The W. C. T. U. County Convention, Held in Salisbury, Sept. 1st and 2nd., in the Lutheran Church.

Reported by the Associate Editor.
The church was beautifully decorated for the occasion. Thursday evening session began with a welcome song by the Loyal Legion. The Loyal Legion formed a very interesting part of the program all through the session.

Prayer by Rev. S. M. Baumgardner. Mrs. E. D. C. Mair, of Allegheny, conducted the Bible reading. Mrs. Mair is a very pleasant woman and a very interesting talker. This is the fourth time she has assisted in conventions in Somerset county, and although she is already quite gray, we hope she may live to help in a great many more.

Selection by the choir.
The meeting was then called to order by the President, Mrs. A. W. Knepper, of Somerset, followed by the reading of the report of the executive meeting held in Rockwood, June 16th, by Mrs. L. A. Hay, of Somerset.

The addresses of welcome by Mrs. A. F. Speicher in behalf of the W. C. T. U., Rev. Steelsmith in behalf of the clergy, Levi Lichliter in behalf of the citizens and Dr. Speicher in behalf of the Sons of Temperance, were very interesting and were highly appreciated by both members of the convention and the entire audience.

Little Ruby Roberts, of Somerset, delighted the audience with a solo—"By-land," and Mary Roberts followed with a recitation entitled "Little Joe." As we listened to little Ruby we had to think of the hundreds, perhaps thousands of little girls who were not singing "By-land," but crying for bread or crying from blows received from drunken fathers.

The responses to the addresses of welcome were delivered by Miss Anna Zufall, of Meyersdale, and Mrs. L. A. Hay, of Somerset. Mrs. Walter, of Kansas, was called on for an address, but as the hour was growing late, she responded very briefly.

Mrs. Geo. T. Hocking not being present to render her solo, the Loyal Legion was called on.

Rev. Steelsmith delivered the collection address, after which the collection was lifted and the audience was then dismissed with the benediction.

FRIDAY MORNING
attendance not as large as should have been. Mrs. Walter conducted the devotional exercises in the absence of Mrs. A. W. Growall, of Rockwood.

Convention was called to order and minutes of Thursday evening session read and approved; then roll call of officers, Vice Presidents and Superintendents, followed by the appointment of different committees. The President's annual address, by Mrs. A. W. Knepper, was very carefully prepared and thankfully received by the convention.

Miss Lydia Meager, not having her paper prepared, Mrs. Mair filled her place.

The paper—"Is Temperance work part of woman's work?"—by Mrs. Sue Liston, of Addison, was full of thought for the future encouragement of the unions.

The report of the Treasurer, Miss S. B. Thomas, was postponed until after noon, she not being present. Reports of local union and Superintendents were only partially given.

Noontide prayer was conducted by Rev. Steelsmith and Rev. Baumgardner.

FRIDAY AFTERNOON SESSION
opened with prayer by Mrs. Settlemyer, of Rockwood.

Minutes read and approved of morning session.

Mrs. Maud Vogel, of Somerset, delivered a very inspiring address on "Today."

Another song by Loyal Legion.

Mrs. Mair then gave a short-talk on railroad work and social purity, after which the choir sang a very good selection.

Miss Thomas, of Illinois, then made a few remarks, followed by a very interesting paper entitled, "Our Country," by Miss Edith Shipley, of Meyersdale.

After prayer by Mrs. Mair they proceeded to the election of officers for the ensuing year, the result of which is as follows: Mrs. A. W. Knepper, of Somerset, President. Mrs. S. W. Platt, of Somerset, Corresponding Secretary. Mrs. J. Thompson, of Ursina, Recording Secretary. Miss S. B. Thomas, of Meyersdale, Treasurer. Mrs. A. W. Growall, of Rockwood, Vice President-at-Large. Miss Edith Shipley, of Meyersdale, Superintendent of Demorest contests.

Memorial Services opened with prayer and a very appropriate selection by the choir, followed by a paper read by Miss Mollie Thomas, in memory of Mrs. Phillip Wagner, of Meyersdale, and one by Mrs. L. A. Hay, in memory of Mrs. Snyder, of Somerset. Since the last convention these two sisters have received the welcome mandate, "come up higher."

A collection was then taken for Benjamin Wagner, an invalid, who cut the letters for their motto; but the donation was returned and cheerfully donated to the W. C. T. U. for the purpose of buying temperance literature.

FRIDAY EVENING SESSION.
opened with an anthem.

Devotional exercises conducted by Rev. Baumgardner and Rev. Steelsmith, followed by the reading of the resolutions.

By the time this part of the program was finished the church was crowded, and the choir then sang another selection, after which Mrs. Mair introduced to the audience Rev. Anna Shaw, of Boston, Mass.

Notwithstanding the fact that Miss Shaw was almost worn out, having had scarcely any sleep for three nights, and having driven forty miles the night before, in order to be with us, gave us a most eloquent lecture. We understand that there are some (men of course) that are finding fault with her; saying that she had too much to say. Probably she gave their little pet party too hard a rub. It is our belief that she gave them more plain facts and solid truth than they are able to swallow. The majority speak nothing but praise of her lecture. Those who did not hear her missed a treat that they will not have the opportunity of hearing very soon. We hope she may live to see the height of her desires—the ballot in the hands of women.

EDITORIAL REMARKS.

Successful speculators get their names in the papers, while the unsuccessful ones only get into trouble.

The men who are to have the job of identifying Chinamen by their photographs are not to be evied.

The slugging editor is now in full charge of the metropolitan dailies, while the rest of the boys are taking a rest.

The doubtful voter in the doubtful state is now having his picnic, and a royal and high-priced affair he is making it.

The People's party Executive committee evidently "knows beans", or it would not have selected Boston for eastern headquarters.

A TIME may come when not even the calling out of the militia will save the brigands who manipulate the trusts which rob the people.

When a man takes a railroad for a bed his acquaintances have no occasion to be surprised if he sleeps unusually sound and long.

The cholera news does not sound quite so terrible to those prevented from taking an European trip by lack of the needful as it does to other people.

STILL another Presidential ticket has been announced—the Socialist labor candidates. Isn't it about time that the entries for this race were closed?

No shrewd politician is trying to make political capital out of labor strikes. The question is loaded and the long-headed old chaps handle it accordingly.

It is perfectly true of one man—Emperor William—that he always has an eye to "biz"; he has to have, and even then he does not keep up with the old man.

The Prohibition candidate for President wants to know "How can we make the nation sober?" Respectfully referred to the Congressional "where was I at" jag committee.

JERSEY law decides that the Reading coal combine is illegal in that state. We shall now see a catch-as-catch-can tussle to decide which is the stronger, the law or the combine.

The iron and steel workers who had to face the Pinkerton rifles, at Homestead, were looking into rifles principally held in the hands of Democratic hirelings, who were led by a loud-mouthed free-trader.

The cholera and a Presidential campaign at the same time is a little more than the country can stand. The Presidential campaign we cannot escape, but by the vigilance of the health authorities we hope to escape the cholera.

If the New York labor Commissioner's annual report be, as it is in some quarters said to be, Senator Hill's first contribution to the campaign, Mr. Cleveland might be excused for praying that the second be held back until after election.

The give-you-something-for-nothing financial organizations are tumbling to pieces, all over the country, and many of those who have been looking forward to comparative wealth are now engaged in kicking themselves and say "cuss" words.

Down in West Virginia the Democrats are running a man for Governor who once assaulted a federal office-holder, with his fists, because the said office-holder made some uncomplimentary remark concerning Jeff Davis. The Democrats must be hard up for a candidate in that state.
