She history of the world goes in a circle. Why is it that the shipping in our day is improving or parisity? Is it because men are interest to the proving or parisity? Is it because men are ship of Noah's time beat at he ship of Noah's time beat the Majestic and the Etruria, and the City of Paris, of which we boast of so much. Where is the ship on the sea to-day that could outride a deluge in which the heaven and the earth were wreck-ed, landing all the passengers in safety?—two of each kind of living creatures, thousands of species.

If the makers of colored glass go on improving, they may in some centuries be subted to make something equal to the east window of York Minster, which was built in 1290. If the world stands long enough, we may have a city as large as they had in olden times. Babylon, five times the size of London, You go Into the potteries in England, and you find them making cups and vases after the style of the cups and vases exhumed from Fompeii.

The world is not going back. Oh no! but it is swinging in a circle, and will come back to the style of pottery known so long ago as the days of Pompeii. The world must keep on progressing until it makes the complete circuit. The curve is in the right direction, the curve will keep on until it becomes the circle.

Well now, my friends, what is true in the material universe is true in Gol's morning overnment and spiritual arrangement. But it is sometimes the creek, though many centuries. The world has a monarchy. From a monarchy it is going to have a limited monarchy will be given up, and the republican form of government will be everywhere dominant and recognized.

Then the world will get tired of the republican form of government, and it will have an anarchy, which is no government at all. And then, all nations finding out that man is not capable of righteously government at all. And then, all nations finding out that man is not capable of righteously government at all. And then all nations finding out that man is not capable of righteously government

BAD SERVICE IN AMERICA.

We Are the Only People Who Willingly Pay for Pear Help.

The Americans are the only people in the world who pay well for bad cooking and detestable service, grudgingly given, glad in most instances (if rural housekeepers) to "get a girl," no matter how inefficient and disqualified she may be, for the work of the house. She must be fed, clothed and respected and her wages paid, writes Mrs. Sherman in the North American Review. She may break crockery to any extent, often to that of thousands of dollars; she may throw away sugar and flour and meat and potatoes by bad cookery; she may be insolent to her mistress, taking her own time for going out day or evening; and she may badly wash the flannels and scorch the gentlemen's shirts; the mistress must put up with it, else the precious creature will leave and the lady must do her own work; or as a dressmaker creature will leave and the lady must do her own work; or as a dressmaker who had badly cut some gowns for an employer remarked, putting the frag-ments in at the door: "Here, finish your gowns yourself." This is not good political economy. The servant should be taught moral obligation. We must remember that there is no tyranny in a resulting there can be We must remember that there is no tyranny in a republic; there can be none but the tyranny of the masses. And as the welfare of the millions is bound up in this question, as the comfort and prosperity of our great estate must depend upon the industrial ability and honesty of those who serve us for wages, it follows that the first thing to teach a servant is a sense of moral obligation. When we take into consideration the early history of those who come to us as domestic servants, the marvel turns out

LESSON FOR SUNDAY, JAN. 29.

1. "And the annel that talked with me came again and waked me, as a man that is wakened out of his alees." The mortal body can stand but little of joy or sorrow without refreshing, sleep. Even on the mount of seneme, the most joyful and the most sorrowful events of Scripture, we see hely men asleep. Dr. Alfred Carpenter, commenting upon the use of brandy in the treatment of diphthera, says.

"I have frequently met with cases of diphtheria which have been treated with brandy, either as soon as exhaustion supervened, or from the very commencement of the disease. Most of these cases ended fatally, I wish to suggest that this kind of treatment is radically wrong. Some may have recovered to whom brandy has been freely administered; but they are few, and did so, in my opinion, in spite of the remedy rather than in consequence of it."

Such testimony as this from the authority of seeminent a physician and scientist should suffice to make it quite clear that not only is brandy not needed in the treatment of diphtheria, but that if administered is likely to lessen rather than to improve the chances of recovery.—Temperance Advisorate.

FASHION'S VARIOUS PERIODS.

THE DISTINCTIONS NOTED.

Gowns Usually Described as Empire Are Really of the Restoration Period. The Growth of a Fashion Suggested by Greek Classicism.

HE fashion writers of the day are more reckless than exact in their quotations of "periods." Everything short-waisted is called Empire. Strictly speaking the fashions of "The Empire" (1804) merely exaggerated those of the Republic in its later fancies (1705-1804). The short-waisted gown was not invented by Josephine in the Empire, it was merely adapted to her. Her adaptation was the sack dress, with the waist close up under the arms, and the bosom pushed up to the chin.

"BEAU BRUMMEL" PERIOD

A criticism of the time has it thus: "A fashion far from graceful, and a woman needs to be beautiful to look well in such a costume." Gowns were indecently low for the street and at all times. Artificial flowers were an innovation, and were much used on gowns and in the hair. Mme. de Stuel wrote "Corinne" about this time, and the haip beams the rage and floating scarfs more than ever popular. But, after all these thinks were hardly invented in the Empire period, and to speak of a Josephine gown is more correct when you mean the very short waists and very plain skirts, for the Empire saw many a fashion besides the short waisted one. Indeed, in this period stays came back. Most of the gowns labeled as Empire are really revivals from directory dresses in the period of the French Republic (1789-1894.) Bodiers were then short waisted, displaying a good deal of the bosom, unless it were hidden by a gauze handkerchief or a long scarf, printed in colors, or braided or bir caded. In this early time of short waisted dresses the woman has a dear affectation of innocence, and not a bit of the Empire immodesty, for all their low dresses. They were straw bonnets and were the most demurc things in the world, if they wanted to be. These were the Beau Brammel dresses. (1789 Louis XVI. France, *George IV
