Any man who stood by and saw the men shoot and did not tryostop it is equally guilty.
