THE SENIOR OF A TENN
THE STATE OF THE STATE what brought him back (beyond the more) of God) he never knew, except that those last words of his, "Don't see presently, in an impatient tone. "If I were a fool or a poor man or a reprobate; but I am not—am I, now?"

"Oh, no!" says Lettita. She creeps closer to him and encircles his waist with her arm, or, at all events, trees bravely to do so. It doesn't go half way round, but that doesn't matter. She grasps a bit of his coat and holds on to him so. "Do you know what you are, Jack! The dearest old boy on earth."

"And you—do you know what you are?" says Hardinge, pressing her fugers to his lips.

"No," says she.

"Wo," says Lettita, naively; "but," collapsing into gloom, "what's the good off it all!"

"What brought him back (beyond the morey of God) he never knew, except that those last words of his, "Don't seemed to haunt him after he left her. A young man received a furlough to return from the army to his father's house.
Afterward he took the furlough back to the officer, saying, "'I would like to postpone my visit for two weeks." At the end of the two weeks he came and got the furlough
the was asked why he waited. "Well," he replied, "When I left home I told my mother
