"Keeping the Sabbath," Neh. xiii., 15-22. Golden Text: Exodus xx., 3. Commentary.

This chapter gives an account of the dis-cipine of Nehemiahin separating from Is-rast the mixet multitude, and in cleansing Israel from all strangers with whom they had become entangled by marriage verses 3, 300. It tells also of the discipling in ref-erence to Sabhath desceration, which is our special lesson for the day; but brober taking this up consider the dangers of being en-tangled and hindered by a mixed multitude. When Israel left Egypt a company of that kind went with them, and caused them much trouble iEx, zil, 38; Num, zi, 4). Much trouble in the church to day arises from the people who are half and half-the working church members who are neither one thing not the other.

people who are half and half—the worldig courch members who are neither one thing nor the other. If any this that the restoration under Zeruobabel and the reformation of Ezra and Nehemish fulfilled the prophecies concern-ing restoration, let them compare Isa, ziv., 1-2, with Neh Iz 3, 33, 37. If any think that we are now in the millenniai age, or that the church with her present zsil will bring that age, let them be honest enough to believe what is written, and they will aurely see that the Lord Himself must come for Isrea.'s restoration and to introducy the millenniai age (Ps. cil., 15, Acts iii., 10-21). 15. "In toose days saw 1 in Ju lah some treating wine presses on the Sabbath." Then he enumerates their other deeds of Sabbath breaking and says that he testified raginat them. The Subath was instituted in Eden bofore ever sin entered this world, and when God wrote with His finger the Tes may commandments on two tables of stors Hes said, "Remember the Sabbath day." That man should give unto God one-seventh of his time is a law from the beginning and of perpetual obligation.

16. "There dwelt men of Tyre, also, why rold on the Sabbath unto the children of Judab, and in Jerusalen." God gives His children. He gave no laws to laws to laws to laws to law the children of Judab, and in Jerusalen." APPEALED TO A HIGHER COURT.

A Man on Trial for Murder Calls on God to Strike Him Dead and Is Taken at His Word,

Harvey Wakeley, on trial at Nashville, Harvey Wakeley, on trial at Nashville, Tenn., for murder, was asked if he had killed the victim. He replied: "I hope God will strike me dead, now, if I did." The words were scarcely out of his mouth when he rose from his chair, clinched his hand as if in great agony, and fell motionless. The jury jumped to their feet and rushed to him but when then picked him up, life was extinct. The judge at once dismissed the case, say-ing the case had been appealed to a higher court
