A Singular Superstition.

In regard to the habit of partridges of dying into civilization and a popular superstition regarding them, an Augusta man says: "One flew on our premises and was captured. Then came the question whether we should kill the bird or allow it to live. At that time there was a general superstition that, if a partridge came to the house where a sick person lay and the bird was killed and the sick person at the broth, it would effect a cure. There was a girl sick at our house and the doctors had given up the case as hopeless. Some of the family said, kill the partridge and give the sick girl and others were for permitting the partridge to live. We were equally divided and agreed to let one of the neighbors whom we saw coming to the house decide whether the partridge should be killed or not. He said, kill it, and we did, and the sick girl ate the broth and got well."

PRICES HAVE BEEN FORCED UP BY THE VERY COLD WEATHER.

PITTSBUEG.—Not for many years has the Pittsburg produce been so badly handicapped by the cold weather as it is at present. Commission merchants report that their supplies of potatoes, cabbage, apples and other perishable goods are now about exhausted. Prices are bigher than they have been in years. On Monday the Grocers' Supply Company received a consignment of several cars of perishable goods in cars furnished with heating apparatus, but before the stuff could be put into the warehouse it was frozen. All shipments have been ordered off for the present.

Perhaps the most inconvenience has been caused by the scarcity of fresh eggs. The narket was bare of them Monday, although some of the dealers were selling cold storage stock would bring at least 40. At some of the restaurants about 10wn signs have been put up, announcing the price of eggs served in an style at 5 cents each.

In the grain, flour and feed market a similar state of affairs is reported. Country dealers cannot get the farmers to bring their stock to the railroads. The prices of meats have also advanced.
